U. S. HOLDS UP ACCEPTANCE OF TOKIO APOLOGY

Awaits Report on Beating of Consul.

British Sailors Jailed

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 5.—The misadventures of Hugh Herndon Jr. and Clyde Pangborn, American flyers, with the Japanese espionage laws were recalled today when five British sailors from the freighter Antilochus were arrested at Hakodate for crossing a fence and spending three hours on a hilltop. Japanese reporters said the sailors inspected a lighthouse and the geographical situation. The accused men explained they were simply enjoying the view. They were placed in jail pending an investigation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—The seriousness with which the United States views the international situation created by the attack at Mukden Sunday night on Culver B. Chamberlain, American consul, was emphasized today by the action of Secretary of State Stimson in declining to accept as final the formal Japanese apology offered by Ambassador Katsuji Debuchi today.

The Japanese government's expression of regret for the attack on the consular officer by two Japanese soldiers and an interpreter was received from Tokio by the Japanese embassy this morning after the state department had registered a vigorous protest. Ambassador Debuchi hurried to the state department. He remained a much shorter time than is his usual custom.

Stimson Thanks Him.

Upon leaving Mr. Stimson's office the ambassador said:

"Acting on telegraphic instructions from my government, I called on Secretary Stimson to express the deep regret of my government at the unfortunate incident at Mukden."

Mr. Stimson advised Ambassador Debuchi of his gratification over the promptness of the Japanese government in apologizing. He added, however, that it could not be accepted as closing the incident pending the receipt of further information from Mukden, where the beating was administered. In various quarters it was intimated that the state department will withhold acceptance until satisfied that adequate punishment has been meted out to the two Japanese soldiers who attacked Chamberlain.

May Demand Salute to Flag.

Press reports indicating that the two soldiers had been returned to duty without punishment is believed to have played a part in Mr. Stimson's decision to await further developments before accepting the Japanese apology.

Just what further redress will be demanded of the Japanese government was not disclosed tonight, although the possibility existed that a salute to the American flag might be demanded.

The possibilities for a further more serious complication of the situation lay largely in the future attitude taken by the Japanese army, which throughout the Manchurian invasion by Japan has shown considerable independence of Tokio control. Should the army prove reluctant to punish the two soldiers, the situation might become still more serious.

Powers Discuss Joint Action.

Simultaneously with the disclosure of the stern attitude taken in the Chamberlain matter by Secretary Stimson, it was revealed that France and the United States have been discussing possible further joint action with Great Britain in the Manchurian crisis.

It would come as no surprise should the next move be the formal invocation of the nine power treaty of 1922, which guarantees the territorial and administrative integrity of China and the open door. There is manifestly concern over the Japanese aims in Manchuria, and indications are clear that the powers do not intend to permit the problem to be dropped.

That a move under the nine power treaty should be looked for after the seizure of Chinchow has been pre-

HOOVER OPPOSES PAY SLASHES FOR U. S. EMPLOYES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—President Hoover personally opposes any pay reduction for United States employés, according to information emanating from the White House today. In the President's opinion, the salary cut movement probably never will come close to passage in congress. In the event such a bill is given serious consideration President Hoover will oppose it, his advisers said today.

The President's opinion, as made known today, is that the saving effected from slashing the pay of federal officials and employés would not make up for the loss of efficiency and morale. President Hoover has urged business and industry not to lower wages, except as a last resort, and this furnishes another reason why he believes the United States should maintain its pay scale.

Much perturbation has been caused in government circles by the agitation for pay slashes. Thus far the District of Columbia has not been hit as hard by the depression as many other districts, due to the fact that so large a share of its population is on Uncle Sam's pay roll. Army and navy officers and enlisted personnel, who up to this year have been fighting for pay increases, now find themselves on the defensive.

SNOW BLANKET FORECAST FOR CHICAGO TODAY

Snowstorms from the west were sweeping toward Chicago last night and the official forecast indicated that a blanket of white would overspread the city today. Temperatures, it was predicted, will be lower.

A steady rain fell yesterday in Chicago, while Iowa, Nebraska, and several southwestern states were under heavy snow. At Guymon, Okla., a depth of 18 inches was recorded and drifts halted traffic. Rivers in Texas reached the flood stage.

In eastern Nebraska, it was reported, from four to eight inches of snow fell. At Valentine, in northern Nebraska, the temperature fell to 4 above zero. In most places, however, the mercury remained at a comparatively high level for the season.

ROSENWALD IS SINKING; FEAR HE CANNOT SURVIVE

The condition of Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was "more critical" last night, according to the attending physician, Dr. Herbert Pollack.

Mr. Rosenwald has been ill in his Ravinia home since last spring. His illness became critical a week ago yesterday. He rallied for a few days, but began to sink Sunday and his condition has become steadily worse since then. The bulletins of the last two days have given rise to reports that the philanthropist cannot survive more than a few days.

N. Hampshire Puts Democrat in Congress

Concord, N. H., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Former Representative William N. Rogers of Wakefield and this city, a Democrat and a wet, was today elected to succeed the late Congressman Fletcher Hale as representative from the First New Hampshire district.

Rogers defeated former Gov. John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth, upsetting a normally Republican stronghold. The vote was 27,453 to 24,505. In 1930 the district went Republican by 8,000, showing a turnover of nearly 11,000 votes.

Defeated by Hale in 1924.

Rogers will take the seat made vacant by the death of Hale, Republican, who defeated Rogers in 1924 after he had served one term in the 68th congress.

Rogers in his first effort changed the normally Republican majority of 15,000 into a Democratic majority of more than 6,000 and subsequently went to Washington to become one of the youngest members of the house of representatives. He will be 40 on Jan. 10.

Much significance was read into the result by national chieftains, since Rogers placed greatest stress on the business depression and freely criticized the Hoover administration. The paramount issue was unemployment and industrial depression.

Level Barrage at Hoover Policy.

Republican speakers stressed the need of sending Bartlett to Washington to support President Hoover, while Democratic spokesmen leveled a heavy barrage against the administration and the Hoover policies. The unemployment situation was directly linked with the administration.

While prohibition did not play a major part in the contest, Rogers stood flatly for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, while his opponent urged a referendum and in reply to requests from the state Anti-Saloon league voiced his opposition to the saloon.

Rogers is widely known through the state. He first appeared in headlines as a football player at Dartmouth college, and his athletic interests were retained after graduation.

Increases Majority to Five.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The election of a Democratic congressman in the normally Republican First New Hampshire district not only increases the Democratic majority in the house, but emphasizes the Democratic trend of elections as the struggle for the presidency approaches. It is this steady trend that encourages the Democrats to believe that a Democratic victory next November is a certainty.

William N. Rogers, the successful Democratic candidate in New Hampshire, is a pronounced wet. New Hampshire hitherto has been classed as politically dry territory and the result today is a significant indication of reaction. John H. Bartlett, the defeated Republican candidate, formerly leaned to the dry side but finally came out for a referendum on prohibition.

Mr. Rogers will replace the late Fletcher Hale, who was a dry. The result, therefore, is another gain for the wet forces in the house, in round numbers about 175 members.

The election of a Democrat in New Hampshire increases the Democratic strength in the house to 220 members. There are 214 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor member.

MORTUARY HIT BY BOMB BLAST; THREE INJURED

Three passersby were injured early today when a large bomb was exploded in the entrance of A. George Klaner's mortuary at 4717 Broadway. The blast caused damage of several hundred dollars to the establishment.

The injured are Clint Rarick, 23 years old, 727 Briar place; Arthur Pritchard Jr., 20 years old, 2218 Winona street, and Edward Wubben, 22 years old, 5616 North Artesian avenue. One of Rarick's eardrums was shattered by the explosion and the others suffered cuts from flying glass.

Klaner, one of the north side's veteran morticians, was at work at his desk when the bombing occurred. Two of his employés, asleep in the rear, were awakened by the noise. Klaner said that he knew of no motive for bombing him and advanced a theory that the blast might have been intended for a cleaning and dyeing shop on the third floor at 4515 Broadway. It is believed that the bombers left the explosive in the doorway and that it was set off with a time fuse.

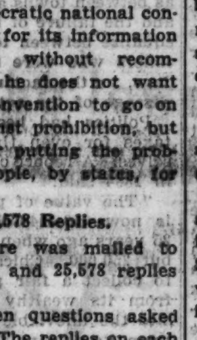
Another bomb, tossed from an automobile, broke several windows in a building at 1144 North Hoyne avenue. The police were unable to find any plausible motive.

RASKOB'S POLL SHOWS PARTY IS 93 PER CENT WET

He Offers Harmony Dry Law Plank.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—In an attempt to prevent a split between the wet and dry elements in the Democratic party John J. Raskob, national chairman, made public today a letter to the members of the Democratic national committee urging the adoption of a "home rule" plank by the coming national convention.



JOHN J. RASKOB.

He advised the submission of an amendment to the 18th amendment to put control of the liquor traffic completely in the power of each individual state.

Mr. Raskob said that he would not seek to have the Democratic national committee at its meeting here on Saturday make any declaration on prohibition, but would ask merely that his letter and the result of a questionnaire to contributors to the 1928 Democratic national campaign be referred to the Democratic national convention next June for its information and consideration without recommendation. Also, he does not want the Democratic convention to go on record for or against prohibition, but only to declare for putting the problem up to the people, by states, for determination.

Receives 25,578 Replies.

The questionnaire was mailed to 77,500 contributors and 25,578 replies were received.

There were seven questions asked in the document. The replies on each question showed:

Ninety-three per cent replied in favor of the party adopting a short concise platform, 93 per cent in favor of resubmitting the eighteenth amendment to the people, 95 per cent for submission of all future amendments to the people instead of state legislatures, 80 per cent for the Raskob "home rule" amendment for liquor control and 79 per cent for outright repeal of prohibition. Fifty-one per cent preferred the home rule amendment to straight repeal, only 22 per cent thought the Democratic platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question and 91 per cent voted for submission of either the home rule amendment or repeal to the people.

Calls Plan Referendum.

In his letter Mr. Raskob declared that his plan would permit a referendum on prohibition and take the issue out of politics. He explained that the referendum to which he referred would be only a referendum by states under the existing machinery for amendment of the federal constitution, by which congress may direct that ratification be by state conventions instead of by legislatures.

The referendum, he further explained, would be accomplished by the vote of the people of the different states in electing delegates to these ratifying conventions. He admitted that, if the Republican platform should contain a prohibition plank, and the Democratic platform contained his proposed "home rule" plank, prohibition would be an issue in the coming presidential campaign.

Mr. Raskob's letter said there were wets and drys in the Democratic party and he wanted to avoid conflict between them.

Sees Danger of Split.

"I believe," he added, "there will be either a definite split between the Democratic party of the north and the Democratic party of the south or there will be formed a Liberal party in America unless those of us who love the traditions of the Democratic party find some common ground under the teachings of Jefferson without resorting to expediences and sacrificing the high principles of either school of thought."

Mr. Raskob explained that adoption of his proposed home rule plank by the Democratic national convention would not bind Democrats, particularly those in congress, to vote or work for ratification of his proposed state control amendment to the 18th amendment but merely pledge them to vote for its submission. He said a dry Democrat might work with entire party loyalty to have the provisions of the 18th amendment apply to his state or a wet Democrat might work to have his state exempted from its provisions.

Mr. Raskob declared that the 18th

Stolen Bonds Restored by Capone Ally

Gus Winkler, Capone hoodlum and pal of the notorious bank robber, Fred Burke, yesterday kept his promise to recover loot of almost $3,000,000 taken by a band of machine gunners from the Lincoln, Neb., National Bank and Trust company.

Some time ago Winkler offered to have the loot returned if the robbery charge against him was dismissed, but County Attorney Max Towle of Lincoln refused to bargain with him. Winkler was then under $100,000 bonds. Towle, however, investigated Winkler's claim that he was innocent, and when an alibi was established he ordered the gangster released, expressing hope that he would procure the return of the loot.

$583,000 of Bonds Recovered.

Yesterday negotiable and nonregistered securities in the amount of $583,000 were turned over to officials of the Lincoln bank in the offices of the Chicago Secret Six. This was all except $15,000 of the extant bonds, and proof was given authorities that registered securities totaling $2,217,000 had been destroyed by the robbers.

The registered bonds could not have been disposed of with impunity by the robbers and their destruction wipes out the loss to the bank except for the $15,000, which is more than covered by insurance of $60,000.

Recovery of the loot brought to a close a search of more than a year by Nebraska authorities and members of the Secret Six, during which 80,000 miles were covered, according to Sergt. Roy Steffens. Sergt. Steffens and his partner, Charles Touzinski, both of the Secret Six, found the unregistered bonds in a suitcase under a street light at Armitage and Newcastle avenues on Monday night.

Phone Call Leads to Bonds.

They had been informed by an anonymous telephone caller that the securities would be found there.

"We were suspicious at first and approached the place cautiously, fearing it was a frameup," said Sergt. Steffens. "But we saw the suitcase when we arrived and the bonds were in it. Winkler kept his word."

One reason why Winkler was able to procure the recovery of the bonds, according to the investigators, was the probable fear of their holders that they would be caught. Sergt. Steffens said he expected to make an arrest within a few days.

Two of the bank robbers have been convicted and are serving twenty-five year terms in the Nebraska penitentiary. They are Howard Lee and Patrick O'Connor.

Prosecutor Towle, who was in Chicago with D. L. Love, vice president of the looted bank, said he wished to express the gratitude of himself and Lancaster county for the aid of the Secret Six and its chief investigator, Alexander Jamie, in bringing about the restoration of the stolen securities.

Winkler Proves His Alibi.

Although identified as one of the machine gunners who robbed the bank on Sept. 17, 1930, Winkler protested his innocence.

Winkler claimed he was registered at a Buffalo, N. Y., hotel on the day of the robbery and the registration cards of the hotel bore him out. A physician and a dentist said they had treated the gangster on the days preceding the robbery, but Prosecutor Towle and Sergt. Steffens were still dubious.

The gangster was put under the lie detector of the Northwestern university laboratory of crime detection, and the test indicated he was telling the truth. Finally he was released, about six weeks ago.

Winkler's affiliation with the Capone gang was disclosed in letters from a Lincoln lawyer to Philip D'Andrea, Al Capone's bodyguard, asking additional funds to defray expenses of Winkler's $100,000 bail and attorneys' fees. Telegraphic records showed the additional funds were sent.

CERMAK APPEAL HASTENS TAX BILL IN SENATE

Presses Kelly Plan; Trouble in House.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—In his final plea to the general assembly to enact the Kelly plan for the reconstruction of the tax machinery of Cook county, Mayor Cermak today asserted that those who back any other plan for this change are doing so merely as obstructionists.

Then speaking at the Leland hotel before a midday luncheon club with Gov. Emmerson and legislative leaders present, he referred to "another plan presented by a Democrat today" as a "monkey wrench in the machinery."

This was an allusion to the introduction by Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe, also a Chicago Democrat, of a bill to continue the present members of the board of review and board of assessors in office as a single board of "assessment and revision." The Kelly plan proposes the creation of a new system with the governor and the president of the county board appointing a single assessor and each of those two officials appointing a reviewer.

Reflects Political Situation.

The Igoe move was not a surprise, partly because he and Mayor Cermak differ politically just now, and also because he has voiced opposition to the governor's making Cook county appointments. But it was a puzzle to observers to estimate how serious an obstacle the under-surface activities of supporters of Igoe for governor will place before the Kelly plan in the house of representatives.

In the senate, on the other hand, today's indications were the Kelly compromise may have comparatively smooth sailing. With the consent of Senator Richard J. Barr, who earlier had a different plan of his own, the so-called "abolition bill" was brought back to second reading this morning and, on the motion of Senator Arthur A. Huebsch, Republican from the Seventh or "outer belt" district of Cook county, was amended to conform with the Kelly plan.

Senator Huebsch explained the changes in detail and emphasized the necessity for this move as the first prerequisite to the restoration of the credit of the local governments of Cook county.

"We certainly can't get anybody to buy bonds or tax warrants before we do this," he said.

Barr Drops Opposition.

Senator Barr said that while he thought his plan, which he had dropped, was a better one than that proposed by Huebsch, he felt that, in view of the general support given the Kelly compromise and the need for haste, the thing for the senate to do was to adopt the Huebsch amendment and go into a full discussion of the revised bill when it comes up for passage tomorrow.

At a brief night session there were further minor amendments adopted and the secretary of the senate was instructed to rush the printing of the revised measure so that final copies will be on hand when the chamber meets in the morning.

Mayor Cermak's plea for approval of the compromise, which emanated from a Stevens hotel conference called by D. F. Kelly, was made during his second appearance before a joint session of the two houses of the assembly.

"At that time," he said, referring to his previous appearance here, "the condition was grave and now our hold on safety is but slim. The gravity of the situation demands that it be set free from every selfish personal and partisan consideration. If we would save our local governments from complete financial collapse we must rise to the very heights of unselfish citizenship, irrespective of politics or personal advantage."

Makes Concessions to Need.

He told of the financial difficulties of the city of Chicago and the retrenchments being made. Then he analyzed the Kelly plan.

"If I could have had my own way," he said, "the power to appoint would have been lodged exclusively in Cook county. But to accomplish the desired result I am willing to make this concession, and I do it without receding one iota from my position on home rule.

"While it would be best if the appointing power were in Cook county, yet there are innumerable instances in our statutes where the power to appoint local officials is vested in the chief executive. In these cases no protest has been made by those who now raise the cry of home rule solely for the purpose of defeating this measure.

"We come to you with a plan that has been approved by important conferences which have disapproved the other plans that have been suggested. Any other proposal presented to you now has no purpose except to defeat this legislation we need so greatly."

Igoe Explains Bill.

Except for some questions from Representative Sol Handy, Democrat, Marshall, said to have been prompted by a note from one of Igoe's enthusiastic supporters, there was no discussion of the mayor's speech. And the minority leader said nothing on the floor concerning his new bill except to have it advanced to second reading. He made available to the press a memorandum showing its effect. This stated that his proposed "board of assessment and revision" would consist of six members until next January, when the term of Assessor Gene Oliver expires.

The five in office after that date would be Assessors John E. Conroy, Walter W. L. Meyer, and J. E. Traeger, and the two members of the board of review, Edward R. Litsinger and Edward J. Hughes. All of these five except Litsinger are Democrats. The Igoe memorandum went on to show that Litsinger and Conroy would be up for reëlection or replacement in 1934 and that the same would be true of Meyer, Traeger, and Hughes in 1936.

Denies Predicting Defeat.

There were rumors that Igoe, early in the day, predicted the defeat of the Kelly plan. One report was that he had said he had enough votes lined up to beat it. Asked if these rumors were true, Igoe denied them.

"I have not made any such statement," he said. "I have not said I would try to beat the Kelly plan, but I shall be against it on the roll call."

He also said he would not attempt to advance his own bill immediately.

Copies of a resolution bearing the signature of Axel Lonnquist as chairman of the legislative committee of the associated oganizations for real estate tax relief were distributed in both houses. They opposed the Kelly plan and uged that credit be allowed to real estate owners who have paid their 1928 and 1929 taxexs. Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg is working on that idea for a bill.

The house committee on judiciary killed Representative Sol Roderick's bill for a general sales tax by placing it on the table.

ASKS ASSEMBLY TO SCAN COOK CO. PUBLIC SPENDING

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—A resolution asking the appointment of a joint legislative commission "to investigate the municipal expenditures of all municipal corporations in Cook county" was introduced in the senate late today by Roy C. Woods [Rep., Chicago].

The resolution was offered "with a view of bringing about a retrenchment and limitation of municipal expenditures and ascertaining the most feasible manner in which this can be brought about and also to recommend the enactment of any legislation designed to accomplish this purpose," in the words of the sponsor.

The commission would consist of three members of the senate, to be appointed by the lieutenant governor, and four members of the house, to be appointed by the speaker. It would be given the power of placing witnesses under oath and of subpoenaing books and records.

JARECKI CLEARS WAY FOR APPEAL ON TAX DECISION

County Judge Jarecki yesterday signed formal permission for the appeal from his decision invalidating the 1928 and 1929 tax rolls on the grounds that willful omissions of personality had thrown an unfair burden upon real estate taxpayers. The appeal will be carried to the Illinois Supreme court by County Attorney Hayden N. Bell. Judge Jarecki's ruling upheld the objections to the taxes, which were filed by Mrs. Lillian Cisar, an Oak Park real estate owner.

HISTORY SHOWS HAND OF POLITICS IN TAX MACHINE

Echoes of Past Resound in Present Muddle.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The historical development of Cook county's revenue system shows that the present machinery of boards of assessors and review, when established in 1898, was accounted one of the great reforms of the age in Illinois. It grew out of years of clamor against politics in taxes. It was hailed as the instrument which would remove the Lorimerism of those days from exercising the taxing power as a bludgeon on voters.

The present muddle which for the last three years has kept Chicago and Cook county in an uproar finds loud echoes in the archives of forty and fifty years ago and longer. Old public chronicles contain complaints which sound much like those of today. Tax problems, though on a smaller scale than now, seem to have been chronic since the Chicago fire of 1871.

Tax Conditions in 1894.

In 1894 a state commission investigating taxation remarked:

"For years the city treasury of Chicago has been bankrupt. In 1894, though but less than a million dollars of debt was retired, the deficit was over two millions. This is not chargeable to looting of the treasury. By far the most extensive looting is done before the city's dues start for the treasury. The responsibility rests largely upon men of great wealth and eminent respectability, who, according to Gov. Oglesby, though 'honest in all other transactions in life, have felt obliged in the matter of taxation to protect themselves by evading a fair valuation.'"

And in 1896, another state commission began its report by remarking that whether municipal government in the United States is a failure is a great doubt.

After the Citizens' association had emerged from the ashes of the great fire one of the chief reforms it proposed was consolidation of the tax machinery in the three Chicago towns, North, South and West. In 1871 Chicago's revenue system was governed by laws dating from 1867. A distinct machinery was provided for municipal revenue. The city council elected three assessors, one for each division, who had charge of city taxes.

The Law of 1872.

In 1872 the legislature, by a general law for municipalities, provided for township assessors to be elected by the people. Chicago, however, continued under its special laws, and an act of 1873 authorized cities with such systems to retain them. This was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court in 1877. Curiously enough, this was important only as its affected the city's right to recover back taxes for 1873 and 1874, a position somewhat similar to the question of tax recovery by taxpayers raised by the Jarecki decision throwing out the 1928 and 1929 assessments.

In 1875 Chicago had accepted the cities and villages act of 1872. Assessors were elected in each of the three towns. Each was a law to himself. He was the big boss of his division of the city. The political faction which he served utilized the tax powers to strengthen itself. Complaints were loud that taxes were slashed in precincts which voted regular, the load being shifted to other property owners.

Scandal for 25 Years.

For nearly twenty-five years the protest was loud and constant. As the old Lorimer organization crept into dominant power in politics, civic organizations complained more and more loudly that the taxing power was being used as a political instrument. To wipe an assessment off the books for a voter was better than giving him a turkey at Thanksgiving, and it cost the bosses nothing.

Contributors to campaign funds likewise were accounted beneficiaries. There was constant scandal. In 1885 Gov. Oglesby appointed a commission to frame revenue reforms, but its recommendations bore no results.

It said gross inequalities in assessments were the first defect. Its draft of a new revenue law provided for abolishing town assessors and the election of a county assessor, with a board of review in each county. It sounds familiar.

The demand for reform of some sort became constantly greater after the World's Fair of 1893. The revenue law of 1898 was the result. The bosses had gone haywire and the inequalities between towns in Chicago caused rival factions to help put the bill through.

Equalizing Duty Neglected.

The county board, which was supposed by law to serve as a board of equalization between the towns in Chicago, refused to do any equalizing.

Chicago had grown in area, and there were town assessors for Hyde Park, Town of Lake, Lake View, Jefferson, North Town, South Town, West Town. The inequalities and favoritism worked both ways. On the west side and in the stockyards the Lorimer machine had been playing to voters who supported the ticket by chopping down assessments. Charges were recurrent of tax fixing by some of larger means.

The state commission of 1894 reported: "Next among the favored, after vacant lot owners, appear to be the owners of luxurious homes, who contribute, in proportion to the value of their property, less than two-thirds as much as is taken from men of moderate means, who are trying to keep their families in homes of their own, and from the poorer ones who pay taxes in the form of higher house rent to landlords."

Inequalities Bring New Law.

The protests against the inequalities as between towns and between groups, and the failure of the county board to equalize between towns is held by old timers who were in politics in those days, as the factors which led to the passage of the act of 1898.

Politics had become too strong in taxes for even the politicians themselves. A report of the city controller in 1894 said:

"The value of property in Chicago is now $19,494,000 less than it was 25 years ago when the population was but 250,000. Chicago, no longer able to collect a fair proportion of taxes from its wealthy citizens, is forced into the uneviable position of relying upon its saloons for the maintenance of the public health and welfare. Even this assistance has proved insufficient and the council has been unable to furnish the various departments with enough means to maintain the dignity of the municipality."

The 1898 act abolished the seven town assessors in Chicago and established a board of assessors of five for the county and a board of review of three members to revise the assessments. The principal aim was to create equality in valuation and give ample opportunity for the taxpayer to have his property assessed according to law.

The country town assessors became deputy assessors under direction of the county assessors. The new law limited the total of taxation in any year to five per cent of the assessed value. Assessed value was one-fifth of the real value, so the limit of taxes was 1 per cent of the actual value of the property.

The new machinery was elected in 1898. One reform long advocated was that taxing officials ought not to represent any especial political divisions, which might subject them to neighborhood drag. But the politicians took care of that in framing the tickets, and the three divisions of Chicago were represented in the machinery.

First Reviewers Listed.

The first reviewers were Florus D. Meacham, a Lorimer-Smyth-Mamer man of the west side; Fred W. Upham, a follower of James Pease on the north side, and Roy O. West, close friend of Charles S. Deneen, on the south side. All told, only twelve men have filled the office of reviewer since the machinery was established.

The first new board of assessors contained A. W. Miller, a Lorimerite, west side; Charles Randall, a follower of T. N. (Doc) Jamieson of Hyde Park; Adam Wolf, a Henry Hertz man, on the northwest side; William Weber, a protégé of George Struckmann and John Humphrey, in the towns; and James J. Gray, who had been north town assessor. All were Republicans except Gray.

Only seventeen men have filled the office of member of the board of assessors since 1898.

Early Boards Win Praise.

The first boards worked well. The Citizens' association in 1899 applauded them as "zealously carrying out their work." The three reviewers sat in a large room at a table, and complainants came openly before them. Sessions were in the open. Interested watchers kept track of developments, newspaper men flocked around, the public prints ran columns a day on the work of the reviewers.

Affairs were run under "pitiless publicity," which was to become a slogan later when Roosevelt was president. For a few years it was a case of a new broom sweeping clean. So long as the spotlights were on, the boards got applause. But when the public novelty wore off and the board rooms began to drop in news value, complaints began to circulate charging favoritism.

There were accusations, from time to time, that some members of the new machinery found their private businesses flourishing by contracts sent their way by persons whose taxes had been reduced. By 1910, there was much complaint that the assessing powers were being used to strengthen political factions. The possibilities lurking in the situation were recognized later by Small-Lundin when the state-city hall combine sought to put taxation under state control, giving them a weapon with which to wallop voters into line.

Quadrennial Plan Circumvented.

The act of 1898 was explicit in providing that real estate assessments be quadrennial, personal property assessments being yearly. In the early years the two boards, when they had fixed the assessment, were through the main part of their work on real property for four years. The Supreme court itself said no changes in the four year assessment could be made except on account of physical changes, such as a building burning down or a new one going up, and so on.

In a few years, however, a law was passed allowing the board of review to make changes in any year whether the property had changed in aspect or not. Friends of the assessors down in the legislature at the same time put into the law a permission for the assessors to make changes during the quadrennium on complaint of a property owner. It meant both boards could make changes during the four years. They still do it. Experts complain it has practically circumvented the four year feature. Ever since, too, there has been a hostility, more or less latent, between the two boards.

As publicity waned, the practices of the reviewers altered. Instead of the wide open sessions, they now sit at a bench, high enough for complainants to pour their stories straight into their ear, and for years the protests have been growing against the secretiveness which is possible. Politicians, meanwhile, for the last ten years have regarded the assessing machinery as an instrument of high political value, and they make no bones about acknowledging it.

A Matter of Pay Rolls.

Even in the matter of pay rolls, one complaint against the reviewers is that whereas the act originally contemplated that they should merely denote on the books the cases in which they have changed the assessors' figures, the board copies all the figures. More work, more duplication, but more clerks to be hired.

The state board of equalization meantime has been abolished, and a state tax commission established during the Lowden régime.

"Reform the taxing machinery?" remarked one expert of forty years' experience yesterday. "Well, first you've got to reform human nature. Reforms have operated successfully only so long as the new machinery was watched. For one thing, a member of these boards ought not to be connected with any private business."

Tax Bonds Get Friendly Word at Springfield

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The attitudes shown today by downstate assembly leaders seem to indicate that they are almost willing to give Chicago carte blanche to write its own ticket for remedial legislation.

This free hand was applied, particularly, to the 1930 tax funding plan, sponsored first by the Chicago Real Estate board but formally espoused by a majority of the Cook county legislative delegation last Saturday, following the Jarecki decision invalidating the 1928 and 1929 assessment rolls. Inferentially, the 1930 roll, not yet spread, would be similarly voided.

Mayor Cermak and the governor's tax conference frown upon the realtors' plan, which embraces lifting the 1930 levy by a $268,000,000 bond issue maturing over 20 years. Bills to accomplish this, which do not carry a referendum clause, are in both houses—sponsored in the senate by Roy C. Woods, [Rep., Chicago] and in the house by A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago].

Cermak's Objections.

The mayor has said that no market can be found for these bonds, basing his statement, in part at least, on the declaration of President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank, Chicago, who stated they would not have "a Chinaman's chance" of being sold.

The Cook assemblymen approved the plan, notwithstanding, and their downstate colleagues were of a harmonious frame of mind when questioned today. They weren't ready to say the bills would receive 34 votes in the senate and 102 in the house—the counts necessary for immediate effectiveness—but a dozen of those who wield influence were "willing to go along" if the Chicagoans say "that's the only thing."

Some skepticism was expressed. A sample of this came from Homer J. Tice, Republican representative from Menard and a pillar in the Illinois Agricultural association.

"If Chicago wants it," drawled Mr. Tice, "if Chicago means it, and if Chicago can handle it, then I'll be for the funding plan."

Little Ready to Go Along.

The house majority leader, Roger F. Little of Champaign, felt that "if the Chicago people say they're for this, then I guess the downstate will help them out."

Truman A. Snell, Democratic house member from Carlinville and a former judge, said he would vote for the funding bills "if the common people in Chicago think this is the way."

"Would it be necessary for you to be shown that these bonds can be sold before you would vote for them?" Representative Snell was asked.

"I think that should follow," he said.

Senator James Monroe, Democrat from Collinsville, is definitely against the plan.

"I wouldn't vote a nickel's worth of bonds without a referendum," he said. "Furthermore, we can't continue extending credit to these taxing bodies forever."

Thompson Is Willing.

Frank G. Thompson, house Republican from Mount Vernon, the home of Gov. Emmerson, is willing to approve the plan "if the Chicago members tell me the bonds can be sold."

"Bonds without a referendum are a bad thing," he continued, "and I'm not convinced the necessity demands this action."

"My feeling," said former Judge James T. Burns of Kankakee, house Democrat, "is that the downstate members will follow the lead of the Cook members. If they say it's the best thing, I'll go along."

The same sentiments came from Representative Frank McCarthy [Rep., Elgin], David Hunter [Rep., Rockford], and Leroy M. Green [Rep., Rockford]. "But it's a question of who will buy these bonds," added Green.

"I had hoped," said Senator William R. McCauley [Rep., Olney], "that the 1930 taxes could be paid in five installments, but since the Jarecki decision it seems like this time must be extended. If the Cook county people want the plan I'm for it, too." N. M. Mason [Rep., Oglesby] nodded agreement.

Senators Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria], Andrew S. Cuthbertson [Rep., Bunker Hill], and Richard R. Meents [Rep., Ashkum] had similar views.

SHOWS MILLION SAVED IN REPORT ON LINCOLN PARK

President Wright Tells of Work for Year.

Savings in excess of a million dollars were effected in the operation of Lincoln park during 1931, according to the annual report submitted by President Warren Wright to Governor Emmerson. Despite reduced budgets, all park activities showed an increase during the year, Mr. Wright said.

"Unemployment," he said, "created an unprecedented demand on the park's recreational facilities. During the summer months there was a record breaking attendance at the park beaches, the zoo and the various sports fields. Estimates indicate there were as many as a million visitors to the park in a single day."

Add 365 Acres on Shore.

In the extension program along the north shore, Mr. Wright reports that to the present time 365 acres of new land has been added to the park district. The new area, extending from Montrose to Foster avenue will be available for recreational purposes next summer, he said.

This land, the report states, was built at a cost of $25,000 an acre as compared with a cost of $40,000 an acre for some land similarly reclaimed some years ago. The report says that more than half a million was saved on land built during the year. During the year the park pay roll was cut approximately $215,000, and economies in purchases and maintenance effected an additional saving of about $250,000.

Among the year's accomplishments Mr. Wright listed:

Construction of a three-quarter mile beach north from Wilson avenue.

Building of a 31-acre harbor for pleasure craft at Montrose avenue.

Complete New Golf Course.

Completion of a new nine-hole golf course and athletic fields at Waveland avenue.

Formation of Emmerson park at Granville and Ravenswood avenues.

Restoration of Belmont harbor for pleasure craft.

Construction of breakwaters, jetties and sand traps for short protection along the north shore extension.

Resurfacing and repairing boulevards throughout the system.

Rehabilitation of small parks; reorganization of the police department; and rehabilitation of water and drainage systems.

Mr. Wright reported the approach completed for the new outer link bridge. The work on the bridge across the Ogden slip and on Lincoln park's share of the main span, he reported about half done.

ROB DRUGGIST AND WIFE.

Two bandits held up Ancel Aubuchon, 6001 Blackstone avenue, a druggist, and his wife last night at 54th place and Harper avenue. They forced Aubuchon to drive to 53d street and Drexel avenue, where they robbed him of his car and $25 and took a bar pin valued at $500 from his wife.

DRUGGAN TRIES TO SHOW JUDGE HE MEANS WELL

Fate Delayed by Illness of Wilkerson's Father.

Terry Druggan tried to convince Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday that he is an honest, law abiding citizen even if he can't register at a hotel under his own name, and that he always wanted to pay the government every nickel he owed in income taxes.

TERRY DRUGGAN.

The going was hard for the former beer magnate when Judge Wilkerson was obliged at 2 p. m. to adjourn court because of the illness of his father, who is 89 years old, in St. Joseph, Mo. Judge Wilkerson left last night for St. Joseph after talking to physicians on the telephone.

Further evidence in "mitigation and aggravation of punishment" in the case of Druggan and Frankie Lake, his former partner, will not be heard until the judge's return. Their sentences on pleas of guilty to income tax fraud will thus be postponed indefinitely.

Druggan Gets Into Trouble.

Druggan got himself into difficulties by offering to deed over to the government various properties which he had just disclaimed ever having owned, and by dismissing costly items he neglected to mention in his statement of assets by saying he "overlooked" them.

The chastened gangster, who says "eyether" and always refers to jail service as his "period of incarceration," was asked by Attorney William F. Waugh whether he offered to make conveyances of his properties to the government.

"Why, I offered to deed them," he said.

Druggan started out to tell his own story, which began with his sentence to a year in jail by Judge Wilkerson in 1924.

Terry Tells His Story.

"Even before my period of incarceration, your honor, I was trying to get everything straightened out," he said, "When I was released in 1925 I retained the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Patterson & Green, I believe it was, and they settled up some other cases in court with payment of fines. Then we started in on the income taxes, but we couldn't get any figures. We couldn't find out what the government wanted. But I was told not to make any statement of assets, but to offer a compromise.

"Then in 1926 I retained George N. Murdock, and he couldn't get any figures. The offers in compromise we made are too numerous for me to remember, but we started with $50,000 and raised it up to $150,000 for myself and Mr. Lake and the Standard Beverage company. I have paid $50,000 on my personal account, $4,600 of which I paid to the collector of internal revenue yesterday, and I was told all along the government would take that much and be satisfied."

Questioned About Omissions.

Attorney Waugh then took up the various properties alleged by the government to have been omitted from Druggan's statement of assets, for which he was indicted on a charge of making false statements in an offer in compromise.

Q.—You are alleged to have concealed a three story apartment building at 7064 Greenview avenue. Did you ever own that property? A.—No. I had some trouble finding a place to live. I couldn't register at hotels under my own name. So Leo Dwyer, a friend of mine in the real estate business, offered to help me get a place. I borrowed $11,000 from Andrew Dressel of the West Central State bank and we bought the building for $65,000, Mr. Dwyer putting up the rest.

Q.—Did you ever hold title to the building? A.—No, it was turned over to Mr. Dressel because I owed him some more money and it wasn't secured, about $13,000 in all.

His Stock Farm Venture.

Q.—Now the Sanola Stock farm at Lake Zurich, tell us about that. A.—I bought that in 1923 for my mother. I was to pay $500 a month until $90,000 was paid. I still owe about $45,000. I'll deed it to the government if they want it. [Attorney Peter Sissman had testified that the deed to this property had always been held by the family of Albert Pick, hotel supply man.]

Q.—The government claims you concealed certain race horses — Sanola, Pee Wee, Pigeon Wing, and Sun Alto. A.—I overlooked them. I didn't think they were good for anything but breeding purposes and it turned out that I was right.

Q.—One Minerva automobile? A.—I overlooked that, too, but I'll give it to the government.

Offers Other Cars, Too.

Q.—Two Cadillac automobiles? A.—I overlooked them. The government can have them.

Q.—How about those 35 registered Guernsey cattle? A.—I overlooked them, but I offered them to Mr. Green [Dwight H. Green, assistant United States attorney].

Q.—Did you get $16,000 from the Friar's inn? A.—I never got a nickel from that place. I put in $15,000 and that was what I had coming, but I didn't get it.

THE COURT—Where did you get that $15,000; was it from your beer business? A.—Yes, your honor.

THE COURT—Did you ever pay any taxes on it? A.—No.

MR. WAUGH—Have you ever been in the beer business or any illegal business since you got out of jail in 1925? A.—Not since early in 1924.

Quizzed on Apartment Deal.

Assistant United States Attorney Jacob I. Grossman questioned Druggan about his statement that he had put up $11,000, which he borrowed, on the Greenview avenue apartment. The prosecutor showed Druggan a letter from Dwyer, the real estate man, mentioning an original deposit of $29,500.

"I never made any deposit," said Druggan.

Earlier in the session three lawyers had testified as to efforts made by Druggan to compromie his tax liability and had told of their advice against filing returns setting forth illicit income because of the unsettled state of the law.

Attorney Sissman said he wanted every advantage for his client before agreeing to a plea of guilty, so that both the civil and the criminal liability would be compromised.

Attorney Sissman's Idea.

"You wanted this court to be powerless to impose whatever penalty it saw fit after a plea of guilty had been entered?" asked Judge Wilkerson.

"That's it," said Mr. Sissman.

The court seemed to regard Mr. Sissman's interpretation of untaxable income as naïve and asked whether there ever was a decision in his favor.

"Yes, an English case," said Mr. Sissman. "In that case it was decided that the government would not be a party to receiving stolen property. Income from illegal sources is the same as stolen money; it is not income. I told Mr. Druggan not to file returns, for he would either have to make a false entry or tell about illegal income, which is incrimination."

HUNT FOR WOMEN FLYERS

[Acme Photos.]

Lost in Mountains

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A widespread search throughout eastern Pennsylvania was being made tonight for Mrs. Ruth Stewart, St. Louis society aviatrix, and her passenger, Debbie Stanford, Toronto, Ont. They were last seen flying toward New York at Sterret's Gap, in the mountains, about fifteen miles northwest of here, en route from St. Louis to New York.

Gentry Shelton, St. Louis, who was flying another plane as escort to Mrs. Stewart's ship, said they had flown together from Pittsburgh as far as Sterret's Gap.

TAX CRISIS HITS HIGH SCHOOL OF MAINE TOWNSHIP

Maine Township High school will have to be closed on Feb. 1 unless citizens of Park Ridge and Des Plaines furnish funds by purchasing tax anticipation warrants before that date, according to an announcement made last night by C. M. Himel, principal.

This school has fifty teachers, a monthly pay roll of $12,000, and is attended by 1,200 students. The warrants, drawn against the 1931 taxes, are to be offered in denominations of from $25 to $1,000. Carl L. Rohde, president of the township board of education, said that he was hopeful they would find a ready market. He added that Mr. Himel's announcement was approved by the board.

Circulars explaining the plan are to be distributed today through the school pupils.

In Glencoe a committee appointed to sell warrants in order to obtain a reopening of the schools held a meeting, but reported only slight progress had been made in sales. Another meeting is to be held on Friday. The committee is headed by Elmer Wieboldt.

BRIDE AND WIDOW IN 9 WEEKS; KILLS SELF AT FUNERAL

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The night before Christmas Tom Soaper was decorating a tree at his home. The window was open. He caught cold. Pneumonia set in. Last Saturday he died.

Eileen Soaper, bride and widow within nine weeks, sat in the kitchen of her home yesterday dresed in black. She had donned her hat and veil. In four hours she must go to her husband's funeral.

At the last moment the funeral plans were hurriedly canceled. A double funeral today was arranged instead.

"I can not go on without Tom," she wrote.

They found her body, her mourning veil a shroud, in the gas filled kitchen.

SLAYERS OF SIX KILL EACH OTHER WHEN CORNERED

Obey Mother's Appeal Not to Surrender.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Harry and Jennings Young, trapped in a cottage in the outskirts of this city today, shot each other to death rather than submit to capture by police officers here. The two brothers slew six Missouri peace officers last Saturday night in a battle at their mother's farmhouse near Springfield, Mo.

Jennings Young was dead with two pistols under his head when police broke into the cottage. Harry Young was still living. Each had shot the other twice. The position of the bodies, huddled together in a bathroom, indicated that the two brothers had faced each other at close range and fired simultaneously. Harry Young lived for an hour, but died without speaking.

Obeyed Mother's Wish.

The two brothers died as their mother, Mrs. J. A. Young, had wished. Monday's Houston papers displayed prominently a statement from her to the effect that she hoped her sons would end their lives rather than submit to arrest.

The two brothers rented a room in the cottage, a small green frame building, last night, giving fictitious names. Their landlord, J. F. Tomlinson, a carpenter, recognized one of them from a photograph he had seen in a Houston newspaper. Terrified, the carpenter spirited his family out of the house and spent the night with relatives. Then this morning he called the police.

A squad of picked men led by Police Chief Percy Head and Lieut. Claude Beverly raced to the cottage and surrounded it. A shot was the answer as Chief Head rapped at the door. The besiegers fell back a few paces and opened fire on the windows of the cottage, following with a barrage of tear gas bombs.

At the first volley A. P. Singleton, a house painter, raced out of the cottage in terror. He had called to see his friend Tomlinson, and not finding any one at home but the two "lodgers" had decided to wait for his friend to return when the police arrived.

Besieger Enters Cottage.

Meanwhile Lieut. Beverly had crept through the rear door of the cottage equipped with a gas mask and began to explore the cottage, the atmosphere of which was dense with tear gas. As he opened the bathroom door he saw one of the brothers inside peering at him and leaped back just in time to escape three blasts from the desperadoe's shotgun. Other officers invaded the cottage and took up positions in the kitchen, which commanded a view of the bathroom door.

After a brief interval one of the Youngs opened the door a few inches and Lieut. Beverly fired at him with a sawed off shotgun, but missed.

Then, realizing that escape was hopeless, the two brothers turned their guns on each other. There were four shots inside the bathroom, then a weak voice called: "We're dead—come in." The policemen entered to find the dead man and his dying brother sprawled on the bathroom floor.

Six of Kin Under Charges.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Charges were filed tonight against six of the Young family by Assistant Prosecutor Charles Chalendar.

Charges of receiving a stolen automobile were filed against the 65 year old mother of the Young boys, Mrs. J. D. Young. The same charges were made against Albert Conley and Vinita Young, brother-in-law and sister of the Young boys, and Larena Conley, Albert's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Young, brother and sister-in-law of the two desperadoes, were charged with being "accessories before the fact" in the killing of the officers. Oscar Young admitted lending Harry Young a rifle and shotgun "to go hunting" the night before the murder of the officers.

The mother of the bandits who "tipped" her sons in a telephone call that the "cops are coming to get you" collapsed when word of their death was brought her.

Doubt Four Were in Band.

Police tonight expressed the belief that the two dead men alone had taken part in the killing of the police officers Saturday. They expressed doubt that two other men had formed part of the farm house garrison as was reported by the surviving officers. It was said that Paul Young, at first believed to be one of the band, had not been in Missouri for more than a month. Neither Fred Barker nor Charles Floyd, both "identified" by excited survivors of the battle as members of the Young party, were at the farm that night, is the opinion of police.

BILL FOR A CHICAGO METROPOLITAN AREA IS OFFERED IN HOUSE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The "home rule for Chicago" bill, drafted by the city council committee on efficiency, reorganization, and consolidation, was introduced in the house today by David I. Swanson [Rep., Chicago]. Ald. John A. Massen is chairman of the subcommittee which drew the measure.

The bill would create a metropolitan district, composed of Chicago and all the territory within thirty miles which wishes to join, to be ruled by Chicago's mayor, the president of the Cook county board, and a council of five members to be elected for four year terms.

All taxing bodies in that radius would be consolidated into one metropolitan taxing district, including the city, forest preserve, sanitary district, and others. School districts would not be included. The present taxing bodies would be continued only so long as it would require them to pay off their existing indebtedness, the tax levies for them to be approved by the metropolitan district council.

The district would be empowered to levy and collect taxes, grant franchises, borrow money, and in other respects continue the functions of government. The bill was sent to the judiciary committee, of which Representative Swanson is chairman.

Bloom 'Sells' Washington to House and Gets $250,000

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—America's 435 representatives won a victory for lavish lavatories and Representative Sol Bloom won a victory for George Washington today as gentlemen of the house fought and wise cracked their way through a discussion of the first deficiency appropriation bill.

When the battle was over representatives rejoiced that there had been no cut in the $760,000 appropriation for remodeling their old office building, giving to those assigned there a double suite and a private retiring room. And Sol Bloom, one time impresario for Chicago's World's Fair Midway, now congressional director of the George Washington bicentennial, packed up his chromos of the father of our country and departed, happy that the additional appropriation for $250,000 had not been given another slash from the $427,000 he had originally asked for.

A Private Lavatory for Each.

The plea for plutocratic plumbing was made largely by those 191 members of the house, whose lack of seniority will keep them in the old office building when their older colleagues move across the way into a stylish new annex. The remodeling plan, at a cost of $760,000, calls for two room suites instead of the present one room and gives to each member a private lavatory.

"A toilet for each member; that's ridiculous in these times of depression," screamed Representative William H. Stafford [Rep., Wis.], who went on to recall that he "used to have an office in an old building with cockroaches and mice." But his legislative effectiveness was never lessened by these conditions, he maintained.

Representative Andrew J. Montague [Dem., Va.] thought it would be a good idea simply to unlock the doors now connecting two adjacent offices, and throw them into two room suites and let it go at that. In a few cases doors would have to be cut. But the entire bill, he estimated, wouldn't be more than $50,000. As for individual wash rooms, he denounced them as "immense plumbing expenses."

But his amendment to cut doors was lost and his opponents shouted that these supereconomists were "just showing off for the folks back home to read about."

So the $760,000 item was untouched. So, too, was the $400,000 appropriation for furnishings for the new building, although Representative Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.] said any man could furnish an office for $650, instead of the $1,707 in the estimate.

But the real fun came when Representative Treadway called Sol Bloom's George Washington program "merely a vaudeville stunt, with chromos of George Washington on spare tires, and Sol Bloom having his picture taken every other day."

Up Jumps Sol Bloom.

Up jumped Representative Bloom.

"Out in front, Sol, out in front," they cried. And he and a page boy lugged Washington pamphlets and pictures up to the table in front.

"I've got everything; I'll answer any question. Ask me questions, ask me," the old-time Midway manager dared his colleagues.

Representative Treadway wanted to know about those spare tire covers.

"That's easy," and Sol beamed. "I bought those covers, with my own money," a gesture toward his heart, "and I sent them to you gentlemen; if you don't like them, I'm sorry."

"Yes, and what about the fact that I received a copy of the Literary Digest, announcing a Washington essay contest, and with a request for a subscription, in an envelope under the free frank of the George Washington bicentennial commission."

"That's easy." Sol walked up and down as if he were calling in the customers to a Midway feature. "The magazine sent the copies to me and asked me to get them to you gentlemen. I put them in envelopes, but I sent them in a taxicab. I know the law as well as you do; I sent them in a cab to the house office building. You were home in Massachusetts and you had left word to have your mail forwarded. You broke the law, I didn't."

TERMS OF WAGE CUTS FOR CITY'S WORKERS TOLD

Mayor's Pay to Be Pared $300 a Month.

M. S. SZYMCZAK.

[Moffett Photo.]

The army of city employés paid by the month or year will get no time off in compensation for the 20 per cent cut imposed upon them on Monday by the city council, under the terms of a letter sent yesterday by City Controller Szymczak to city department heads. It contained instructions for making out pay rolls during the period of the continuation ordinance, January and February, but made no mention of any staggered schedules or shorter working hours for employés on a monthly or yearly basis.

The letter also disclosed that a comparatively small group of employés—those paid by the week—will suffer pay cuts as great as 42 per cent.

Will Affect Officials' Pay.

The 20 per cent cut will affect the pay checks of Mayor Cermak, the council members, and some of the higher paid department heads as follows:

	Monthly salary has been	Reduction.
Mayor Cermak	$1,500.00	$300.00
Aldermen	416.66	83.33
Corporation Counsel Sexton	1,250.00	250.00
City Clerk Brady	666.66	133.33
Controller Szymczak	833.333	166.66
Police Commissioner Allman	833.33	166.66
City Treasurer Kearns	833.33	166.66
President Bundesen of the board of health	833.33	166.66
Commissioner of Public Works Sprague	833.33	166.66

Instructions on Pay Rolls.

The controller's instructions, ending in the phrase "Positively no exception will be made to these instructions," were as follows:

1. All pay roll periods for January and February will end on the fifteenth and the last day of the month. This is a temporary arrangement. [Previously, to spread out clerical work, city pay periods have been spread out to end on almost every day of the month, for various departments.]

2. All employés on a per annum or monthly basis will be paid one-half month less three days for each period. The days to be deducted are as follows: Jan. 1, 3, 10, 17, 24, 31; Feb. 7, 12, 14, 21, 22, 28 [a 20 per cent cut]. These days are Sundays and holidays, on which most of the employés would not work even under the previous arrangement.

3. All per diem employés shall not be employed more than 32 hours in any week beginning Sunday and ending Saturday. [This is a 27 per cent reduction in working time and pay from the union week of 44 hours.]

4. All employés paid on a weekly basis shall have their salaries computed as follows: Those working a seven day week shall work four days and receive four-sevenths of a week's pay; those working a six day week shall work four days and receive two-thirds of a week's pay; those working a five and a half day week shall work four days and receive eight-elevenths of a week's pay.

Weekly employés, relatively small in number, include chauffeurs, motion picture operators working for the movie censor board, and union employés whose scale is on a weekly basis. The maximum pay cut of the economy program, 42 per cent, applies to those whose working week is cut from seven to four days.

Employés throughout the city hall took the pay cut in good spirit yesterday, as a rule. Many of them pointed out that since the alternative was the dismissal of some 2,000 city workers, they were willing to accept a reduction to help their fellows. Some complained, however, that they were taking the cut to keep unnecessary employés on the pay roll.

Pleads Not Guilty

William R. Gibson Jr., 42 years old, a Gary chemist, pleaded not guilty to two charges of first degree murder yesterday before Police Magistrate Harvey Minas in Crown Point. He was held to the grand jury without bail in the Lake county jail on a charge of slaying his wife and daughter, Margaret, 7 years old, early Sunday.

After the arraignment, John Underwood, chief deputy prosecutor, said that he had sufficient evidence to charge Gibson with the double murder, but refused to reveal the nature of his information. The inquest into the two deaths probably will be held today. The grand jury will convene late this week.

Gibson has maintained his innocence during long questioning by the police. He has asserted that he found his wife fatally wounded and his daughter dead from gun wounds when he returned from a party in Calumet City.

In court yesterday Gibson was accompanied by his father and brother, Francis, both of Pittsburgh, Pa., and his attorney, Joseph Conroy of Hammond. Gibson is the chief chemist for the Gary plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company.

CHARGES COUNTY PAVING JOBS ARE IN GRIP OF RING

County Commissioner George A. Miller yesterday charged that county road paving contracts were not being let to the lowest bidder. At a meeting of the county roads and bridges committee Commissioner Miller asserted that George A. Quinlan, county highway superintendent, had joined with a ring of paving contractors to award contracts to favored bidders.

"If what you say is true, you ought to bring in a resolution firing the highway superintendent," said Commissioner Peter M. Kelly. Action upon the bids was deferred until Supt. Quinlan could be questioned.

The charges were made in a discussion over the awarding of contracts for paving of two highway gaps, one in Fullerton avenue and one in Devon avenue in the Western end of Cook county. Amici Brothers, contractors, had the low bid with a total of $35,900, which was $9,400 lower than the next bidder. Supt. Quinlan had recommended that the Amici Brothers' bid be rejected because he said the concern lacked the proper equipment and financial responsibility.

Judge Kavanagh Hurt in Fall on Pavement

Judge Marcus Kavanagh, veteran of the Superior court bench, slipped on the pavement and struck his head yesterday while he was leaving the county building to go to lunch. He was given first aid in a physician's office and then taken to his rooms in the Auditorium hotel, where he was reported to be resting quietly.

STORY OF DUMMY COMPANIES TOLD AT CANAL TRIAL

Checks Signed in Blank by an Outsider.

The prosecution yesterday started the introduction of testimony in an effort to show that the taxpayers were cheated out of thousands of dollars through the formation of dummy companies to do business with the sanitary district during the whoopee period of 1927-'28 when Timothy J. Crowe was president of the board of trustees. Crowe and seven other trustees, former trustees and officials of the district are on trial before Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher in the Criminal court on charges of graft conspiracy.

At the close of the session yesterday Assistant State's Attorney Jo Calvin Webb promised the court that he would produce evidence today showing that there was a "direct handback" to Timothy L. Connolly, the fugitive former purchasing agent for the district, who was recently arrested, and an "indirect handback to Crowe." The "handback was in money and merchandise," the prosecutor said.

Connolly, who was arrested in San Diego, Cal., started on his return to Chicago last night in the custody of Investigator James McQueenie of State's Attorney Swanson's office. Extradition papers were obtained on Saturday. The prosecutors have announced that they hope to place Connolly on trial with the other defendants as soon as he arrives.

Tells of Forming Company.

The testimony yesterday dealt mostly with the formation of a company by Eugene Byrne, former assistant superintendent of the permanent plant and structure division of the district.

Matt J. Miller, 4919 West Monroe street, who is related by marriage to Byrne, told the story of the City Machine and Engineering company. The state, because of rules of evidence, was precluded from showing just how Byrne talked with Miller about the formation of this company. All the banking was done through the First National Bank of Oak Park, of which Crowe was the president. Miller was a director of the same bank.

"I talked to Byrne in 1927 and then I opened an account of $1,000 in the First National Bank of Oak Park for the City Machine and Engineering company," testified Miller. "The checks were to be signed by me under the name of Matt J. Miller."

Signs Checks in Blank.

Miller testified that he was not an officer of the company, didn't know who might be connected with it and that he signed all checks in blank and turned them over to Byrne.

"I just signed up 25 or 30 checks at a time once or twice a month and turned them over to Byrne," said the witness. "I never made any deposits for the company into the account and never knew what the balance was. I never saw any of the canceled checks. The loan, which I O. K.'d, was repaid within two or three months, the cashier told me."

Miller said he never received any profits from the company nor had any idea where its office was—if it had one. He knew nothing about the bundle of $168,000 in checks drawn from the district treasury in the name of the engineering company, which were shown to him by the prosecutor. He had never seen them, he said. The checks bore no written indorsement—only a rubber stamp of the company.

Rent Desk Space in Office.

"Was there anything crooked or irregular about the company?" asked Judge James J. Kelly, who, with Judge John Prystalski, is sitting in an advisory capacity with Judge Fisher. The witness replied in the negative, but insisted that even though a director in the bank he never had enough curiosity to look up the bank account of the company.

Bartley Burg, former county commissioner, followed Miller to the stand and testified that a man named Adams rented desk space for an engineering company in his real estate office at 3953 Roosevelt road. However, Adams nor no one else ever opened the desk, he said.

George Pazman, 4312 Hillock avenue, a machinist, told of being employed to work for the engineering company through Connolly. Byrne, he testified, gave him the checks to pay off the workmen at the regular union scale. They did do some pump repairing at the district plants, but nowhere near $168,000 worth, the prosecutor said.

Other Companies Described.

Hoyt H. Holden, 23 Main street, Glen Ellyn, a salesman for a paper company, told of being interested in a group of companies with George Dietrich and John Arthur Dietrich, which did business with the district. The Illinois Supply company dealt in most anything, the witness said, and other concerns were the Great Western Manufacturing company, the Continental Supply company, the Holden Construction company, and the D. & H. Co. George Dietrich owns the Simplex Printing company and the Superior Loose Leaf company.

Holden said he put in less than $500 capital in the companies and seemed not to know much about them. It was while he was on the stand that Prosecutor Webb made his statements promising senational testimony. The judge asked him what he expected to prove.

"I expect to show that this witness was associated with a flock of companies organized to rob the district," said the prosecutor. "This witness does not know anything about the deals, but we are putting him on the stand at this time to block any alibi by the defendants. We will put the Dietrichs on the stand tomorrow."

Sales to Be Described.

Judge Fisher asked the prosecutor if the companies sold articles to the district.

"They sold plenty and at beautiful prices," replied Webb. "I might add at prices of 3 to 15 times over the market. And we will show a direct handback to the district in money and merchandise." The prosecution will show gifts of whisky in case lots, it was announced.

"That is important," commented Judge Fisher as he announced that he would allow the prosecution to proceed.

"Who participated in these handbacks?" asked Attorney Fink.

"Connolly directly and Crowe indirectly," said Webb.

"Did Crowe do that consciously?" asked Fink.

"Consciously and actively," replied the prosecutor.

Former Legislator Testifies.

A. L. Hutson, former member of the legislature from Normal but now a resident of Bloomington, was a witness earlier in the day to testify that his late wife was on the "statesmen's ledger" to the amount of $5,250. She never did any work. Her name did not appear on the pay roll. She was paid by voucher.

Hutson said that while he was a member of the legislature Crowe suggested to him that he had employment for some member of his family. The witness said that later his wife received a telephone call and that he came with her to Chicago and that she was placed as an Illinois Valley investigator. He was questioned by the judges as to why he should be given such consideration, but testified he did not know.

"I suppose after your wife was on the pay roll you voted the way the sanitary district wanted you to," said Judge Kelly.

"Heavens no, perish the thought," said Attorney Fink, as the witness said he was never intimidated by the district. Hutson said that his wife being made a pay roller did not make him friendly enough with Chicago to vote for reapportionment. He said he didn't think that was "for the best interests of Chicago and down state."

Revenue Committee Head.

"However, I suppose you had a greater affection and lasting love for the district after you wife went on the pay roll," remarked Judge Kelly. It was then brought out that Hutson was chairman of the revenue committee, which passed on all laws asked by the district.

William L. Cusack of Joliet said he was made a pay roller for six months for giving political help to J. W. Rausch, a legislator from Grundy county. The prosecution spent the remainder of the day in introducing minor testimony on the $1,068,000 cinder bridle path. It was agreed that some day next week the court will inspect the bridle path.

Schools Start the New Year at Old High Spending Rate

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The board of education records show that the public schools of Chicago have started 1932 on the same high cost basis—with a few minor exceptions—which has piled up $33,000,000 of current debts. In salaries and wages alone, the school board owes more than $24,000,000, which is distributed among the employés as follows:

Employés—	Salary debts.
Regular teachers	$17,703,883
Special teachers	790,908
Civil service workers	4,380,655
Building construction	986,899
Playground attendants	284,695
Total	$24,147,040

In addition the board owes about $9,500,000 on contracts and on bills for supplies, materials and equipment. No trustee will venture a guess as to when the board will be able to pay its current debts.

Expenses Nearly at Same Rate.

The trustees, however, are permitting expenditures this year on the basis of last, except that several evening schools have been closed and a few other economies established.

The city government, by council action, on Monday ordered the equivalent of a 20 per cent cut in salaries and a 27 per cent cut in the income of day wage earners. On Dec. 18 a committee of school trustees recommended a cut of 27 per cent in the amount of work by the repair department, but the board has taken no formal action.

The trustees have been considering their 1932 budget for about a month, but so far they have not arrived at many final conclusions of importance in saving money.

Budget Group Meets Today.

The budget subcommittee, composed of Trustees Joseph P. Savage, Walter H. Brandenburg, William D. McJunkin, and President Lewis E. Myers, an exofficio member, are to meet again this morning.

Supt. Bogan has been instructed by this subcommittee to suggest ways to eliminate more than $7,000,000 from the educational fund budget. He has had a week in which to prepare his program, which is said to involve the closing of the schools.

Mr. Bogan was also instructed to make his recommendations on the trimming of salaries of the teachers. It is expected he will recommend hundreds of teachers for a cut, where he believes it will do the least injury.

BRUNKER SUED BY FATHER OF FORMER WIFE

Albert R. Brunker, wealthy Lake Forest resident, chairman of the civic safety commission and commentator on Chicago crime, has not repaid a loan of $100,000 worth of securities made to him by his former father-in-law, George S. Gaylord, at the time of the 1929 stock market crash. This was charged yesterday by Attorney John A. Bloomingston, who filed the praecipe of a $150,000 damage suit against Brunker in the Circuit court on behalf of Gaylord, president of the Menash Products company, 410 North Michigan avenue.

Gaylord, according to his attorney, is now living in Pasadena, Cal., with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Ruppel, who married her present husband, Frederick H. Ruppel, a Pasadena building contractor, a few days after obtaining a divorce from Brunker last May in Reno, Nev. Three months earlier, with the aid of Lake Forest police, Brunker had halted his wife's departure with their two children for Reno. A reconciliation was attempted but Mrs. Brunker left for Reno again within two weeks.

S. SIDE BARBERS REJECT PRICES OF ARBITRATOR

The south side organization of the Chicago Master Barbers' association yesterday announced that they would not adopt the new price schedule set by Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, arbitrator. This was the first break in what was announced as a peaceful settlement of the price dispute.

WOMAN SEEKS PRESENTS GIVEN MARRIED MAN

Miss Mabel Caughey, 34 years old, 1437 East Sixty-fifth place, told Judge John J. Rooney in the Grand Crossing court yesterday that she wants Samuel Bestow, 40 years old, 6843 Dorchester avenue, to return the presents she gave him. She made the demand, she said, because Bestow insists on returning to his wife.

One of the presents, Miss Caughey said, is a set of false teeth. Also there are three suits, two dozen shirts, a topcoat, a jacket, three hats, a diamond stick pin, a wrist watch, a ring, a horn and a spotlight.

Ten years ago, Miss Caughey testified she met Bestow, an engineer on the Illinois Central railroad, in Harvey. He brought her to Chicago, promising to marry her, she alleged. Later she learned he was married, but they continued to see each other, Miss Caughey said.

Testimony showed that Miss Caughey, while on a tour with the engineer, had sent the latter's wife postcards at every stop. One was a picture of an insane asylum with a pencil mark on one of the windows, and written below were the words, "Reserved for Mrs. Bestow."

Judge Rooney continued the case to Feb. 5.

BRITAIN STRIKES AT INDIA REVOLT; SEIZES LEADERS

Gandhi's Party Outlawed; Picketing Forbidden.

BOMBAY, Jan. 6. [Wednesday.]—(AP)—Forty additional Nationalist leaders, including nine women, were arrested up to noon today in the government's sweeping roundup and warrants were issued for the arrest of 40 more.

Among the nine women arrested were Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya, sister-in-law of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu and leader of the women's volunteer organization; Mrs. Avantika Kokhale, and a Mrs. Munshi, whose husband also was jailed.

Face Trial in Two Weeks.

All those arrested are being held in the Byculla house of correction to await trial, probably in two weeks. The roundup was begun today under sweeping powers to meet the threat to the government's rule throughout the country.

Vithalbhai Patel, former president of the Indian legislative assembly, brother of the imprisoned Vallabhai Patel of the All-India Nationalist congress, and others prominent in the outlawed Nationalist congress, were arrested by police, who moved quickly from place to place. The British took possession of the congress headquarters and hoisted the Union Jack after hauling down the Nationalist flag.

The government previously had extended to four important cities and to the entire Madras presidency its repressive ordinances outlawing the All-India congress party, led by the jailed Mahatma Gandhi, forbidding all contributions to its funds and prohibiting demonstrations and peaceful picketing.

Arrest Prominent Leaders.

Among those taken into custody were K. F. Nariman and Nagindas Master, president and vice president respectively of the local congress executive committee. Nariman is a prominent member of the Parsee sect.

Bombay, Calcutta, New Delhi and Ajmer, Rajputana, are among the cities affected by extension of the government's stringent measures. In Calcutta alone 45 organizations were placed outside the law by the extension of the emergency organizations.

While the government mobilized its resources to combat the Nationalist threat, followers of the mahatma kept up their end of the fight by pressing their boycott on British goods in obedience to the order of their leader.

From his Poona cell Gandhi last night issued an appeal for the support of the Christians of India, urging them to adopt the spinning wheel and homespun garments, and to renounce drink.

Boycott Round Table Committees.

As an act of reprisal against the arrest of the mahatma and other leaders, the Nationalists decided to boycott the three committees of the round table conference due from London late in the month.

Meanwhile, anti-British demonstrations continued, with women "shock troops" playing a prominent part in them. While their husbands and brothers carried on their part of the struggle by fighting against tax payments and by manufacturing illicit salt, the women took over much of the work of inducing the public not to buy British goods and not to purchase liquor or narcotics.

Arrest immediately followed these activities, for under the new ordinances even peaceful picketing is a penal offense, but other women took the places of the arrested ones.

Viceroy Cancels Trip.

The viceroy, Lord Willingdon, announced he had cancelled plans to go away tomorrow and will remain in New Delhi to keep in close touch with developments.

Another provision was added to the government's emergency decrees—a ban on mock funerals. It was explained its purpose was to prevent agitators from frightening men into joining the Nationalist movement by "dummy burials."

Mrs. Gandhi and Madeline Slade, the mahatma's British born disciple, made a pilgrimage to his shrine of brotherhood and love at Ahmadabad yesterday, expecting later to be arrested on charges of having joined the army of civil resistance. The mahatma has vowed never to return to the shrine until India is free.

British Troops Move to India.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—There was considerable activity at army headquarters in Aldershot today when over 400 officers and other ranks of the Royal Welsh regiment and the Royal Scots left to reinforce their regiments in India.

Troop movements to India, according to an official statement, are perfectly normal for the annual trooping season and no extra men are being sent to India from England.

Steps are being taken, however, it is reported, to bring the British army in India to its full sanctioned strength in India to its full sanctioned strength.

2 GIRLS PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN POLICE MURDER

Two girls and four men pleaded not guilty yesterday to the murder of Policeman James J. Caplis during an attempted holdup of the Beachview Garden café on Dec. 21. Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court set the trial of all six for Jan. 18. The girls are Dorothy Evans, 16 years old, and Marcella Royce, 17 years old.

The possibility that Frank Piazzi and Rocco Ferro, fugitives wanted in connection with the murder, are in custody at Eureka, Ill., was being investigated by police. The men were captured as members of a gang which attempted to hold up a bank in Minonk. They gave their names as James Carlson, and John Ceri but police believe they are Piazzi and Ferro.

Finger prints of the two men are to be compared with those of Piazzi and Ferro in the records of the detective bureau.

DEATH IS HELD ACCIDENT.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday following investigation of the case of Carlo Locascio, 83 years old, who was killed Monday in a fall from a window in his home at 2727 Lexington street.

WOMEN FOES OF DRY LAWS ADD 1,500 MEMBERS

Officials of the Illinois division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform were jubilant yesterday when ward chairmen reported the addition of 1,500 new members in Cook county. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. George E. Brennan, chairman of the state organization. The organization has headquarters at 700 North Michigan avenue.

The women have set a membership goal of 50,000 by April—an increase of 10,000 over the present number. The national convention will be held in Washington, D. C. in April. Ward and town chairmen have been instructed to work toward a 100,000 membership by the close of 1932.

Women of Norwegian descent in Chicago are becoming more and more convinced that prohibition is a failure, it was reported by Mrs. Sofia Hammer Moeller, a member of the Norwegian Singers, who is chairman of the 34th ward women's group.

"Norwegian women believe now that prohibition doesn't work, and that we should have a plan similar to that in Norway," she said. "Many Norwegian women have become members of the women's organization in the last few months."

BANDITS KIDNAP NIGHT POLICEMAN AND LOOT TOWN IN MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—In the second terror raid in a week, six bandits looted the town of Cambridge, Minn., today.

They slugged one man, kidnaping him along with the night patrolman, after they had looted four places of business. They escaped with $400 in cash and $300 in merchandise. They were armed with shotguns and pistols.

The two captives were dumped out on the road 20 miles away while the bandits' two cars roared south from Cambridge.

Scores of men joined the search in the twin cities for the raiders. The gang used the same tactics as the outlaws who captured the town of Pine River last week and looted two stores there after holding seven persons captive.

Entering the town about 3 a. m., the gang awoke a garage man and slugged him. They then found Frank Whitney, night patrolman. Taking him along they went to a drug store, where they took some merchandise and $50 from the cash register.

Polish Deputy, Supporter of Pilsudski, Ends Life

WARSAW, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Thaddeus Warynski, a deputy in the Sejm and a member of the government party, committed suicide today by hanging. He was 40. Warynski had advocated an increase in Minister of War Pilsudski's dictatorial powers.

EIGHT CALLED FOR WARNINGS ON SMOKE EVIL

Eight persons and business concerns were summoned yesterday by Frank A. Chambers, chief city smoke inspector, to appear at his office today to explain the emission of dense smoke from chimneys on their properties. Those summoned are:

H. Posner, 5220 Altgeld street.

M. R. Lome & Co., 408 South Dearborn street,

Robert White & Co., 502 South Wells street.

Kesner Realty company, 322 Van Buren street.

Eiger Realty company, 118 East 26th street.

Ben Cohn, 609 South Leavitt street.

Teninga Brothers & Co., 10 West 111th place.

S. W. Handler, 6052 Irving Park boulevard.

There may not have been a technical violation in all of these cases, Chambers explained, but those summoned will be warned that, if there is, a violation suit will be started in the Muncipal court. They also will be informed how to fire furnaces without causing smoke.

Fines Ten Violators of Short Weight Ordinance

Ten violators of city short weight ordinances were fined a total of $240 by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman yesterday. Twelve other defendants obtained continuances and two others were dismissed. The charges were brought by City Sealer Joe Grein's investigators. The largest fine was levied against Spiros Guskis, 1115 Lawrence avenue, a vegetable vendor.

CHICAGO'S 1931 ROBBERY TOTAL IS $6,444,517

Police Records Tabulated Under New System.

Thefts of merchandise and cash in Chicago in 1931 reached the total of $6,444,517, it was revealed yesterday in a tabulation of police figures.

The amount of merchandise stolen was valued at $3,917,594, and the cash stolen in burglaries and holdups aggregated $2,526,923 for the year.

The figures on their face would indicate a large increase over the year 1930, but it was explained by Police Commissioner Allman that in 1931, for the first time in many years, a complete and accurate tabulation of the toll of crime in Chicago was made possible.

Calls Figures Misleading.

In 1930 the merchandise reported stolen was valued at $2,969,914, which would indicate an increase in 1931 of 32 per cent. The cash stolen in 1930 was reported at $875,393, an indicated increase in 1931 of 189 per cent.

But Commissioner Allman stated that actually there was less crime in 1931 than in the preceding year.

"Early in 1931," he said, "my predecessor created the bureau of information and statistics, which has been continued in operation during my régime. The bureau makes certain that all crimes are reported. In the past a loose system of keeping records allowed certain captains to withhold many crimes from their reports so they might appear to have a good record.

A Vicious Practice.

"This was a vicious practice, not only because the true picture of crime in Chicago was not shown, but because when burglaries and robberies were not reported, the victims had no chance of regaining their stolen property. There was no record of it.

"Now every crime goes on the books. The captains are not so eager to try cheating either, because they know that all of them are on the same basis.

"Another method we have adopted insuring that all complaints are recorded is through the organization of a central complaint room. All complaints now are received at a central office in the police building on South State street. Every complaint received must be included in the reports of the captains."

Gives Monthly Report.

The value of merchandise and cash stolen in 1931 is given in the following monthly table:

	Merchandise.	Cash.
January	$ 242,123	$ 119,245
February	240,357	86,507
March	298,470	135,346
April	223,677	225,677
May	326,620	270,801
June	328,848	225,922
July	347,500	268,023
August	412,313	264,720
September	424,627	224,502
October	393,502	287,457
November	329,849	231,307
December	349,708	187,416
Totals	$3,917,594	$2,526,923

Property recovered by the police in 1931 included merchandise valued at $771,720 and cash totaling $257,551. In 1930 the merchandise recovered was valued at $676,693 and the cash $117,862, showing a large increase in the recovery of stolen property in the past year.

BOMB THREATS STIR FEARS OF NEW DYERS' WAR

Racket Bureau and Police Launch Inquiry.

A new outbreak of the cleaners' and dyers' war, which has caused thousands of dollars damage and resulted in several sluggings, seemed imminent yesterday. Police protection was given three loop buildings, which during the day received anonymous telephone calls threatening bombings. An investigation was started by the racket bureau of the state's attorney's office working in conjunction with the police of the 1st district.

SERGT. AHERN.

The three buildings receiving threats were the Loop End building, 177 North State street, which houses the Metro cleaners; the 202 South State building, housing the Sterling cleaners, and the 7 West Madison Street building, in which the Quality cleaners are established. The owner of the Loop End building made his complaint to Sergt. Michael Ahern of the racket bureau and the other two owners visited the 1st district in person to complain to Lieut. Louis Klatzko.

All of the cleaning establishments are nonunion and are not affiliated with the Cleaning and Dyeing institute.

Meet at Bureau Today.

A meeting will be held this morning at the racket bureau, attended by Lieut. Klatzko, Sergt. Ahern, Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Dufficy, the owners of the buildings, and officials of the cleaners and dyers' union.

"Any bomb threats are news to me," said Frank Harscher, executive director of the Cleaners and Dyers' institute. "The establishments in question have no connection with the institute and the only point I can see is that they are fighting among themselves."

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, official arbitrator for both the institute and the unions, could not be reached yesterday. His secretary said he had left town on business.

First indication of the new outbreak came on Monday with the hurling of acid through the window of the Checker Cleaner and Dyers, 1178 East 61st street. The acid bottle broke harmlessly against the cash register. Six months ago acid throwers ruined clothing valued at $3,000 in the Checker establishment. The concern employs union labor but is not affiliated with the cleaners' institute.

Two to Be Tried.

The trial of Philip Mangano, brother of the notorious "Dago Lawrence," and Louis Clemente, indicted on conspiracy counts growing out of terrorizing of independent cleaners and dyers, will be held late this month, Prosecutor Dufficy said yesterday.

The two were identified by drivers of the International Cleaners and Dyers, 2810 South Park way, as the hoodlums who slugged them and poured acid over clothing they were delivering.

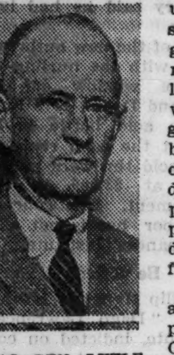
ORDER HEARINGS ON WATERWAY BRIDGE CHANGES

Hurley Acts to Speed Necessary Repairs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today moved to speed up removal of obstructions to navigation on the Illinois link of the lakes to the gulf water route so government barges could be operated immediately upon completion of the proper channel depths late next fall.



MAJ. GEN. LYTLE BROWN. [A. P. Photo.]

The secretary approved a report by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, recommending public hearings to determine whether orders shall be issued by the war department requiring alterations in four railroad and five highway bridges crossing the Illinois waterway. Four other bridges also are affected.

If such orders are issued the penalty for nonperformance by a certain date, according to law, is $5,000 a month. The hearings are to be held this month.

Modify Original Order.

The chief of engineers recommended that the original war department plans be modified so that owners of bridges need not furnish a 300 foot horizontal clearance at this time. The recommendation of Maj. Gen. Brown, concurred in by Secretary Hurley, was that a minimum horizontal clearance of 110 feet and a vertical clearance of 47 feet be required.

The obstructions enumerated included bridges over the Elgin, Lockport and Eastern railroad at Lockport and Divine, a bridge over the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific at Seneca, a bridge over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Ottawa, and highway bridges at Millsdale, Channahon, Morris, Seneca, and Ottawa.

The hearings also will determine whether orders shall be issued requiring changes in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad at Joliet, the La Salle county highway bridge at Utica, and railroad bridges at La Salle owned by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Illinois Central.

Follows Special Inspection.

The Hurley statement today was based on the report of a special board of engineer officers which investigated each Illinois waterway bridge.

The board recommended, the chief and Secretary Hurley concurring, that notice be sent out for installation, where necessary, of operating machinery on bridges over the sanitary canal.

The secretary's action today followed by about three weeks the orders by the war department calling for speeding up the waterway improvement, so it could be opened to navigation, if possible, by Oct. 15.

"Five highway and four railroad bridges across the Illinois waterway," Maj. Gen. Brown advised Secretary Hurley, "will be such obstructions upon completion of the project that the utilization of the waterway for through navigation will be impracticable and two highway bridges beyond economical repair, crossing the Illinois river, will become unreasonable obstructions to navigation unless replaced by modern structures.

"The board also found that there were five highway and six railroad bridges, ten crossing the Illinois river and one across the waterway, which will require sheer fences, pier protection or dolphins to permit reasonably free, easy and unobstructed navigation through them."

Twenty highway and railroad bridges over the sanitary district were mentioned as obstructions to navigation in their existing condition. Of thirteen highway and railroad bridges over the Illinois waterway which need some changes in the interests of navigation, a La Salle county bridge at Utica, an Illinois Central bridge at Ottawa, and a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy bridge at the same point, were mentioned.

State Fails to Get Action.

The report recites the efforts made by the government to get the state of Illinois to force the bridge changes. The government acts authorizes the state to make the bridge alterations. After correspondence between Gen. Brown and the Illinois director of purchase the latter finally ruled that the state had no power to compel railroad companies to comply with a federal order.

No progress having been made in changing the bridges, Gen. Brown therefore recommended "that public hearings, as required by law and the rules of the department, be held to determine whether orders shall be issued by the secretary of war to require alterations of the following bridges:

"[a]. That the owners and controlling interests be required to install adequate operating machinery at all bridges across the sanitary district canal not later than March 1, 1933.

The Official Call.

"[b]. That the following owners be required to alter their bridges across the Illinois waterway not later than March 1, 1933, so as to provide a navigation opening equipped with an adequate fender system affording a minimum horizontal clearance of 110 feet normal to the channel and a vertical clearance of 47 feet above a pool having a slope from crest of dam to upper end of pool resulting from 10,000 c. f. s. discharge at Lockport, and in no case less than 35 feet above high water of record during navigation season, with the understanding that such alterations are a temporary expedient to permit the use of waterway, and that greater horizontal clearances as indicated below will be required within a reasonable time, dependent on the growth of commerce and the condition of the bridges."

Weeks Reports Progress.

Col. W. W. Weeks, district engineer at Chicago, notified Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] today that "every advantage is being taken of the mild weather to speed up the progress of all work on the Illinois waterway section."

Every effort, Col. Weeks said, is being made to employ as many men as possible in the Starved Rock pool area and other sections.

"While the laying of concrete has been temporarily suspended in some places during the winter months, other work is being prosecuted. It is hoped to begin clearing the pool in the vicinity of Joliet within a month or so."

Miss Phyllis M. Creig of New Plymouth, New Zealand, arrived at the Grand Central station early yesterday on the Soo line. She was met by Dr. Haldor Barnes of Whitehall, Mich., who accompanied Commander Richard E. Byrd on his antarctic expedition in 1928-'30. Dr. Barnes met Miss Creig while with Commander Byrd on the trip. They plan to be married in Detroit on Saturday. Miss Creig landed at Vancouver, B. C., New Year's day.

BUILDING LOAN OFFICE ROBBED BY GANG OF 7

Seven armed men entered the offices of the St. James Building and Loan association at 5717 Fullerton avenue last night and after disarming a policeman on guard terrorized two officials of the association and nearly a dozen customers before they fled with $210.

The guard, Policeman Mark Keane of the Cragin station, was covered by two shotguns before he had an opportunity to draw his pistol. The customers were then ordered to lie on the floor. When they obeyed two of the robbers forced the president, Walter Prascewicz, and the secretary, Frank S. Kowalski, to surrender a box containing $200.

From Mrs. Agnes Schoemaker, 2322 North Artesian avenue, the robbers took a purse containing $10. She had just paid $40 into the association treasury. No attempt was made to rob the other customers.

CENTRAL CHIEF EVASIVE ON RAIL TERMINAL HERE

Talks of New Job, but Not 26 Million Project.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Frederick Ely Williamson, who came here from the west to run a railroad, sat in the president's office of the New York Central lines today and talked a bit hesitantly about his new job. He declined to be pinned down to specific topics concerning the future plans of his railroad, dismissed a proposal to talk about electrification of the Chicago terminal and for the most part struck to safe but interesting generalities.

"It would be purely academic to talk of spending money for major improvements, no matter how desirable," said the tall, broad shouldered former easterner who has lived so long in the west that he calls it home. That was Mr. Williamson's answer to a question concerning the long awaited electrification of the Central in Chicago. The new president was asked to comment on the plan for a $26,000,000 rail terminal as outlined by the Chicago plan commission last Saturday.

Reads Story in Tribune.

"I read THE TRIBUNE until the morning I left Chicago," said Mr. Williamson, "but I have not seen the issue that carried that story."

A copy was produced and the executive looked the story over.

"That is one of a number of plans," he said, "but I do not care to discuss them now. The New York Central occupies a strategic position on the loop now and we would hesitate to leave that location even if money was available for a new project of such magnitude."

The New York Central executive was of the opinion that the plan presented by James Simpson as well as other previously discussed plans could not be considered "immediate plans" because of present financial conditions.

Mr. Williamson succeeded Patrick the New York central.

The new official had his first meeting with the eastern press in the elaborate board room of the New York Central.

There is to be no chairman of the board at present, Mr. Williamson said, and he further expressed the opinion there would be no additional executive changes. Former President Crowley who said he quit "because he wanted to rest" is still on the job in an advisory capacity and will keep regular office hours.

Hopeful for Wage Cut.

Asked about general conditions Mr. Williamson said.

"I see no change in the traffic trend, although I do feel that in the west, where I have had points of contact, there is a somewhat better underlying sentiment than in the east. The problem of all railways is one of volume of traffic. I am hopeful that the negotiations looking to a voluntary 15 per cent reduction in wages will be successfully concluded. I feel it essential that wage costs be reduced to meet the emergency. The proposed reductions would be based on a one year agreement. At the end of the period the subject would again be discussed."

Regarding the possibility of lowered passenger fares, Mr. Williamson expressed the opinion that they are down about the limit now.

CITY ADVANCES AS WORLD LEADER FOR AIR TRAVEL

Chicago's position as the busiest air travel center in the world was more firmly established last year with an increase of 55 per cent in the number of passengers on scheduled air lines entering and leaving Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue, Walter Wright, city superintendent of parks, recreation and aviation, disclosed yesterday.

Wright said that 62,456 passengers were handled at the airport in 1930 during 1931, an increase of 34,624.

Last year 35,464 landings were recorded, as compared to 29,391 for the previous year. There were 35,893 take-offs last year as compared to 29,297 during 1930.

"These statistics," said Wright, "are gratifying to Chicago, since they are assurance that this city is growing in importance as an air center. Last year we had virtually no accidents—at least no serious ones—and that record can be attributed, I believe, to the expert method of traffic control that has been developed.

"During the past year we completed all runways, built concrete aprons in front of all hangars and finished the new passenger terminal."

ADVISES MOTOR BUS REGULATION LIKE RAILROADS

I. C. C. Attorney Says It Is Now a Necessity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special].—Declaring that the national transportation machine cannot function with progressive efficiency if part of it is to be regulated and part not regulated, Leo J. Flynn, attorney-examiner of the interstate commerce commission, today recommended to the commission that motor vehicle transportation should be regulated virtually to the same extent as railroad transportation.

In the face of a transportation machine partly regulated and partly unregulated, said Examiner Flynn, coordination of transportation agencies cannot reach its economic possibilities under "this anomalous condition."

"The last ten years have been an era of changing methods of distribution, of merchandising, and of business practices, transportation by motor vehicle being one of the greatest contributing factors to these changes," he said.

"Railroads, steam or electric, no longer have a virtual monopoly of transportation, and regulatory laws based on that theory should be revised in the light of changed conditions affecting transportation and distribution since 1920."

Congress should declare, he said, that the business of operating motor vehicles for hire in interstate commerce on the public highways is affected with public interest and is so interrelated with transportation by other agencies, that it must be considered a part of the national transportation system.

Object to Monon Absorption.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Organized railway labor today protested to the interstate commerce commission against one phase of the proposal to unite eastern railroads into four systems. Four organizations filed a petition objecting to allocating the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railway to the Baltimore and Ohio.

The commission is to open hearings tomorrow on applications to group four systems around the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, and the Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate.

The especial concern of the Brotherhoods is the employés of the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville. "If what has happened in the past in other consolidations is a criterion of what will happen in such a consolidation," the petition said, "it may mean the abandonment of shops and repair plants."

An appeal to the people to nominate and elect

WILLIAM H. MALONE

Governor

The Taxpayers' Union of Illinois appeals to all public spirited citizens and the press to place the welfare of the community before personal preference or benefit and to unite in support of WILLIAM H. MALONE, Taxpayers' candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, because:

His public record is one of courage, leadership, loyalty to trust, unswerving devotion to high ideals and fidelity to public duty.

No one is better qualified to lead in solving our present tax problem and to bring about lower taxation.

WILLIAM H. MALONE understands Cook County, where the tax muddle is most acute, and is, therefore, the one best able to solve it.

The welfare of our state demands that we elect as Governor one who knows our tax laws and how to best revise them in the interest of all the people. Money put into government as taxes is money taken out of business. The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce tax spending.

Reduce tax spending and revise our taxing machinery, under the leadership of WILLIAM H. MALONE as the next Governor. You can help do this by filling in the coupon below and mailing it directly to Mr. Malone.

CUT OUT AND MAIL AT ONCE!

To the HONORABLE WILLIAM H. MALONE,
Park Ridge, Illinois.

Dear Sir: I want you to know that I approve of your fight for equalized and lower taxation in Illinois. In order that your splendid work for the benefit of the taxpayers may be carried to completion I pledge you my support in your campaign for Governor. It is time that the people have an opportunity to support a taxpayer's candidate—not a tax spenders'!

U. S. DIPLOMACY AGAIN FACES ACID TEST AT GENEVA

Americans Urge Share of Disarmament Publicity.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5—Will the United States again let the diplomats of the British foreign office capture control of the publicity at the approaching international disarmament conference at Geneva? Must the American public once more be forced to swallow the British viewpoints while the Yankee delegation remains inarticulate as in the past?

These questions are commencing to worry Americans who recall the efficient and clever manner the British disseminated their side of the picture for the benefit of American newspaper readers at previous naval and disarmament conferences.

British Are Way Ahead.

Heretofore the English have simply walked away with the publicity. The contrast between American and British methods was strikingly illustrated at the 1930 London naval conference. Secretary of State Stimson occasionally received the press at noon. His usual words were:

"I am satisfied with the attitude of the American delegation."

He uttered not one syllable that might influence public opinion to a favorable view of the American problem of armament reduction without sacrifice to the vital national interest.

In marked contrast to this were the publicity operations of the British. George S. Stewart, a young diplomat at the British foreign office and a former newspaper man, received the correspondents at noon and then again in the evening. He revealed the fine art of British propaganda and the American public, in order to obtain any accurate information at all, was forced to glimpse it through the eyes and tongue of a British propagandist.

U. S. Leaders Unavailable.

The American newspaper men felt a bit chagrined when some junior clerk from Washington was perspiring and stalling to avoid explaining the American "hand out," which had been given him by his superiors, who in turn, were unavailable to the press.

This time the British will rely on Sir Arthur Willert, a clever and capable man, to relay "British" news to America.

It is also somewhat painfully recalled that at the 1921 Washington conference Lord Riddell took the news play away from the Americans. The success of this conference won for Mr. Balfour an earldom at the hands of a grateful knight. The only time the Americans got a run for their money was at the 1927 disarmament conference at Geneva when William B. Shearer distributed propaganda of the ship builders. But his commercial connections lessened the value of the publicity.

It has already been suggested that Secretary of State Stimson place Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson in charge of publicity for America at the arms conference in order that the public might be given an understanding of the American attitude.

3 MORE NATIONS DICKER FOR PEACE PACT WITH RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 5.—B. S. Stomoniakov, deputy commissar of soviet foreign affairs, arrived here from Moscow tonight to open negotiations Thursday for non-aggression treaties with three more European nations—Latvia, Rumania and Esthonia.

Previous attempts by the soviets to negotiate non-aggression treaties with Latvia and Esthonia have failed because of Russia's refusal to consider arbitration by a committee in which a neutral state would have a representative. However, Turkey, Persia and Afghanistan recently signed pacts with Russia providing that disputes should be decided by a joint committee of representatives of the two states involved only.

It is learned that Poland, who is now negotiating with Russia, has now also agreed to waive its demand for a neutral member. The soviets also are at present negotiating a pact with Finland, as well as France.

The ancient fortress of Ehrenbreitenstein, Germany, which was held by American troops immediately after the world's war. Heavy rains yesterday loosened tons of rock from the base of the fortress and huge boulders, crashing on the highway below, blocked traffic. The picture was taken as French troops, which succeeded the Americans, were evacuating the castle.

DISCUSS POLICY U. S. IS TO HAVE AT ARMS PARLEY

Hoover Meets Geneva Delegation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Formulation of the American policy at the forthcoming Geneva disarmament conference was begun by President Hoover and the American delegation at a White House luncheon today. Later the delegates discussed the expected issues at a conference with the state, war, and navy department technical staff and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the delegation, is a White House guest. By the end of the week he hopes to begin working out the general policy which will be followed by the committee during the seven or eight months it is expected to remain abroad.

U. S. Has Finished Cutting.

Following the White House luncheon it was stated on administration authority that the United States does not intend to play a leading rôle at the conference. Having cut the American military establishment to the bone in the name of economy, no further cuts along this line should be expected, this administration spokesman said. It was also pointed out that as the United States now ranked fifteenth among the nations in military power, there was little likelihood that this country would be asked to make any real cuts.

Whether the United States delegation will agree to any form of budgetary limitation will be determined this week. Some state department officials are urging that the United States agree to this method of international harmony limitation. The war and navy departments, however, opposed it strenuously today.

Help Germany Disarm.

President Hoover advised the delegation today that it should work largely as contributor to a solution of Europe's disarmament problems. Figures brought forth by the President disclosed that while disarmed Germany has one soldier to each 600 the United States has one soldier to each 900 population. The figures for the United States included national and reserves. Such a force is barely large enough for domestic purposes, he is represented as having said.

Tomorrow war and navy department experts will give the committee their views on reduction in the size of battleships and the advisability of the budgetary limitation plan.

BRITISH BLAME FALL OF POUND TO RAID ON STERLING BY FRENCH

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A further fall in the British pound sterling to $3.36½ today was attributed in some quarters to a French raid on sterling. As the reparations conference nears it is said French banks are launching an attack on the exchange value of the pound by withdrawing balances in an attempt to influence the British policy at the conference.

By thus demonstrating her financial power, says the Daily Herald, France, it is believed, hopes to press Britain into an agreement with her views. During the last few days, the Herald asserts, there have been clear indications of preparations on the part of French banks to withdraw balances and exchange them into dollar bonuses.

The movement, in the Herald's opinion, is likely to be speeded up rapidly this week and the result will be a substantial depreciation in the external value of the pound.

BASE OF GERMAN FORT USED BY A. E. F. COLLAPSES

EHRENBREITSTEIN, Germany, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Heavy rains loosened tons of rock from the base of the ancient fortress here which was occupied by American troops after the world war, and today huge boulders crashed down the steep slopes through the vineyards, blocking traffic on the highway below.

Floods Sweep Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Floods, washouts and breaks in dams were reported from all sections of Germany as a result of an unusually heavy rainfall and unseasonably mild temperatures today. In Saxony the high water level of 1909 was surpassed and in Chemnitz firemen answered 70 calls for help from flooded low lying districts.

Near Karlsruhe a night express train just missed disaster when it passed a spot where, a few minutes later, the railway bed was washed out. The Paris express had to be rerouted there. At Hamelin reichswehr soldiers aided firemen in rescuing forty marooned householders.

COL. D. I. SULTAN BECOMES ARMY ENGINEER HERE

Col. Daniel I. Sultan arrived in Chicago yesterday and assumed charge of the first United States army engineers' district, which includes the rivers and waterway projects in Illinois. He succeeds Col. W. C. Weeks, who, upon completing a report on the proposed Calumet harbor development, will report for duty at New York.

Col. Sultan's past services include almost four years on the general staff of the army at Washington, two years in the Philippines and four years as a member of the army board of engineers for rivers and harbors.

BERLIN DEMANDS MORE TIME TO REPAY HER LOANS

Calls Home Envoys; Seeks Better Terms.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—German ambassadors to Paris, London, Rome, and Moscow are in the German capital or are expected to arrive within the next 24 hours. It is declared that the diplomats have been called to help the bankers of the various nations and the German government reach a compromise plan for the repayment of German foreign debts and also to prepare the ground for the reparations conference at Lausanne and the disarmament conference at Geneva.

The "standpat" committee, as the group of world bankers who are working on a plan for repayment of Germany's foreign debts is nicknamed, is trying to induce the German government to accept a provisory arrangement by which the greater part of Germany's short term credits would be extended another year in exchange for new concessions.

Bruening Rejects Formula.

Chancellor Bruening does not find the proposal acceptable and has called in his ambassadors to instruct them to negotiate with the government to which they are accredited to obtain better terms.

The chancellor and his cabinet are preparing a campaign to end reparations once and for all at Lausanne. As an argument the Germans are using figures of the American Institute of Economics. They are lower than Germany's own estimate of the sums she has paid on reparations in cash and in kind.

Assert France Can Repay.

The American institute states that the Germans have paid more than $9,000,000,000 in reparations. France has received more than $5,000,000.

The Germans point out that French budgets place the actual expenditure for the reconstruction of northern France at slightly over $3,000,000,000. The balance of $2,000,000,000 has been hoarded as gold by the French and could easily be used by them to repay their postwar debts to America, the Germans assert.

The year of grace offered Germany to repay the debts she made in order to pay reparations in cash is not enough, the chancellor maintains.

British Reject French Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Philippe Berthelot of the French foreign office will return to Paris tomorrow without having seen any British politicians on coordinating the British and French positions at the Lausanne reparations conference.

A wide difference in opinion has developed between Britain and France. The French, who at first were reported agreeable to a three year moratorium for Germany as a compromise between their wish for one year and Britain's for five, have now advanced to two years, and Britain still thinks this is inadequate.

The French are also said to favor open repudiation of the debt to America, while Britain is anxious to preserve an appearance of owing money, but of declaring her inability to pay at present.

Germans Buying Back Bonds Floated in United States

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], startled, leaned forward over the table around which sat members of the senate finance committee today.

"But that's impossible," he said in protest. "Don't you know that we had to grant them a moratorium?"

He had just heard Clarence Dillon, head of the investment banking house of Dillon, Read & Co., tell how German corporations were taking advantage of the depressed bond market to buy back a few million dollars' worth of the hundreds of millions of German bonds floated in this country.

It was the German corporations, Mr. Dillon explained again; he didn't know about bonds issued by German states and municipalities.

Private Loans to Be Paid.

And there was another statement of the New York banker's which greatly interested some of the senators inquiring into the huge flotations of foreign issues in this country.

Private foreign debts to American institutions and individuals will be paid "unless extraordinary political or economical forces make it impossible," said Mr. Dillon. But the payment of governmental obligations, he believed, will be decided on the basis of expediency.

"In every country," he explained, "the integrity of the individual still remains. The larger private corporations to whom we have loaned money are today solvent, and wherever there is any difficulty in meeting their foreign obligations, as in the case of short term credits, it is a question of transfer—that is, their ability to get dollars—rather than of solvency.

Political Expediency Enters.

"Debts between governments have always been in a different class. Nations have not paid nations so much from the sanctity of the obligations as from the expediency of the moment. Whether or not these debts are paid is primarily a political question in every country. If they are large enough they naturally have a reflex on other debts, and each country must consider what repercussion its handling of these debts will have on its own situation."

His firm, Mr. Dillon testified, had managed the flotation of foreign bond issues totaling $1,491,228,543.

About 300 millions of these bonds have been retired, he told the senators. The senators were more interested, however, in the 12½ millions of gross profit his house had made, and in the $37,000,000 in Bolivian and $52,000,000 in Brazilian bonds which are now in default.

E. Carlton Granbury, vice chairman, and Chandler P. Anderson Jr., vice president of the Chase-Harris-Forbes corporation in which were merged the Chase Securities company, the Harris-Forbes corporation and the Equitable Trust company, amplified testimony given yesterday as to the three component houses' participation in the flotation of more than five billion dollars' worth of foreign bonds.

BRITISH DOCKMEN MOB AGITATORS INCITING STRIKE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Two communist agitators, a man and a woman, who attempted to induce a crowd of dockworkers to join the lightermen's strike, were pelted with packets of flour and red, blue, and ochre paint powders while they stood on soap boxes this noon. The agitators retreated under heavy police guard while the dockworkers cheered.

"It's none of your business. Go back to Russia," shouted members of the crowd when the agitators tried to address them.

One dockworker then hurled a white flour "bomb," which was the signal for a barrage. The speakers tried to retreat, and police were forced to commandeer a passing bus to save them from a beating.

Sues Niles, Mich., for $50,000 Flood Damages

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—A $50,000 suit, opening in Berrien County Circuit court before Judge C. E. White, involves the city of Niles. Joseph Blatts, Niles, owner of 14 acres of land on Dowagiac creek, east of Niles, seeks that amount in damages, claiming his property was ruined when the city of Niles raised the dam at the power plant, causing water to flood his land. The suit is against the city of Niles and the Niles board of public works.

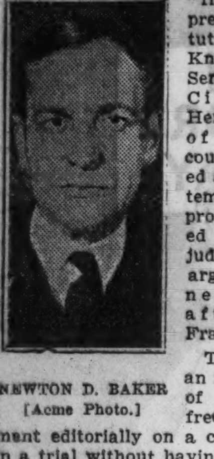
KENTUCKY COURT OF APPEALS GETS PRESS GAG CASE

Will Decide if Judge Has Right to Bar Reporter.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mount Sterling, Ky., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Kentucky Court of Appeals today took up the "freedom of the press" case instituted by the Knoxville News-Sentinel against Circuit Judge Henry R. Prewitt of Montgomery county and granted a hearing on a temporary writ of prohibition directed against the judge, setting the argument for next Thursday afternoon in Frankfort.



NEWTON D. BAKER
[Acme Photo.]

This brings to an issue the right of a newspaper freely to comment editorially on a court's conduct in a trial without having its reporters barred from this same court in future trials.

The Scripps Howard newspapers, considering the issue fundamental, have retained the Cleveland firm of which Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, is the head, and Mr. Baker is expected to take part in the arguments.

Judge to Attend Hearing.

Judge Prewitt has signified his desire to attend the hearing and will adjourn the murder trial of William Hightower, United Mine Workers' president, in Evarts, Ky., on Thursday for this purpose. He is convinced that his action in barring the News-Sentinel reporters was justified in view of the nature of an editorial printed in that paper, which he considered scurrilous and libelous. This concerned the conduct of attorneys and court in the previous trial of W. B. Jones, United Mine Workers' secretary, who was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment last month.

Judge Prewitt precipitated this controversy by barring John Moutoux, News-Sentinel and United Press reporter at the Jones trial, after the editorial had been called to his attention. This, despite the fact that it was shown that Moutoux had nothing to do with the editorial. The issue further was clarified by the News-Sentinel when it sent Jack Bryan, another reporter, who had had nothing to do with the trials, to Mount Sterling and he also was refused a place at the press table by the judge.

The petition for writ of prohibition was filed today by Attorneys Paul Patterson of the Cleveland firm and W. B. Townsend of Lexington. It was accepted by Justice Richard T. Dietzman, who set the time for the hearing after consultation with other members of the court, and with Judge Prewitt.

Denies Court Is Libeled.

The petition filed on behalf of the News-Sentinel stated that Judge Prewitt had gone beyond his jurisdiction in barring their reporters from his court. No libel had been committed against the court, it was stated, but regardless of this the paper had a right to have its representative there as long as other newspaper men were present.

In support of this the 14th amendment to the federal constitution was cited, as well as two parts of the constitution of the commonwealth of Kentucky. These follow:

"Section one—That the great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established, we declare that all men are, by nature, free and equal and have certain inherent and inalienable rights, among which may be reckoned:

"The right of acquiring and protecting property.

Responsible for Abuses.

"Section eight—Printing presses shall be free to every person who undertakes to examine the proceedings of the general assembly or any branch of the government and no law shall ever be made to restrict the right thereof.

"Every person may fully and freely speak, write or print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty."

The Hightower trial proceeded as usual today, with representatives of two news associations and a local reporter at the press table. Judge Prewitt, who had been notified last night, that an appeal would be taken to the State Court of Appeals at Frankfort, sent his two sons there to represent him. They are Reid and Allan Prewitt, both lawyers. He was in communication with them throughout the day. When the question of an immediate hearing was raised, Judge Prewitt said he wanted to be heard.

"I take the position," he said "that the judge has the right to control his court at all times. The article in this paper about me was false."

At the hearing given Reporter John Moutoux of the News-Sentinel last night the court stated that he believed in a free press, but that the newspapers had no inherent right in a courtroom, but were there at the will of the court. He permitted Moutoux to go without fine or jail sentence, which had been threatened, and today ordered this order into the records of his court:

"It is manifest that the defendant is in the employ of the Knoxville News-Sentinel, which has through its colums published scurrilous, false and unwarranted statements of and concerning the action of this court in the trial of W. B. Jones; which is in effect a reflection on the courts of the state of Kentucky.

Not a Bar to Other Reporters.

"It is therefore deemed proper, until said paper retracts its statements, that it be not permitted to have present representatives to report the trial now in progress, that of the commonwealth of Kentucky against William Hightower, or any other trial where life and liberty, the general moral well being of the community, in so far as law enforcement, life and liberty, are to be considered.

"And to that end the defendant is denied the privilege of appearing in this court in the above trial as a reporter for the said Knoxville News-Sentinel. This, however, is not a bar to any other paper or association of papers having present a representative to cover and report the trial now in progress, so long as they do not represent the office of the Knoxville News-Sentinel."

What Newspaper Declares.

The News-Sentinel says of this situation editorially:

"Judge Prewitt's action was one of paramount importance in the nation-freedom of the press. The issue is fundamental. The first of the ten original amendments to the constitution of the United States, composing the bill of rights, says:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech of the press; or the right of people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

"Thomas Jefferson declared: 'Our liberty depends upon the freedom of the press and that cannot be limited without being lost.'"

Protest Arrest of 9 Organizers.

Pineville, Ky., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Fifteen hundred miners surged about the courthouse here today in protest against the arrest of nine organizers of the National Miners' union. The organizers were arrested on charges of criminal syndicalism after their headquarters here were raided and communistic literature was found.

Discovery was made today that Julia Parker, who was arrested here yesterday, already is under indictment for criminal syndicalism. She was here with the Dreiser group under the name of Celia Kuhn, it was stated, and was indicted with that group in November. Others held on criminal syndicalism charges are Norma Martin, Verne Smith, John Harvey, Ann Barton, Margaret Fontaine, Dorothy H. Weber, C. Michelson, and Vincent Kemenovich. Warrants have been issued for Frank Borich and Joe Webber.

4 BANDITS INVADE STORE; 1 SHOT BY POLICE; 3 ESCAPE

Samuel Grillo, 18 years old, 506 South Hoyne avenue, leader of a band of robbers, was shot and possibly fatally injured last evening by two policemen who were guarding the notion store of Benjamin Litman at 913 South Western avenue.

With Grillo when he entered the store, carrying a pistol in his right hand, were three companions. The policemen, Robert Elliott and Michael De Larue, waiting in the rear, opened fire, felling Grillo. His companions escaped.

CHARGE OF RAPE AGAINST DEVOL IS NOL PROSSED

In order to clear the record for his trial in Criminal court, the charge of rape against Carl B. Devol, insurance broker, was nol prossed yesterday in the Felony court before Judge James F. Fardy. Devol is accused of attacking a 16 year old Wisconsin girl. The nol pros was asked by Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast, who explained that Devol had already been indicted by the grand jury.

Devol is a fugitive. His $3,000 cash bond was ordered forfeited by Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt on Dec. 10 when Devol failed to appear in the Felony court. Testimony at this hearing revealed that he had fled. At a hearing on Dec. 15 a letter from Devol to a business associate was introduced. Devol told of leaving for a place where there "are no postoffices or anything else."

The attack on the girl is alleged to have occurred on Nov. 14 in a disorderly house at 4457 Indiana avenue. John Thompson, a Negro, who has confessed that he also attacked the girl at Devol's request, has also been indicted for rape. Mrs. Wiletta Lowe, colored landlady of the house, and Levi Minter, another Negro, have been indicted as accessories.

London Replaces 17 Miles of Street Cars with Buses

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Seventeen miles of street car lines in the environs of London have been supplanted by trolley buses, a meeting of London United Tramways, Ltd., was told today, with a consequent 15 per cent reduction in expenses and a considerable increase in efficiency.

MOVE TO SMOKE OUT PRESIDENT ON NAVY BILL

Democrats Ask Adams if Hoover Will Sign It.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Democratic controlled house naval affairs committee today moved to smoke out President Hoover on the question of whether or not he favors authorization of vessels needed to build the United States up to the tonnage limits permitted by treaty.

At its first meeting today to consider the 616 million dollar Vinson warship authorization bill, Chairman Carl A. Vinson [Dem., Ga.] instructed Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams to submit the measure to the budget director and find out whether it would have the approval of President Hoover. Secretary Adams promised to have a report back to the committee at the earliest possible date.

No White House Backing.

Although Secretary Adams said he had no advance knowledge of President Hoover's reactions to the bill, but pointed out that, of course, it was not an administration measure. While high ranking administration leaders in the house say President Hoover undoubtedly would sign the bill if it is put up to him all indications now are that the measure will have to be acted on without White House backing. Naval officials believe the President will decline to say that the bill is in conformity with his financial program.

Secretary Adams and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and the navy's highest ranking active officer, advised the house committee that they were heartily in favor of the passage of the Vinson bill. Notwithstanding White House hostility to spending money on warships both officials warmly praised the measure, Admiral Pratt describing it as "the sanest bill he had ever seen."

The Vinson bill authorizes 120 replacement cruisers, destroyers, submarines, and one air craft carrier, as well as two new aircraft carriers of 20,000 tons each. It provides all ships needed to build up to the tonnage levels of the London treaty, but delays the date when this country will have such a navy until 1942, five years after the London treaty expires.

Unable to Define Truce.

Secretary Adams advised Chairman Vinson and the committee that passage of the new warship bill would not be in violation either of the London naval limitation treaty or the one year arms truce promoted by the league of nations. Admiral Pratt concurred with his chief, causing a laugh when he said he doubted "if any one knows what the building truce actually means." Neither Secretary Adams nor Admiral Pratt would attempt to define the truce, although Secretary Adams said that under no conditions would passage of a warship authorization bill affect it.

Admiral Pratt said authorization of a ten year naval construction program would be in the interests of economy and naval efficiency.

"A one year program means spasmodic building," he said. "I prefer to have a building program laid out in advance. I endorse this bill. It gives the ships it is entitled to under the treaty. Our country should live up to the limits of any naval treaty it signs. I believe, however, that in building up we should follow an orderly program of so many ships a year rather than lumping our new building within a short period."

Admiral Pratt said that due to past building neglect the navy will be short of good destroyers for many years to come.

CHANGE IN HOOVER'S POLICIES IS SEEN IN PAYNE'S RELIEF PLEA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—An amendment of earlier administration policies was seen today when John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, appeared before the house committee on agriculture to testify in behalf of the Capper bill making 40 million bushels of stabilization wheat held by the federal farm board available for relief purposes.

During the last session Mr. Payne was a center of the debate which raged about the question of relief and "doles" because of his insistence that the Red Cross should not accept a federal relief appropriation. He upheld the administration vigorously.

But today he spoke not only in favor of distributing the farm board wheat for the benefit of the needy, but encouraged the introduction of a bill which is in preparation to treat farm board cotton in the same fashion, so that cotton goods may be donated to those lacking clothing.

Mr. Payne was explicit on one point. He wanted the exact duties of the Red Cross as distributing agent definitely set out in the bill. Out of his experience, he said, the Red Cross would be criticized in whatever it did and he wished no loopholes left in the bill.

HOODLUMS MAKE TRADE CAPITAL OF STREET BREAK

A complaint was made yesterday to Joseph J. Butler, superintendent of the bureau of streets, that hoodlums have kept a huge hole in the pavement at Ogden avenue and Ohio street scraped out so that motorists might ruin their tires there and be forced to buy new tires of the hoodlums. Supt. Butler said the charge would be investigated immediately.

The hole is about five feet long, four feet wide, and seven to ten inches deep. It was first caused by the breaking and repairing of a water main, according to Frank A. Micaletti, who operates a service station at 507 North Ogden avenue, almost in front of the hole. Micaletti said that scores of motorists have had blowouts when the tires of their cars hit the hole. Immediately afterward, he said, young hoodlums appear with offers to sell tires.

Micaletti said that he had filled in the hole with sand several times but hoodlums apparently scoop it out again during the night.

Blocks Bridge with Truck When He Leaps to Death

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Traffic on the government bridge was blocked last night when Bernie Perry, 27, employé of the Moline Sausage company, stalled his truck in the middle of the span and leaped to his death in the Mississippi river.

FINDS TORTURE CHAMBER USED BY KIDNAP GANG

Prisoners Also Charge Police Beating.

Writs of habeas corpus were sought yesterday in behalf of the gang held as kidnapers for ransom. They were also accused of several kidnapings in which they tortured their victims, but present prosecution involves only the captivity of Mrs. Georgia Gecht, who was handcuffed to a bed for two days while her husband, Dr. Max Gecht, who had been held prisoner for several hours, during which he was roughly treated, went out to raise $2,000, which was paid as ransom.

Evidence was supplied by Sergt. Frank McGillen of the highway police that the gang had a torture chamber back of the home of Gus Sanger in Palos Park where the Gechts were held. It was a shed in which a hole had been cut in a partition so a person could be handcuffed to the wall while seated on the floor. A quantity of waste was found, said by the sergeant to have been used in burning the feet of one of the gang's captives. The windows of the shed were covered with tar paper. There were indications this torture chamber had been used frequently, McGillen said.

Reports Bruises on Prisoners.

When the prisoners were led into the courtroom of Chief Justice Harry Fisher they were handcuffed. Their attorneys, Harold Levy, George Crane and John Johntry, asked the court to have a physical examination made of the accused, claiming they had been beaten while in the custody of Chief Investigator Pat Roche. Assistant State's Attorney Ross Lee Laird objected, saying he didn't think such an examination was pertinent, "under the circumstances."

Judge Fisher said, "It is pertinent," and he directed that Dr. Francis McNamara, jail physician, take the prisoners into an anteroom and examine them. Judge Fisher had gone when Dr. McNamara was ready to report so his statement was withheld until today when he will submit it to Judge Fisher.

The physician declared, however, that he found several bruises on the body of John Pingeree, alleged leader of the gang, and a few scalp wounds. Also, he stated, there were a few marks on William Thomas. The prisoners claimed, according to the doctor, that they were beaten while in a police station and later when held for two days in a hotel room. They claimed a rubber hose had been used on them.

"Treated as They Deserved"—Roche.

"When I first learned of the identity of the kidnapers of Dr. and Mrs. Gecht I told my men to shoot them on sight," Investigator Roche said upon being told of the complaints of the defendants. "We didn't need any confessions after we arrested Pingeree and the others and they were treated as they deserved. If any of the policemen became rough with the prisoners they brought it on themselves."

Sanger and his wife told the court they wished to remain in the state's attorney's custody and that they feared to be released and the writ for them was dismissed. Action on the other writs was postponed until tomorrow in the expectation the prisoners will be speedily indicted. They were placed in the custody of the sheriff.

Lead Attorney in Court.

Those held besides Pingeree, Thomas and Sanger are Edward Finnen, Albert Russell and Attorney Ward Swalwell, formerly an assistant state's attorney. Guy Wycoff, one of those held for several days and whose voice was said to have been recognized by James Hackett, a Blue Island gambler who paid $75,000 ransom, was released yesterday and a writ in his behalf was dismissed.

In court Attorney Swalwell, who became totally blind a few months ago after a nervous breakdown, but who has since recovered his sight, was shaking like a leaf. He had to be led around and he kept saying loudly "Don't miss it." He appeared to be on the verge of another breakdown. He was involved in the case through his acquaintance with the Gechts, who said he was the only one who knew where they would be the night they were kidnaped and because he was selected to act as go between in making the payment to the kidnapers.

Balk Aurora Kidnaping.

An attempted kidnaping was reported in Aurora yesterday. Matthew Kersch, who formerly operated the Fox Gardens, where gambling was said to have been the main attraction, was in the St. Charles hospital suffering from injuries inflicted by men who attempted to force him into an automobile. They followed him in two automobiles for several blocks, he said, and then they forced his car to the curb and four masked men armed with shotguns seized him.

Through the timely arrival of Harry Murray, president of a golf club, the kidnapers were frustrated but not until they had severely beaten Kersch. Last October William Olinger, partner of Kersch, was kidnaped and held until $7,000 ransom was paid.

PROMINENT WOMAN PEACE LECTURER PLUNGES TO DEATH

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Miss Frieda M. Burkel, 37, a lecturer for the Carl Schurz Foundation, fell or jumped to her death last night from the 19th floor of the Lewis tower, Fifteenth and Locust streets.

Wilbur Thomas, local head of the foundation, said today that Miss Burkel had been in ill health and had said to him a month ago that she was "tired and despondent."

Miss Burkel had been decorated many times in this country and abroad for her work in promoting friendly relations between the United States and Germany.

Last Thursday she received an autographed photograph from Wilhelm II, former emperor of Germany. An invitation to visit him next spring accompanied the photograph.

Miss Burkel served on the Hoover relief committee during the world war and directed relief work in the Ruhr district.

LONELINESS ; ; ; that's the awful penalty of poor skin and a sallow, blemished complexion. Yet how easily her unhappy plight could be remedied ; ; ; if she only knew!

HERE'S the often unsuspected cause of bad skin, blotches, pimples, etc. It's Intestinal Fatigue ; ; ; the body's failure to eliminate poison-breeding waste.

3 CAKES of fresh yeast daily will keep intestines active, clean—clear up your skin!

There's no excuse for BAD SKIN!

It's usually due to an unhealthy condition INSIDE your body that you can correct very easily . . . if you go about it the right way!

DO YOU KNOW THIS GIRL?

She is young, slim, attractive, brilliant.

Yet for years real happiness has passed her by. For years a hopeless handicap has spoiled her chances for success, ruined her beauty, destroyed her youthful charm.

She has a bad complexion!

* * *

That's the unpleasant thing about Intestinal Fatigue (constipation). It so often shows itself in a sallow, blemished skin.

Now most of us know that. Yet, in our impatience to correct this evil, we frequently resort to measures that make it actually worse.

We turn to laxatives, to strong cathartics, to violent pills. And all too quickly we discover that the relief they give is at best only temporary ; ; ; that at worst they lead to a dangerous medicine habit that's very hard to break.

Then what is the answer?

Doctors—for over three-quarters of a century—have known an amazingly simple way to overcome constipation and the skin troubles, digestive troubles, depression, headaches, and even graver ills to which this evil leads.

This method is the regular eating of Fleischmann's Yeast!

A food, Fleischmann's Yeast has none of the objections of harmful "remedies." Eaten daily, it mingles with the clogging waste masses in your intestines. At the same time it actually "tones" and stimulates the natural action that helps to clear these wastes away.

Thus your whole system is gently invigorated, purified. Poisons have less chance to form. Headaches disappear. And soon, those horrid skin blotches and pimples fade away!

If you've never tried Fleischmann's Yeast, do so by all means. Eat it regularly, three cakes a day—before meals or between meals and at bedtime—just plain, or dissolved in water (a third of a glass).

You can get Fleischmann's Yeast (rich in vitamins B, G and D) at grocers, restaurants and soda fountains. Start eating it today!

IMPORTANT—Fleischmann's Yeast for health comes only in the foil-wrapped cake with the yellow label. It's yeast in its fresh, effective form—the kind famous doctors recommend. Ask for it by name!

Not a "Cure-all" . . Fleischmann's Yeast is a health food thousands eat —3 cakes a day

OFFERS $25,000 ON HIS $126,000 DEBT TO BANK

Chamales Ordered to List Stocks for Court.

TOM CHAMALES.

Tom Chamales, former saloon keeper and cafe owner, and now a realty dealer, offered a $25,000 compromise on an indebtedness of $126,812 to the defunct Sheridan Trust and Savings bank in Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg's court yesterday. The judge is seeking to recover assets hidden to the bank receiver. Chamales had spent an hour on the stand telling of his assets in realty, stocks and bond accounts.

"The poor depositors are suffering," the judge said as Chamales completed the listing. "What are you going to do to help them?"

"They were not poor when I borrowed the money," Chamales retorted sharply. I offered to compromise for $25,000. The offer still stands."

"Do you think that was an honorable offer?" the judge asked.

"Yes, with times like they are."

Ordered to Return to Court.

"You men of wealth don't want to meet your obligations," the judge retorted. "A poorer man would raise the money somehow. But don't think you are fooling the court. The harder you make things for us the more you'll have to pay. If we have to use a crowbar to pry it loose, we'll do it."

Chamales was ordered to return tomorrow morning with a list of all his stock holdings.

The first promise of cash payment to the receiver was made by Peter M. Curto, brother of Victor J. Curto, a director of the closed bank, who owes $150,000. Peter, who is manager of his brother's hotel building at 1020 Lawrence avenue, owes the bank $20,948. He promised to turn over $200 a month from his salary and a third interest in a building at 1054-60 Lawrence avenue, valued at $17,000. Victor Curto has been a witness before the judge and has refused to turn over a $150,000 trust fund to meet his obligations.

Another Gary Bank Closes.

The First National bank of Gary closed yesterday afternoon following a run which began with the closing of two Hammond banks Saturday and continued with the closing of the Bank of America of Gary on Monday. F. R. Schaff, president of the bank, said the closing was voted by the directors as a preliminary step toward reorganization and to protect the interests of depositors.

The bank's report of Dec. 31 showed resources of $4,800,000 and deposits of $2,900,000. There was $300,000 in cash in the vaults when the bank closed. President Schaff said the depositors would lose no money. The closing leaves Gary with one bank, the Gary State bank, an $8,000,000 institution. Twelve banks have closed in Gary in 18 months.

Jury Chosen for Trial of Youth on Murder Charge

CRIMINAL COURT.
Eddie Cooley, larceny, sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Arthur Arnold, 19 years old, was placed on trial in Judge Walter P. Steffen's court yesterday for the murder on Aug. 1 of Louis Coleman, 4837 Winthrop avenue. Arnold is charged with stabbing Coleman when Coleman came to the assistance of Mrs. Bertha Timms, a landlady who had remonstrated with Arnold for noise he was making in her house. A jury was chosen yesterday and one witness testified.

ASKS $200,000 OF 12 CHURCHMEN FOR LOST LOVE

Told Wife Lies About Him, He Charges.

Chambersburg, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Charging 12 members of the Mennonite church with having alienated the affections of his wife, Blanche, because he refused to give up an inheritance, Adin S. Shank of Salt Lake City, formerly of Zullinger, Pa., today filed an amended claim for $200,000 against them.

The original claim, filed several months ago, was ordered amended by Judge Watson R. Davison on the ground that it was not sufficiently specific.

Poisoned Wife's Mind, Charge.

Shank in 1916 received the inheritance in the form of stock. He charges the 12 urged him to dispose of it because it was a worldly possession and as such against the rule of the church. When he refused, Shank said, they advised him to transfer it to his daughter, Thelma, with the understanding he could receive the proceeds or dividends.

After refusing for four years to accede to their demands, Shank asserts, they approached his wife and impressed upon her the fact that he was "sinful, unclean, tainted, unwholesome, and ungodly."

They advised her, Shank charges in his suit, "not to use the same table as he used, not to sleep in the same room with him, and not even to talk with him." They told her if she did not follow out their instructions she would be "lost."

Excommunicated by Church.

In 1925, Shank says, he was excommunicated from the church. He advised the 12 then to stop attempting to influence his wife. They continued, he charges, with the result that she deserted him in 1927 after they had "poisoned her mind against him."

He moved to Salt Lake City after his wife left him and received a divorce there in December, 1929, on the grounds of desertion and mental cruelty.

Women and Children Get Available Firemen Pensions

The firemen's pension board established a policy of "women and children first" Monday at a special meeting at which its members were told that not enough cash is available to pay the full pension roll due this month. Widows and children who are beneficiaries of the fund will get their payments from the $69,000 available.

Near White House

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Meeting a wolf on 16th street, which Washington fondly calls the Avenue of Presidents, was the peculiar experience this morning of Gordon Rains. To prove it he has the wolf, captured with the aid of several cab drivers and milk men about 1 o'clock. After going to all the trouble Rains hopes no one explains how the wolf got there. He wants to keep it.

RUSH WORK FOR TRIAL OF NELSON ON PLOT CHARGES

State's Attorney Ashbel V. Smith of Lake county announced yesterday that he and his assistants were at work preparing for the trial of charges of conspiracy against State Auditor Oscar Nelson, George Woodruff, Chicago banker, and three others, accused of defrauding depositors of the Waukegan State bank. The trial is set for Jan. 18 at Woodstock.

Col. Smith said he would ask Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, who on Monday dismissed misfeasance charges against the state auditor, to allow another judge to try the conspiracy case. If Judge Shurtleff grants this plea the case in all probability will be tried by Judge Arthur E. Fisher of Rockford.

H. Frank Marsh, president of the Waukegan State Bank Depositors' association, said a meeting of the depositors would be held Thursday night at Waukegan. Members of the jury in the Nelson case, who were ordered by Judge Shurtleff to sign a verdict of not guilty, expressed views that they thought the case should have gone to completion, although some of them were in agreement with Judge Shurtleff's decision that the court had no jurisdiction in the case.

Blast and Fire Damage Building on West Side

An explosion in a vacant two story brick building at 2200 Washington boulevard last night caused a fire which resulted in damage of $500. Fire Attorney T. J. Sheehan found two five gallon cans which had contained gasoline and expressed a belief that some one had caused the explosion. John Gibbons, owner of a filling station at 2109 Jackson boulevard, owner of the building, was sought for questioning by the police.

PORTER, FORMER DIPLOMAT, SUED BY HIS MOTHER

Seeks to Void Transfer of $1,000,000 Property.

Washington Porter II., former diplomatic secretary, has been made defendant in an action to set aside title conveyances to almost $1,000,000 worth of securities and real estate obtained from the property of his mother, Mrs. Frances Lee Porter, 4043 Lake Park avenue. The suit, the details of which came to light yesterday although it was filed by Mrs. Porter last August, charges that the transfers were made without her knowledge or consent.

Superior Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh has granted temporary injunctions restraining Porter, the Diamond Match company, the National Biscuit company, the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, and seven partners of Blake Brothers & Co., brokers, from transferring or disposing of property belonging either to Porter or his mother, pending the hearing of the suit.

Charges Made By Mother.

In the bill, which was drawn by the law firm of Wilson & McIlvaine, Mrs. Porter charged that she was given a life estate in several properties, including her home, by her late husband, Washington Porter, wealthy real estate broker. These provisions were included in his will, which was probated shortly after his death in June, 1924.

Soon after his father's death, Mrs. Porter charged, the son persuaded her to allow him to handle all her business affairs. He was trusted with indorsed blank checks and with securities and stock certificates, the suit alleged.

It was charged that on several occasions he gave her sheafs of papers to sign.

Property Taken, She Charges.

Ten days before filing the suit, the action asserted, Mrs. Porter learned from several sources that she had signed quit claim deeds to her home, to two parcels of valuable property at Wacker drive and Franklin street, and a number of lots in West Madison street and at Oakwood boulevard and Lake Park avenue, near her home.

Investigation of her security holdings revealed at the same time, the bill charged, that similar quit claims had placed in her son's hands a block of more than 3,000 shares of Diamond Match company stock and 100 shares of National Biscuit company stock.

Last Sunday Porter reported to the police that $10,000 worth of silverware had been stolen from the Porter home, saying he suspected his mother's maid. The mother defended the maid. Part of the silver was found in the home later.

Porter was secretary to the American legation in Denmark in 1918. While at a court function there he met Signe Dorthea Berg-Hansen, a society girl, and two years later he married her. He obtained a divorce decree in 1922 for desertion.

SEEKS TO DROP HIS SUIT AGAINST CLOSED BANK STOCKHOLDERS

Harry W. Yaseen, Chicago Heights jeweler and a depositor in the First State bank of that town, which closed its doors Saturday, appeared before Judge Denis E. Sullivan in the Superior court yesterday with a petition to dismiss the suit which he filed to enforce stockholders' liability on the stockholders of the closed bank.

The petition was filed by Attorney Arthur A. Huebsch, a state senator, on behalf of Yaseen, just an hour after the bank posted a notice on Saturday morning that it would not open. Through Attorney Francis Clamitz, Yaseen told Judge Sullivan yesterday that he had the petition filed at the request of Manuel Sultan, collector of Bloom township and a political figure in Chicago Heights.

Sultan, he said, informed him on the evening of Jan. 1 that the bank was shaky, and they left Chicago Heights in the politician's automobile an hour before the closing notice was posted Saturday. Yaseen asserted that he read only hastily the petition filed for him by Senator Huebsch. Attorney Clamitz, in his petition, asserted that his client's suit was premature, since it has not yet been determined whether the institution is insolvent. Judge Sullivan continued the case five days so that Senator Huebsch, who was attending the legislature in Springfield yesterday, might appear in the action.

FINDS LOWEST TEMPERATURE EVER OBTAINED

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 5.—Dr. W. Keesom of Leyden university announced today at a meeting of the department of mathematics and physics of the Society for the Advancement of Practicing Science that he had succeeded in cooling a space of ten cubic centimeters to 0.75 of a degree K. This is believed to be the lowest temperature ever obtained.

"K." is an abbreviation for the absolute temperature scale, also called the Kelvin scale, after Lord Kelvin. The scale is derived from the law of expansion of a perfect gas.

Zero on the absolute temperature scale is equivalent, approximately, to minus 273 degrees centigrade, or minus 491 degrees Fahrenheit. Hence 0.75 degrees "K." would equal minus 272.25 centigrade, or minus 489 Fahrenheit. Absolute zero is the temperature of absolute cold or the entire absence of heat.

3 Chicago Heights Youths Are Held as Bank Robbers

Three 20 year old Chicago Heights youths were held to the Iroquois county grand jury in bonds of $7,000 each yesterday by Police Magistrate Peter Kamp in Watseka on a charge of robbing the Woodland State bank of $1,744 on Dec. 16. The youths are Lawrence Lambertino, Clifford Young, and William Downey.

CONVICT FREED AT BEHEST OF STATE BANKERS

Call Stepina Innocent of $18,000 Holdup.

"Why was Carlos Stepina paroled?" Chief of Detectives Schoemaker wanted to know yesterday.

"Because he was innocent," came the answer, and then followed a story of how the Illinois Bankers' association became convinced that Stepina and David Taddea were wrongfully convicted of taking $18,000 from a bank messenger in a holdup. Taddea was released a year ago but because of a previous crime, Stepina was held in the Joliet penitentiary until Dec. 2. Both entered prison on June 25, 1929 on sentences of one year to life for the messenger holdup.

Stepina's police record dates back to 1915. In 1920 he was convicted of robbery with a gun and sentenced to imprisonment for 10 years to life after he attempted to hold up Sergt. Horace Odell, chauffeur for First Deputy Police Commissioner John Alcock. Stepina was captured, wounded, and his partner, John Bumbaugh, was killed in this holdup.

Escapes and Is Captured.

After being in the Joliet prison a few months Stepina escaped with five other convicts on Sept. 14, 1921, and was recaptured on Oct. 11, 1921. He was granted a parole on Dec. 9, 1927.

In August, 1928, a messenger for the Service State bank, 5601 West North avenue, was robbed. George Raymondi, 723 North Drake avenue, confessed that he and others had planned to rob this messenger, but their plans fell through. He named several men as the actual robbers.

Carl Turroco, Stepina, and Taddea were arrested. In Stepina's notebook was the telephone number of Raymondi. The three were convicted by a jury before Judge Harry B. Miller, who complimented the jurors.

Causes Scene in Court.

Stepina, a world war veteran, who was gassed and wounded in France and was decorated by three nations, asked for lenien[illegible] when Assistant State's Attorne[illegible] Lavin refused to consi[illegible] request Stepina tore off his w[illegible] service button.

"The Illinois Bankers' association reported to [illegible] they were sure Stepina was innocent," said B. C. Jones, head of the parole board yesterday in explaining Stepina's release.

"We asked the parole board to free Stepina," said R. C. Saunders, head of the crime prevention department of the Illinois Bankers' association. "We do not want to see an innocent man imprisoned. We were never sure of the guilt of Stepina and Taddea. They were convicted on circumstantial evidence. We wanted the truth about who was involved in that robbery so we went to Joliet and interviewed the prisoners.

"We took Leonard Keeler and his lie detector with us and this instrument was used on the convicts. We got the truth out of Turrocco. We have the names of the six men who split the $18,000 loot and our belief in the innocence of Stepina and Taddea was confirmed.

"We asked for their release on parole. Taddea was freed at once, but Stepina was held because, under a ruling of the attorney general, he was paroled prematurely on his former sentence."

CALIFORNIA SUDDEN SNOW MAROONS 200 IN MOUNTAIN RANGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—More than 200 men, women and children, eighteen of them reported to be high school students from Los Angeles, were reported marooned and in distress in sudden deep snows in the Mono Basin section of the high Sierra mountain range 275 miles distant from here.

Mrs. E. M. Martin, 65, and her nephew, J. C. Curtain, were rescued today nearly dead from cold and starvation after being cut off by drifts which stalled their automobile. They huddled together for warmth in the car for several days. Curtain, it was reported from Bishop, Cal., will require amputation of both feet.

VOLSTEAD ASKED TO GIVE EVIDENCE IN FAVOR OF BEER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Andrew J. Volstead, father of the national prohibition act, was today challenged by Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], author of pending anti-prohibition measures, to appear before a senate subcommittee and repeat what he is reported to have testified eleven years ago—that wine might contain "considerably more" that one-half of one per cent of alcohol and still be nonintoxicating in fact. Mr. Volstead indicated be would appear only if subpoenaed.

Senator Bingham wrote to the former Minnesota representative asking him to appear in behalf of the Bingham 4 per cent beer bill, hearings on which will commence this Friday.

"You will recall," wrote the senator, "that you told the house rules committee on June 10, 1921, that wine 'might contain 1 or 2 or possibly 3 per cent without being intoxicating.' You later edited your testimony to read 'considerably more' instead of the specific percentage."

Cut Detroit City Employe Salaries from 10 to 17 Pct.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The city council tonight voted to reduce the salaries of all city employés from 10 to 17 per cent. Adoption of the ordinance, councilmen estimated, will save $1,300,000 a year.

YOU too, can have A GOOD HEAD OF HAIR . . .

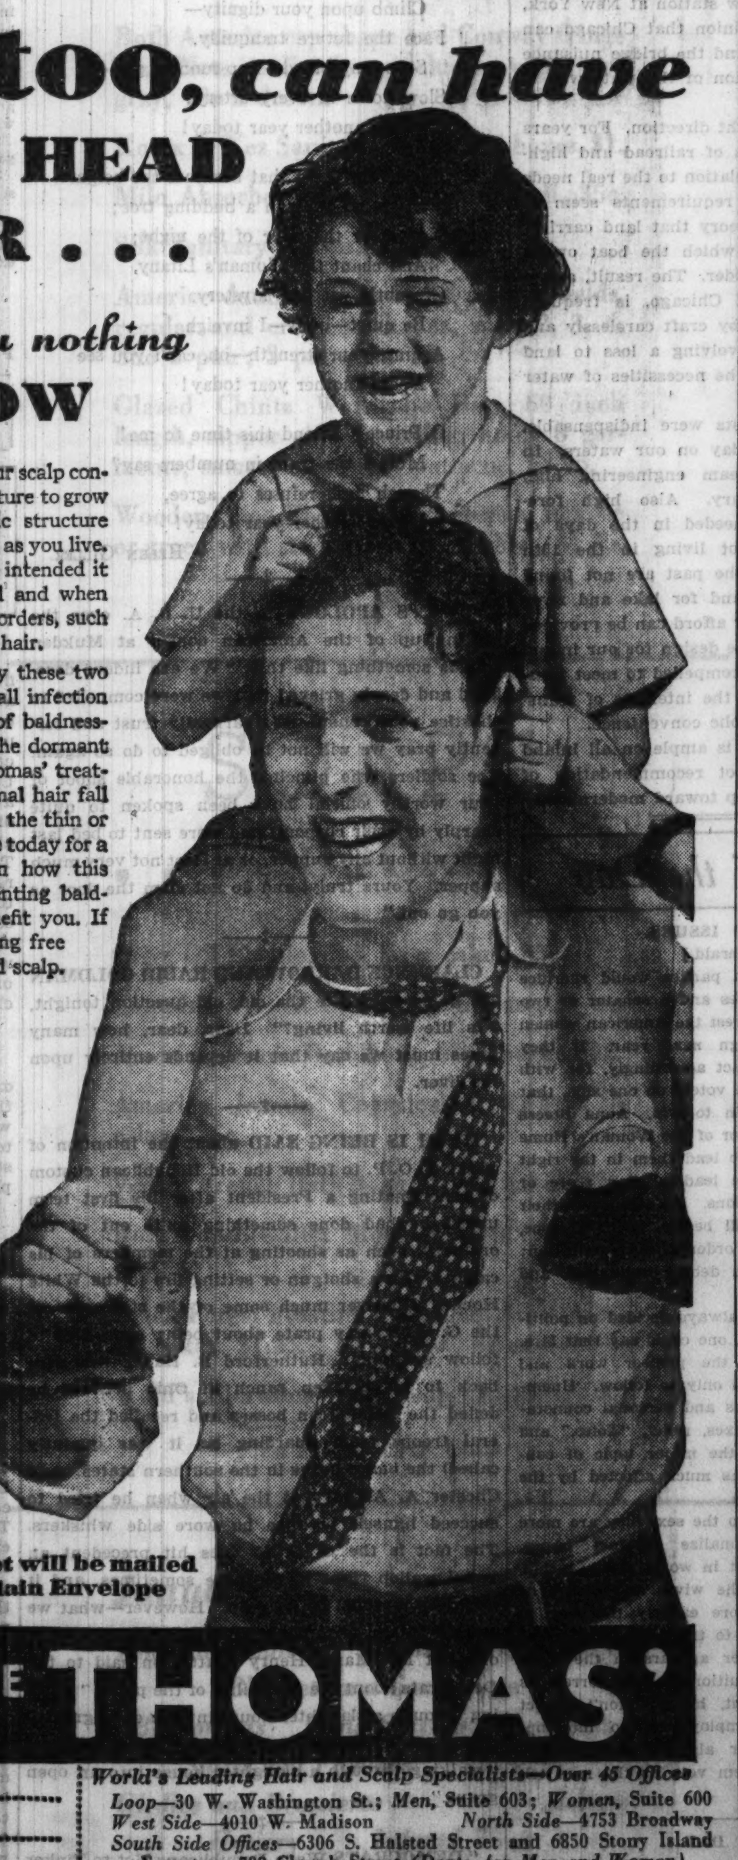
and it costs you nothing to find out HOW



WHEN you were a child your scalp contained the necessary structure to grow 121,630 hairs. This same organic structure remains alive in your scalp as long as you live. It is ready to function as Nature intended it should, when properly stimulated and when relieved of the burden of scalp disorders, such as dandruff, itching scalp or falling hair.

Thomas' treatment does exactly these two things: (1) Cleanses the scalp of all infection and leaves it antiseptically free of baldness-producing germs; (2) stimulates the dormant sources of hair growth. Thus, Thomas' treatment ends dandruff, stops abnormal hair fall and permits hair to grow again on the thin or bald spots. Call at a Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination and learn how this sound, dignified method of preventing baldness and re-growing hair can benefit you. A Scientific Achievement

Dr. De Kama's Creme Hormonique

—is distributed in Chicago exclusively by Mandel's. This is an entirely different preparation in which hormones, the active organisms which determine age, have been embodied. Dr. De Kama, having found that lack of hormones means lined and aging skin, has perfected a creme containing the youth-giving properties which give new life to the skin.

Dr. De Kama Has Personally Instructed Our Salespeople

—In the proper use of this new creme. They will be glad to advise you according to the type of your skin.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

IF GOVERNMENT IS TO SURVIVE.

At Mayor Cermak's urgence the city council has ordered wage cuts in the municipal employés' pay rolls ranging from 20 to 27 per cent. The estimated saving in the budget is $11,000,000 for the year. The reduction applies to the mayor and aldermen, as well as to the police, firemen, clerks, and workmen. The alternative was the dismissal of 2,000 city employés, and the mayor favored the plan which would cut costs without totally depriving so many persons of earning power. The loss is spread over the entire municipal establishment.

The cuts are heavy and the procedure is unusual in political action. Credit is due the political system of the city government for accepting the facts and submitting to them. There isn't anything else to do. Under Mr. Cermak the municipal corporation is setting an example for the other tax levying bodies. They may try to avoid or dodge the necessity, but it will master them.

There is no money. Cook county has no tax rolls. There are no assessments. No collections can be made. Tax bills are not valid. Taxpayers in other counties will presently receive their bills for 1931 taxes. The Cook county bills for 1930 have not been sent out. The assessments for 1928 and 1929 have been declared fraudulent. Bonds cannot be sold. There is no money in sight.

Nothing like this situation has ever prevailed before within any one's memory. The entire revenue system of a great American political unit has gone completely to smash, leaving the consequences of amazing dissipation of public funds with nothing coming in for the current expenses of government.

Cook county, with its many administrative bodies, has been separated from its taxes. The city, the county, and the other corporations are living on air. Aside from incidental revenue Chicago has no source of money available. The taxpayer has ceased to contribute to government. The tax system has ceased to operate and no one knows when it can be put in motion again. Even if it were working it could not correct the situation in which the scandalous political action of years past has placed the city and the other public corporations.

A returning flow of taxes will be ineffectual unless the example set by the mayor and council in cutting costs is followed by every other political body. The tax eater has had his day. Today has the consequences of his crimes.

It is impossible to overstate the seriousness of the conditions. There cannot be any political evasion of it. Chicago in some ways is in as precarious a situation now as it was after the fire.

What applies to Chicago applies elsewhere. Washington will find it true of federal government. Although federal revenue has an operating machine, it faces exhausted taxation. The federal government will find that it also is at the end of the road. It must stop the dissipation of public funds. The alternative is ruin.

THE TRAP SHOT IN WAR.

The news that the army has developed an automatic rifle for use against low flying aircraft is welcome even though ten or fifteen years late. Hitherto the notion has prevailed that the weapon to be used against an airplane engaged in machine gunning troops upon the ground is another machine gun.

Experience in the last war should have made it clear that the machine gun on the ground was ill adapted to the purpose in hand. For one thing, the vibration of the gun makes precision of aim impossible. A more important objection results from the fact that the gun must be mounted and swung both horizontally and vertically toward the moving target. The changes of direction are extremely rapid within the zone of effective machine gun fire. The gunner who is trying to hit a plane which is diving toward a trench and then speeding away only a few hundred feet above ground is obliged to dance around his tripod and fire his weapon as he goes. In spite of these disadvantages some few planes were brought down in this fashion in the European war, but most of them escaped. The odds are all against the men on land and in favor of the men in the air.

The automatic rifle at the shoulder of a trained trap shot will be far more effective. Perhaps he will miss the plane diving toward him, but his chances of hitting the plane in a vital spot when it has passed over are considerably better than even. The rifleman will then have the shot that all duck hunters know is the easiest: the shot at the bird flying directly away from the gun. The assignment of a couple of good trap shots armed with automatic rifles to each company would make "strafing" an extremely hazardous operation.

HOMICIDES IN THE CITIES.

Statistics of crimes of violence are always of interest to Chicagoans who resent the unjust reputation their city has been given. We find in them also a certain grim satisfaction, since they invariably show that Chicago has no such evil preëminence in murder as the flamboyant fame of some of her criminals has been responsible for ascribing to her. None of us is satisfied with her record and nowhere among American cities is there a more determined effort to correct conditions. But the impression enterprisingly spread that Chicago ranks first among American communities for criminal violence is not supported by the record.

This is made known again through a report by Prof. Barnhart of Birmingham Southern college to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, whose figures show in a tabulation of 174 cities that 39 have more homicides than Chicago. We should prefer 173, but, considering the makeup of a great city's population and the difficulties it cannot in such a country as ours escape, the record does not justify Chicago's advertised ill repute or give cause for despair. It should be noted also, as Municipal Librarian Rex points out, that Dr. Barnhart's tabulation covers homicides and that according to Mr. Rex's records Chicago's murder rate is 10.4 to the thousand, and not 14.4 as in Dr. Barnhart's report.

Dr. Barnhart in discussing the high homicide rate among colored people ascribes it to illiteracy. We think this conclusion is dubious as it stands. There is no doubt that illiteracy exposes the Negro to influences from which a proper education would give him some protection and keeps him in social conditions which offer him little outlet and many temptations. Literacy may be his chief need, yet there are many peoples who are illiterate and, in the absence of other conditions for which illiteracy is not responsible, have no such inclination to violence as the records of the colored population in the United States reveal. We have a tendency to exaggerate the function of book learning, of the ability to read and write, or at least to overlook or underestimate other factors in character making. It would be interesting to know what the murder rate was under slavery. Probably it was high, but was it as high as under the conditions which freedom has brought?

Another quite different speculation is suggested by the fact that Kansas City in Kansas has, according to Mr. Rex, a murder rate of 26.66 killings per hundred thousand, while Kansas City in Missouri, next door, has a rate of 17.9. Dr. Barnhart's figure for the latter city, which is for homicides, puts the latter city's rate at 22.7. He does not give that of the Kansas city in the figures we have seen. The considerable difference between the Missouri and Kansas cities, cheek by jowl as they are, suggests a further inquiry. How is it that a state so devoted to all the moralities as Kansas, so chronically indignant at the evildoing of other communities, and so determined that all the authority of the nation shall be concentrated upon their abolition, finds itself unable to suppress such deplorable conditions in its own pious household? Really, a murder rate of 26.66, as compared to 10.4 in sinful Chicago, offers a hint which ought to pierce even the armored self-righteousness of Kansas.

BRIDGES AND WATERWAYS.

The federal engineer for Chicago, Col. Weeks, before departing for his new station at New York, expressed the unofficial opinion that Chicago can dispense with lift bridges and the bridge nuisance when the Calumet connection of the waterway is completed.

The hint heads in the right direction. For years the clearance requirements of railroad and highway bridges have had no relation to the real needs of water carriers. These requirements seem to have been based on the theory that land carriers and traffic had no rights which the boat owner or boat designer need consider. The result, as we see daily in the heart of Chicago, is frequent interruption of movement by craft carelessly and unnecessarily equipped, involving a loss to land transport not justified by the necessities of water transport.

In the days of sail masts were indispensable. They serve no purpose today on our waters. In the days of primitive steam engineering high smokestacks were necessary. Also high forecastles and sterns were needed in the days of Columbus, but we are not living in the 15th century. These relics of the past are not found on the best ocean boats, and for lake and river craft any needed space they afford can be provided in other dimensions. Marine design for our inland water transport should be compelled to meet present conditions and respect the interests of transport and of the general public convenience.

A sixteen foot clearance is ample on all inland waterways, yet the 25 foot recommendation of Col. Weeks is a modest step toward modernism.

WOMEN AND ISSUES.

[Boston Herald.]

The leaders of both great parties would sacrifice a half a dozen representatives and a senator or two to know what issue will interest the American women in the presidential campaign next year. If they could find out, they would act accordingly, for with the great majority of women voters on one side, that side would be pretty certain to win. Anna Steese Richardson, the political editor of the Woman's Home Companion, has attempted to lead them in the right direction by questioning the leaders of a score or more of women's organizations. According to their responses, unemployment will be the primary issue, with these following in the order of their selection: World peace, tariffs, foreign debts, prohibition, and child health.

If national elections were always decided on political, or even economic, issues, one could say that Mrs. Richardson had completed the pioneer work and that the party chieftains had only to follow. Unemployment, with all its serious and personal connotations—business conditions, taxes, relief, "doles," and so on—will undoubtedly be the major topic of controversy. Women are just as much affected by the present economic ills as men.

But, in all due reverence to the sex, they are more prone than men to personalize abstract issues. Despite their leaders' interest in world peace, tariffs, and such salient subjects, the wives and sisters at home will discuss much more eagerly the way in which one candidate is said to treat his family, and the way in which the other appears in the news reels. Their well known intuition may be correct as the average male's judgment, but we don't expect even the great issue, unemployment, to interrupt many bridge parties. After all, as you probably have been told, most of them vote as the men tell them to!

BARGAIN DAY.

"Little boy, how old is your mother?"

"Aw, she was 42, but she's marked down to 27."
—Northwestern Purple Parrot.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ARE YOU G. WASHINGTON CONSCIOUS? If not, the sooner you get that way the more money you'll save the government, which is now $1,385,449,487 in the red and going deeper. Sol Bloom, the director of the George Washington bicentennial commission, wanted $427,000 to make us G. Washington conscious, but the house appropriation committee has recommended that be cut to $250,000. A good many of us have had a vague idea that we knew who George Washington was already, but apparently the government thinks we never heard of him. So tons of literature, clip sheets, hand outs, pictures, chromos, busts, statuettes, and circulars, all calling attention to Mr. Washington, are going out to the folks back home, in the hopes of making you G. Washington conscious. Also many beautiful pictures of George, looking much like Mr. Raskob and suspected by some of being a low Democratic trick, are extensively circulated for use on letters, but you have to pay two cents apiece for these things.

This country is not only becoming more paternalistic every minute but more maternalistic. There is now, according to the bureau of home economics at Washington, an Aunt Sammy as well as an Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam is trying to make you George Washington conscious, but dear old Aunt Sammy tells you how to make cream pie, kill cockroaches, take stains out of the tablecloth, and make a romper suit for Junior. Between Uncle Sam and Aunt Sammy together we're just being told about everything.

Yes, with a deficit of $1,385,449,487 our good old Uncle Sam and Aunt Sammy tell us, at the cost of millions and millions more dollars that we patient taxpayers have to pay, what fork to use for the fish course, how to drive a nail, how to make red flannel pants for the doggie to wear when there's snow on the ground, how to swat at a fly with a fly swatter, to wash the baby (no matter whether you've got a baby or not), how to roast a turkey (even if you haven't seen a turkey for so long you forget what it looks like), how to boil an egg, how to roast hippopotamus steak, how to play the saxophone, how to play blind-man's-buff, how many are 2 and 2, why a chicken crosses the road, why cream sours when it thunders, how to cure warts, and everything except how to get hold of some ready cash. On that somewhat important subject both Uncle Sam and Aunt Sammy are strangely silent.

JANUARY 3, 1932.

"Black, my dear—or black with white,"
The salesgirl whispered cunningly—
And though sixteens are not too tight,
I must eschew that finery
For line and drape of modesty.
Be still, oh Heart—be still, I pray—
You must not beat so youthfully!
I pass another year today!

Forget the giggle that seemed right
At twenty or at twenty-three.
Weed out the "Sure!" retort with "Quite!"
Climb upon your dignity—
Face the future tranquilly.
Stop—my blood—stop running gay—
Slow down in every artery!
I pass another year today!

Put off the scent that breathes the height
Of spring beneath a budding tree;
Now wear the odor of the night;
And chant the Woman's Litany
Of subtle wit and mystery.
Be quiet—body—I inveigh
Against your strength—oh, can't you see
I pass another year today!

O Prince! Attend this time to me!
Must I the truth in numbers say?
Though flesh refuses to agree,
I pass another year today!

JAPAN'S APOLOGY to the U. S. A. over the beating up of the American consul at Mukden sounds something like this: "We are indeed desolated and deeply grieved that we were compelled to chastise your consul. We earnestly trust and fervently pray we will not be obliged to do so again. The soldiers who punched the honorable snoot of your worthy official have been spoken to quite sharply by their corporal and were sent to bed last night without any supper, or at least not very much supper. Yours truly, and do not slam the door as you go out."

MUCH IS BEING SAID about the intention of of the G. O. P. to follow the old Republican custom of renominating a President after his first term unless he had done something quite out of the ordinary, such as shooting at the members of his cabinet with a shotgun or setting fire to the White House. However much some of the statesmen of the G. O. P. may prate about being compelled to follow sentiment, Rutherford B. Hayes was sent back to his chicken ranch in Ohio because he defied the Republican bosses and recalled the federal troops from guarding (as it was quaintly called) the ballot boxes in the southern states. And Chester A. Arthur got the air when he tried to succeed himself because he wore side whiskers. The fact is the G. O. P. does hit precedent an awful wallop right in the nose sometimes, and it might be it would do it again. However—what we started to say is that the situation is reminiscent of what Mr. Marse Henry Watterson said to the Democrats about the possibility of the party "walking through a slaughter house into an open grave." The G. O. P. should ponder that most carefully—"walking through a slaughter house into an open grave."

MOLES AND MOLES.

A GOOD many people worry unnecessarily about the large brownish or blackish molelike spots that so frequently appear on the skin in middle life and a little beyond. These masses are generally rather numerous. They are found especially on the back, though they may appear anywhere. They differ from the moth or liver spots which appear in people of about the same age. In liver spots there is nothing but discoloration, the skin not being thickened, elevated, or changed except as to color.

In the condition now in mind the skin is thickened, stiffer, and elevated and the color is generally darker than in liver spots. The appearance of what we are discussing is about that of a mole. In fact, Dr. J. A. Hookey, who writes about them, compares them with belated moles, and some doctors think they are nothing but moles coming about half a century behind schedule. Most of the on-time moles are harmless enough, so long as they are left alone, though there is at least one variety of them that is far more dangerous than the others.

On the other hand, this far behind schedule mole is quite harmless. The danger that cancer will develop in one of the brown spots is no greater than that of its development elsewhere in the body.

They are sometimes very numerous, and some object to them because they are disfiguring or not esthetic. However, since they rarely arrive until after middle life, and since they seem to prefer skin below the collar line, complaints of beauty marred are infrequent. Occasionally one appears on the face and then objection is more liable to be filed—and with more basis.

Dr. Hookey has made a close study of these growths, especially comparing them with the horny growths that develop on the skin of elderly people. These growths are prone to appear in people of a still older age group. They are not much in evidence in people under 60 and they prefer people of 80 and beyond. The element of exposure is a factor.

If the skin is habitually exposed to bright sunlight, strong winds, or extreme dryness, they appear several years earlier than otherwise. Unlike the brown-black-delayed moles of older people, these horns develop by preference on hands, face, ears, and neck. They are not cancerous but a form of cancer often develops out of them. So long as such a horn is dry and the skin around it is not inflamed, or does not ooze or ulcerate, it is reasonably harmless.

But should it take any of the above mentioned suspicious qualities it should be treated by rays or radium without delay. Cancers developing from these skin horns of the old should never cause death.

REACH A COMPROMISE.

A. writes: I just read your article about white spots on the nails. You say it is all because of manicuring, fever, infection, X-ray, etc.

I want to tell you respectfully that you are "all wet." I know, because I never had a manicure in my life and I have never had the other causes you mention. I am now 45 and remember having white spots on my nails since I was 7 years old.

The people who took care of me as a child considered these spots a sign of healthy nails. At school I know I was unhappy when there were no spots on my nails, as it was a sign of good luck, according to the children.

The actual reason for white spots is that the Lord allows the nails to detach themselves from the skin to allow air underneath. We would be too imbecile to do this ourselves, so the Lord attends to it. It is little airpouches that form to keep nails healthy, and these make the white spots. They are not so awfully ugly, so why worry, especially when it is universal?

It may be the work of cells underneath, as you say, but it is not a destroying work—far from it. If it is the work of cells, they act as blowers of air.

REPLY.

You may have had neither manicuring, fever, nor infection, and I doubt if nearly everybody has had one of the three. However, I am positive you cannot deny the "etc." I am glad to have you say you regard white nails as desirable. So many people take them seriously. You go too far in one direction and they in the other. A compromise agreement that they are neither desirable nor undesirable would be about right.

WHY SHOULD YOU FATTEN!

M. W. writes: I am a boy 16 years old, 5 feet 11½ inches tall, and weigh 142 pounds. I am in good health. Could you tell me some way to gain weight?

REPLY.

Why gain weight faster than you are doing? Your natural tendency from now on will be to fatten.

If you feel that you must gain weight, go to bed earlier and sleep longer.

DEFICIENCY JUDGMENT.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a farm and the party holding the mortgage is going to foreclose. I am afraid he will get a deficiency judgment. I have a life interest in a home in which I live, valued at about $4,000. I also have life interest in another small farm valued at about $10,000. I receive about $75 per month income from this farm. 1. What exemption am I allowed? 2. Can I be put out of my home? 3. Will I lose the income from my farm that I have a life interest in? 4. Can I file bankruptsy proceedings and protect my home and income?

L. E. J.

1. The personal exemption is $400 worth. You would have a homestead interest in the property in which you live and this interest will amount to $1,000 worth.
2. Yes, if the deficiency judgment exceeds your homestead interest.
3. Yes, in the sense that the creditor could subject this to payment of the decree.
4. No, in the sense that to take advantage of the bankruptcy law you would have to turn over to the creditors all assets in excess of your legal exemptions.

DIVORCE NECESSARY.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Have been away from my wife seven years, during which time I have taken care of my two children. During this time I have not heard, neither have my children, from my wife or their mother. Considering the years that have passed in the event I want to remarry [1] would a divorce be necessary, or [2] does this length of time automatically constitute same.

R. J. R.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO FREE TRANSPORTATION.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly advise me whom I have to see in regard to free transportation to my home country? I am a native German eight years in the U. S. A. and have been out of work for four months and unable to find a job.

C. P.

You are advised that in view of the writer's eight years' residence in the United States he does not qualify to be removed to his native country at government expense. An application for removal to the country of nativity may be considered only when the same is made by the alien within three years of his last arrival in the United States.

S. D. SMITH,
District Director of Immigration.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

This nation has had other serious financial depressions, as the following excerpts from The Tribune files reveal. Each of these periods of hard times has been followed by periods of great prosperity.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—The firm of Jay Cooke & Co. of New York and Philadelphia, which failed at the beginning of the panic, has made a proposition to transfer in trust for the creditors to E. H. Rollins, former United States revenue commissioner, all the properties, real and personal, of every member of the firm and of all the interest of their wives therein. The property is to be converted as rapidly as possible and turned over to creditors in installments of 5 per cent as fast as realized. It is said the First National bank of this city, which suspended, will pay 75 per cent of its indebtedness, irrespective of its claim on Jay Cooke & Co.

1894.

New York, May 12.—It is monotonous to repeat the same story about the stock market's deep dullness, with what speculation there is left confined to sugar and two or three other stocks. In all the markets for farm produce speculative interest lags.

1907.

New York, Oct. 24.—For a time today there was a violent panic on the stock exchange. Prior to the time that $25,000,000 of money raised by the Morgan syndicate was offered on the floors of the stock exchange there was a period of entire demoralization in the trading.

1914.

Jan. 5.—An appeal to the people of Chicago to give support to the United Charities is made by the officers and directors of that institution. The situation is characterized as an emergency and the appeal says the calls for help for the poor, sick, and unfortunate are growing beyond anything known in the history of charity work in Chicago.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 6, 1916.

LONDON.—Premier Asquith introduced in the commons the government's compulsory military service bill and opened one of the most bitter parliamentary battles in the history of Great Britain. Briefly the bill makes all males between the ages of 18 and 41, who were bachelors or widowers without children dependent on them, liable for military service. Ireland is excluded from the terms of the measure. The Irish leaders, such as John Redmond and John Dillon, are bitterly opposed to the bill and it is impossible to predict what its fate will be.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Despite the efforts of the administration to stave off criticism in congress of the President's foreign policy, the senate exploded with long suppressed views on the sacrifice of American lives through the Teutonic submarine warfare and of American trade through the British blockade. Additional evidence that the President is threatened with party repudiation was given when Democratic leaders joined Republicans in implied if not direct criticism of Mr. Wilson's "middle of the road" course. Senator Gore [Dem., Okla.] introduced bills prohibiting Americans from traveling on ships of belligerent nationality and prohibiting the clearance from American ports of American and neutral vessels carrying both passengers and war munitions.

WAR NEWS.—The Russian army continues heavy attacks on the Teuton lines in the province of Volhynia and the Austrian provinces of Galicia and Bukowina. Petrograd reports further considerable gains, especially in Volhynia where the Slavs are attempting to break the Teuton front and separate the German and Austro-Hungarian forces. Vienna continues to assert that all Russian attacks have been repulsed.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 6, 1902.

CHICAGO.—For ten hours the city of Evanston and the village of Wilmette were without water, and the only protection from fire was in the three chemical engines. Great collections of anchor ice had formed in the lake around the mouth of the intake supply pipe, and not a drop of water could be obtained in the town until a diver had been sent down and had chopped the accumulated ice away.

MANILA.—Maj. Albert L. Myer of the 11th infantry has captured fully equipped workshops, powder factories, four cannon, and a quantity of war material belonging to the insurgents at Ormoc on Leyte island. Roving bands of insurgents fleeing before the troops and constabulary are creating disurbances and destroying telegraph lines.

PRETORIA.—The Boers ambushed a party of the Scots Grays near Bronkhorstspruit, about 40 miles east of Pretoria on the railroad. The British casualties were six men killed and ten wounded.

TO LOWER SCHOOL COSTS.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—I offer the following as a practical, legal, and effective solution of the school problem of Chicago.

Teaching: Teachers to have a five day week and seven hour day, 8:30 to 12 and 12:30 to 4 p. m. Eliminate nonvital subjects from curriculum and confine children's recitation day to three and one-half hours; all studying to be done at school during part of the balance of time. Number of children in class: Forty instead of the present forty-eight. Number of classes to teacher, two. This allows departmental work and specialization of teaching in higher grades. Reduce school year by one month. Scale of wages to remain at present level. Discharge all married teachers and old teachers past 40 years of age as being less desirable associates of children of grammar school age than younger teachers. Total saving in number of teachers, 40 per cent. Total saving in teachers' salaries, 50 per cent.

Maintenance costs: Competitive, open bidding for heating, cleaning, and maintenance; to confine cost of maintaining public school building to as low, or lower, cost as private buildings of equal size and with as great efficiency as private buildings. Saving, 35 per cent.

Construction costs: Uniform methods of accounting by contractors; free, publicized and competitive bidding for all work. Cost to be confined to similar cost of private buildings of equal size and capacity. Saving, 35 per cent.

Politicians may fear the teacher vote, but there is the vote of hundreds of thousands of taxpayers and tax strikers that must be taken into consideration.

A TEACHER AND TAXPAYER.

THE GREEKS BEARING GIFTS.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The evening class in Greek at University college [the downtown branch of the University of Chicago], 18 South Michigan avenue, Dearborn 3674, in convention solemnly assembled, gives thanks to the press for its coöperation in promoting the city's first evening course in Greek. The class held its first meeting Monday evening and will hold its second Thursday evening. New students may register until 6 p. m. Thursday. Hallelujah!

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Once again your brilliant correspondent, Mr. William Shirer, does a great favor to the people of India by contributing for your highly esteemed paper a series of three very illuminating articles concerning the ruthless despotism of the Indian princes, aided by "one of the most democratic nations of the world," and the helpless condition of their subjects to free themselves from the shackles of slavery. These articles show that Mr. Shirer left no stone unturned in securing the inside dope to expose the tragic situation present in the Indian states, its chief causes and its demoralizing effects.

Considering Mr. Shirer's ability and impartiality as a news writer, may I suggest that you appoint him again as your war correspondent for reliable news dispatches from the bloodless battlefields of Mother India?

A PLAN FOR GOOD FELLOWS.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—As one of your coworkers in a small way, in the Good Fellows club this year, I thank you for imbuing me with the spirit to join and for the family whose name you furnished me. It was a great privilege and Christmas meant much more to me this year in consequence. Heretofore I had always felt that joining with you was hardly a fair proposition. This year I felt that I could dig up $10 if this would not be unfair to some family who might otherwise be selected by some one with more money available, and one of your very efficient lady advisers assured me that I could do a lot of good even with this small amount, and gave me valuable advice as to dispensing it.

I called on the selected family, man, wife and two little boys, a week before Christmas, and got my first thrill at the realization I could be of real help even in a small way. The thrill so permeated me that before I finished and delivered my purchases Christmas eve I had spent the $10 I felt was all I could spare, and $11 more besides. I am not yet certain just how I worked it, but can assure you dividends were declared on this little investment in human kindness bonds just as soon as I delivered the purchases and they were opened while I was there. It will be a long time before I forget the effect on the mother [only 20 years old] and the 2½ and 4 year old boys. It was a tossup as to who got the biggest kick out of it, the family or myself. It was a grand and glorious feeling, I can tell you.

I already want to do my little bit another year, and have a little plan that, it strikes me, might be used by others in moderate circumstances who still have a desire to dispense a little cheer outside their own immediate family. Today I am opening a Christmas savings account in one of the banks, and by depositing 50 cents per week there will be $25 available next Christmas for THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows activity. Possibly this has been suggested before, but if not why don't you advocate people with small means putting aside 50 cents per week in this manner? Having the Christmas savings account about insures their not forgetting the 50 cents each week, and there should be many hundreds of people who can spare this little amount weekly. Then when Christmas rolls around again there is $25 available in a lump sum, and I know from my own experience that this can be spread mighty effectively for food, clothing, and toys for a family of four, containing two children.

GOOD FELLOW.

HARD WORDS.

Libertyville, Ia., Dec. 28.—Because of your prejudiced and scofflaw attitude toward the prohibitory amendment, you are making yourself an accomplice to every crime committed in its name. The subtle way in which you discourage law enforcement is in itself a crime and makes you directly liable for much lawlessness. A writer who shows himself to be so unbalanced on one subject cannot expect to have much influence in other lines.

FUGITIVE WRITES BOOK ON GEORGIA CHAIN GANG LIFE

Former Chicagoan Tells of Escapes.

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A dramatic story of his Georgia chain gang experiences, his two escapes, his "betrayal" by a woman, he said he was forced to marry and the fears of recapture that still dog him are told in a book attributed to Robert E. Burns, former Chicago magazine editor.

Burns has been hunted by police throughout the country as a fugitive from justice. His book is titled, "I Am a Fugitive from Georgia," and will be published Jan. 19 by the Vanguard Press, which today released an abstract of it.

"He has exposed the horrors of life in the Georgia chain gang," the publishers said, "in the hope his revelations will result in ameliorating conditions in the penal camps, from which he made his two startling exits."

Much of the story has appeared on the front pages of newspapers. Burns discloses, however, that the "beautiful woman" he loved and hoped to join after his last escape has vanished and he has lost all trace of her.

Escapes, Retaken, Escapes.

Burns, after serving overseas, took part in a $4 grocery store robbery about ten years ago, and was sentenced to the chain gang for a six to ten year term. He escaped, only to be discovered after he had established himself as a reputable citizen in Chicago.

Sixteen months ago today he escaped the second time. Today the Georgia prison commission announced he had been "spotted" in an eastern state and may be arrested and returned to serve out the chain gang sentence.

In telling of his experiences in Georgia, Burns writes that every night after long hours in the prison quarry, with chains attached to their legs, prisoners who had not labored diligently enough were singled out for punishment.

He says they were undressed, forced to lie face downwards, tied by guards so they could not move, and then lashed with leather straps six feet long, three inches wide and a quarter of an inch thick.

Tires of Floggings.

"With a terrific crash the heavy strap came down with all the strength of the wielder behind it," the book will say. "The convict let out a yell, pleaded for mercy, promised to work, promised anything, but the strap rose and again and again descended with a sickening crash, the force of which temporarily shut off the pleadings of the convict.

"And so it went. Ten licks and the convict, half fainting or unconscious, was stood up on his feet and the guards carried or led him to his sleeping quarters.

"The men who were whipped were given no medicine for their wounds."

Then he describes how the chains were again attached to the ankles of the punished men, lights were put out and for hours the "agonized groans" kept the other prisoners awake.

Flees to Chicago.

He tells how his first escape was brought about with the aid of a Negro "who could hit a pin on the head with his eyes closed" with a 12 pound sledge hammer the convicts were given for their stone crushing. At the risk of having his foot crushed, he persuaded the fellow prisoner to bend the shackle around his leg with blows of the hammer. Then he slipped his foot out of the band of metal and fled.

He made his way to Chicago, became the "unwilling bridegroom" of a woman who knew of his past, joined numerous clubs, was appointed editor of a business magazine and "gradually grew to be a prominent citizen of Chicago."

While divorce proceedings were pending and Burns was planning to marry Lillian Salo, "a beautiful young woman," his wife gave officials information which led to his arrest and his return to prison.

His second escape, he writes, was made with the coöperation of a motorist he bribed to drive him away under a hail of bullets.

SIX TO BE TRIED IN CAPITAL FOR SELLING 'INDECENT' MAGAZINES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Six magazine venders are to be tried in police court next Tuesday on a charge of selling "indecent" publications as test cases in a citywide drive which resulted in the arrests of 131 persons.

The courtroom was crowded today but it cleared after the arraignment of the six and the release of the others. Prominent in the gathering were policemen carrying large bundles of the three publications which Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, thinks should be banned.

The charges filed against the six said they offered for sale publications containing obscene and indecent matter.

Defense attorneys announced their intention of filing a motion attacking the legality of the charges. These arguments will be heard Saturday.

The magazines which the district attorney barred from sale in Washington are Ballyhoo, Slapstick, and Hooey. All are monthlies.

TOKIO HANDS NEW ULTIMATUM TO MARSHAL CHANG

Demands He Get Farther Away from Manchuria.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIENTSIN, Jan. 5.—Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, deposed governor of Manchuria, who has followed the league of nations' advice not to resist the Japanese army as a means of avoiding a Sino-Japanese war, and who is now being criticized by Nanking authorities for the loss of Manchuria, today received an unofficial Japanese ultimatum warning him to retire further into north China, or else Japan will take further strong action.

What this action is likely to be was not made known, but according to Chinese newspapers here Japan is planning to strengthen her force at Shanhaikwan, where the Great Wall separating Manchuria and China proper reaches the sea, and expel Marshal Chang's 3,000 troops from that city. In addition Japan is planning, it is said, to occupy the Chinese municipality of Tientsin and to expel the 20,000 to 30,000 Chinese troops formerly at Chinchow, which are now stationed in the Lwanchow district on the Peiping-Mukden railway between Tientsin and Shanhaikwan.

Japanese Troops Demonstrate.

Japanese troops in Tientsin, numbering 2,400, have in the past few days been holding demonstrations, consisting of marching through the densely populated Chinese city wearing full war equipment.

Lieut. Gen. Kashii, commander of the Japanese forces, today notified the Chinese authorities of his intention to hold a grand military review of all Japanese forces on Jan. 8. This is thought to be the date of expiration of the ultimatum served today demanding Marshal Chang's retirement.

Conditions at Tientsin are outwardly calm, but there is widespread uneasiness among the Chinese, who expect further local complications in the Sino-Japanese situation as well as in the domestic political crisis.

Speculate on Successor.

Whether Marshal Chang will retire and who is likely to succeed him have become absorbing subjects of speculation in Chinese and foreign circles because of the presence in northern Chihli province of many thousands of troops belonging to former Manchurian garrisons. These troops are now without a home base and are surrounded by ambitious leaders of other factions, anxious to occupy this territory.

The Sino-British owned Peiping-Mukden railway, which is now controlled over practically half its length by the Japanese military, is still closed to through traffic between Tientsin and Mukden. Trains are being run only between Tientsin and Shanhaikwan.

British officials connected with the railway have sent representatives to Shanhaikwan to confer with Japanese staff officers, hoping to get the line reopened, but the Tientsin station agent said no progress had been made and there is little hope of reopening the line at present.

Travelers Are Rerouted.

Meantime, travelers are being forced to proceed to Manchuria on Japanese steamers to Dairen, from where they proceed north over the South Manchuria railway line.

One result of the closing of the Peiping-Mukden railway is that no mail is being sent to Manchuria from China proper, causing congestion in the Tientsin post office.

According to Chinese reports from Harbin, Chang Ching-hui, Harbin civil administrator, has finally accepted the Japanese request that he become civil governor of Heilungkiang province, it is reported, however, that Gen. Ma Chan-shan, defeated North Manchurian commander, who is now at Hailun, on the branch line connecting Harbin, is still following an uncertain attitude in regard to Japan's offer of the military governorship of the province under Chang Ching-hui.

MAJ. GEN. M'COY NAMED TO LEAGUE MANCHURIAN QUIZ

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The state department today informed the league of nations that the appointment of Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commander of the Fourth corps area, as a member of the league's commission of inquiry in Manchuria would be acceptable. Maj. Gen. McCoy was chairman of the electoral board in the American supervised presidential elections in Nicaragua in 1927 and 1928. He served in Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish-American war. During the world war he was a member of the general staff of the A. E. F. and in 1921 was chief of staff of the American military mission to Armenia. He was director general of the Red Cross and commander of the American relief mission to Japan after the earthquake of 1923.

GENEVA, Jan. 5.—The full list of five members of the league of nations' Manchurian inquiry commission was submitted by Aristide Briand, acting president of the council, to the Chinese and Japanese governments for approval today.

Besides Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy for the United States, the members are: Lord Lytton of Great Britain, Henri Claudel of France, Dr. Heinrich Schnee of Germany, and Count A. Aldovrandi of Italy.

China and Japan have the right to reject any name as persona non grata.

Anhalt, German State, Votes No Confidence in Cabinet

DESSAU, Germany, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The diet of the free state of Anhalt by a vote of 19 to 17 today adopted a Nationalist motion of no confidence in its government, which has been predominantly Social-Democratic since 1928. The vote illustrates the swing to the right that has been noted in many other parts of Germany for some time.

MRS. VIRGINIA H. GROSS.

EX-WIFE WINS IN SUIT BROUGHT BY CAPT. GROSS

She Gets a Verdict in French Court.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

GRENOBLE, France, Jan. 5.—A court here today rendered judgment against Capt. Christian Gross of Chicago, an attaché of the United States diplomatic service, in his suit for damages against his former wife, Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, and the Marquis de Zayas. His suit charges adultery.

The judge held that a divorce granted to the Grosses was valid in France and ante-dated the present charge of adultery. The court dismissed the charge and ordered Gross to pay all costs of litigation.

BATTLES IN COURTS HERE.

Capt. Christian Channing Gross and his wife, who were involved yesterday in litigation in Grenoble, France, have fought their marital battles in Chicago courts as well as in those of France and New York.

Early in September, Judge Joseph B. David handed down a decision that Anna Gross, youngest child of Mrs. Gross, was the daughter and one of the heirs of Capt. Gross. The diplomatic attaché had appealed to the court to decide the paternity of the little girl.

Granted Divorce in 1930.

It was asserted by Capt. Gross and his attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., that the intent was to make Anna an heir to a trust fund of about $1,000,000, which Capt. Gross had established from funds that came to him through his marriage to the daughter of the former governor of the Philippines. Capt. Gross declared he knew nothing of the existence of this child when he was granted a divorce in Chicago in 1930, although the child is now more than 3 years old.

Mrs. Gross has filed an appeal from Judge David's decision. It was explained that this was done for technical reasons and not to attack the legitimacy of Anna.

BRIAND ILL AGAIN; DOCTORS ORDER HIM TO STAY IN

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The foreign office said tonight that Aristide Briand is following a course of treatment which obliges him to keep to his apartment for several days.

The ministry denied reports that the foreign minister had suffered a stroke of paralysis, and pointed out that he was personally directing the affairs of his office.

This denial came after reports had been circulated in diplomatic circles to the effect that Briand was suffering from weakness of the heart.

Briand has not been in the best of health for some time and he was under a heavy strain during the recent deliberations of the league of nations council over which he presided while the Manchurian issue was under discussion. Last week his doctors ordered him to take a complete rest during the Christmas and New Year's holiday season. He is 69 years old.

IOWA FARMERS PLAN TO BUTCHER HOGS AT HOME

Revive Ancient Art to Reduce Surplus.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A return of the ancient art of home butchering, almost forgotten by a modern generation of farmers, is called for in the plans of a group of Iowans who yesterday were completing organization plans for a statewide "home butchering week" Jan. 25 to 30.

Fostered by meat experts of the state agricultural college at Ames, Ia., a meeting in Des Moines on Monday launched the campaign. Yesterday every county agent and live stock association official in the state was being urged to assist in organizing each county and community in the state.

In the face of an already oversupplied pork market, recent government reports indicated that farmers intended to increase by 19.7 per cent the number of pigs to be marketed in 1932. Iowa already supplies more than one-fourth of the nation's pork, and the state marketed more than 12 million hogs in 1931.

Hogs Cheapest in 35 Years.

"Hogs now are the cheapest in 35 years and retail prices have not come down in proportion to wholesale prices," said an announcement by the campaign committee. Those taking part include representatives of the Iowa department of agriculture, the state college, State Farm Bureau federation, Swine and Beef Producers' association and the press.

C. W. McDonald, college meat specialist, was quoted as pointing out material savings for both farmers and city consumers in doing their own butchering, or in hiring a farmer to cut up their meat for them. Increased consumption will benefit the entire industry, he said.

"Although pork is the most popular meat for the average farmer, lamb and beef also may be butchered to advantage for cold weather fresh meat," he added. "The balance may be canned and made into corned or dried beef. Lambs may be butchered during the entire year."

Plan Butchering Bees.

Through local committees, those in charge of the campaign will organize butchering bees in local communities and distribute literature on methods of cutting, with recipes for curing the meat.

At Chicago's stockyards yesterday, officials of packing plants and commission houses were inclined to encourage the movement, while discounting any possible effect on the market. Charles Wilson, president of the Chi-Live Stock exchange, a native of Iowa, said that any move to hold down overproduction was welcomed by the industry.

JUDGE RELEASES O'DONNELL AID IN ROBBERY CASE

Joseph Cainsky, bodyguard for Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, south side gang leader, was freed in the Felony court yesterday by Judge James F. Fardy for want of prosecution on a charge of robbery. The case had been continued five times.

The continuances had been granted, Assistant State's Attorney Karl Swanberg told Judge Fardy, because the complaining witnesses did not appear in court. The witnesses were absent again yesterday.

Cainsky was arrested on Oct. 5 and identified as one of the bandits who held up the Bon Vivant café at 4367 Lake Park avenue, on Aug. 16. After his arrest, Judge George Fred Rush in the Criminal court freed Cainsky on a writ of habeas corpus, which occasioned protests from the police department. Judge Rush in turn criticized the police department for delaying their arrival in his court to fight the writ.

CHICAGO-FLORIDA TRAIN DERAILED; ROCK IN SWITCH

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Five cars of the Seminole, the Illinois Central crack Chicago-Jacksonville passenger train, were derailed at McComb switch, 28 miles south of here, early tonight. Railroad operatives blamed a rock in a switch.

No injuries were reported and railroad officials said the damage was slight.

Japanese Give New Version.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Jan. 5.—A spirit of uneasiness and concern is evident in high Japanese circles here over the possible American reaction to the beating administered by Japanese sentries and an interpreter to Culver B. Chamberlain of the American consular service.

A semi-official résumé of the case given out tonight as a compilation of testimony of the three Japanese guilty of the assault shows several marked changes from yesterday's version. The statement is prefaced to the effect that when the sentries were ordered on guard duty Jan. 3 they were instructed to search automobiles and individuals who "appeared suspicious."

It is now said in the Japanese version that neither soldier struck Chamberlain, but that Chamberlain seized the arms of the interpreter and attempted to pull him into his automobile.

Charge He Reached for Gun.

It is now charged by the soldiers' testimony that Chamberlain's right hand gestured toward his hip pocket and they thought he was reaching for a revolver, whereupon one soldier held Chamberlain while the interpreter beat his face.

Readiness is expressed "to conduct all possible investigations." Meanwhile, the offending soldiers have not been imprisoned but are merely confined to barracks. No move has been made so far to punish the interpreter, but his dismissal is expected. The Japanese yesterday claimed he had been dismissed.

Serious discrepancies between Chamberlain's and the soldiers' versions are admitted by the Japanese, but, they say, "if any fault is proved on the part of the Japanese, proper steps will be taken."

SETTLE CONTEST OF COBE'S WILL OUT OF COURT

Belfast, Me., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The heirs of Ira M. Cobe, formerly of Chicago, who died last summer at his home at Northport, today settled out of court the contested distribution of the estate estimated at $1,300,000. The nature of the settlement was not revealed.

The contestants were George E. Cobe of Brookline, Mass., a brother of the testator; Harry Cobe of Chelsea, Mass., a nephew, and Mrs. Madelon Cobe Koch of Manchester, N. H., and Mrs. Dorothy Franck Levensen of Forest Hills, N. Y., nieces.

The will created trust funds of $100,000 each for George Cobe and his wife, Mrs. Ansel M. Lothrop of Belfast, Cobe's ward, and Mrs. Ruth Hossman of Chicago, a niece.

The residuary estate, after payment of a score of other bequests, was to have been held in trust for Mrs. Lothrop and Mrs. Hossman during their lives.

RUM SHIP BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE AS POLICE WATCH

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The 45 foot rum runner Patricia, burned to the water's edge off Arverne, L. I., tonight while police reserves who had been sent to guard against her landing her cargo and a crowd of about 2,000 persons, watched from the shore.

The cause of the fire could not be ascertained, though it was reported the craft had been set afire by shells from coast guard patrol boat 229 after the three members of her crew had been taken aboard. The patrol boat and a quantity of liquor seized as evidence. Heretofore, wherever seizures of this kind have been made the coast vessels have usually towed their prizes to shore and they have been sold later at public auction.

Eggs Pay Salaries of Arkansas Town Teachers

St. Joe, Ark., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The pupils who used to take apples to school to please their teachers now are taking them eggs to pay their salaries. When the school here faced closing, the children volunteered to do without eggs at their meals and give them to the school in lieu of tuition in an effort to keep the institution open.

By Gen. Victor Yankhontoff.

[Author of "Russia and the Soviet Union in the Far East" (Coward-McCann).]

If at this time the number of books about Russia is increasing, one is justified in concluding that the interest in that country, or rather in the tremendous experiment it has been carrying on for more than fourteen years, is paramount.

GEN. VICTOR YANKHONTOFF.

There is a constant flow of books, magazine articles, and newspaper material supplied by special correspondents and casual observers, on all phases of Russian life. The problem today is "how to select the reliable information.

There always are books which are reliable and those which are not. But in the case of books on soviet Russia the reader is faced with an abnormally high percentage of the latter. The explanation is obvious. Very few people are or can afford to be impartial when discussing Russia of today. Instead of a calm and rational approach, the majority of people indulge in emotional denunciation or not less emotional exaltation.

There are enough reliable books about Russia. If they are properly selected [on consideration of integrity and qualifications of their authors] and the facts found in them are scrupulously checked, one hardly can fail to find the real situation.

For historical background there are such splendid works to rely upon as the "History of Russia," by Klyuchevsky [Dutton], the latest volume of which is just published, and "History of Russia," by Prof. M. N. Pokrovsky [International]. The beginnings of the present régime of Russia can be traced in a very illuminating work by Tarassov-Rodionov, "February, 1917" [Covici-Friede].

The "intervention" in Siberia is dramatically described by a not less competent man than the commander of the American forces there, Gen. W. Graves himself, in "America's Siberian Adventure" [Cape Smith], with a foreword by Newton Baker, ex-secretary of war.

Comprensive descriptions of modern Russia are found in "Russia, Today and Yesterday," by Dr. E. J. Dillon [Doubleday, Doran]. Dr. Dillon is a well known English journalist who spent almost 40 years in Russia under the czars, was secretary to the late Count Sergius Witte, and wrote a number of books on Russia; "Soviet Russia—a Living Record and a History," by W. H. Chamberlain, Moscow correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor [Little, Brown]; and "The Soviet Challenge to America," by Prof. George S. Counts of Columbia university [John Day].

The existing state of affairs in Russia seems to them all a transition to something else, but none of them appears to entertain any doubts about the stability of the present government and its ability to carry through the extremely difficult task of transforming the backward agricultural country, which was Russia of the czars, into a modern industrialized state, which is the dream of New Russia.

Those interested in specific fields may find good material in a diversified list. On economics there are two new volumes, one by Calvin Hoover, "The Economic Life of Soviet Russia" [Macmillan], and another by Emile Burns, "Russia's Productive System" [Dutton]. Among those about Russia's trade are such books as "The Red Trade Menace," by H. R. Knickerbocker [Dodd Mead] and the "Soviet Foreign Trade, Menace or Promise," by Budish and Shipman [Liveright].

Very interesting are the charts and diagrams compiled by Albert A. Johnson, published in Springfield, Mass., under the title "Progress in the Soviet Union." A very amusing little book and the "best seller" for this year, though not designed for foreigners and adults, is the "New Russia's Primer," by Ilin [Houghton Mifflin].

A number of interesting books, though not pretending to serve as references, but rather as entertainment and lighter reading, were also published this year. Among them, "The Soviet Conquers Wheat," by Anna Louise Strong [Holt]; "Red Bread," by Maurice Hindus [Cape-Smith]; "The Red Fog Lifts," by Albert Muldavin; "These Russians," by W. C. White [Scribners]; "The Challenge of Russia," by Sherwood Eddy [Farrar & Rinehart], and "Eyes on Russia," by Margaret Bourke-White [Simon & Schuster].

Finally one has to add a number of works by soviet officials, published in this country, for instance: "Red Villages. The Five Year Plan for Agriculture," by Yakovlev, commissar for agriculture; "The Five Year Plan of the Soviet Union. A Political Interpretation," by G. Grinko, commissar of finances; "Soviet Economic Development and American Business," by Saul Bron, former head of "Amtorg"; "The Success of the Five Year Plan," by V. Molotov, the present premier of soviet Russia.

All of those books, naturally, give the official point of view. "Economic Handbook of the Soviet Union," published this year by the American Russian Chamber of Commerce, gives all kinds of information necessary to every one attempting to know what is what in Russia.

No single authority, of course, should be taken without skepticism; no opinion should be accepted without critical scrutiny. But in the presence of a mass of good books no time should be lost in reading worthless prattle, gossips and misleading statements of those who are not qualified to make them because of insufficient knowledge, or of those who cannot be relied upon because of insufficient honesty.

One thing is undeniably clear: We all must know more about Russia and we can obtain the necessary material in abundance. Quoting Prof. John Dewey in his "Impressions of Soviet Russia," "The nation that a sixth of the world [i. e., Russia] can be permanently isolated and 'quarantined' is absurd enough, though the consequences of acting upon the absurdity are more likely to be tragic than humorous."

PADEREWSKI PREDICTS 'CANNED' MUSIC'S FALL IN NEXT 100 YEARS

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Bemoaning a diminishing appreciation of the individual artist but expressing belief he will "come back to popularity," Ignace Jan Paderewski arrived today on the liner Olympic for a four months' concert tour.

"There is so much canned stuff being offered to the public," he said, "that the individual musician has suffered greatly. The amount of unemployment among musicians is greater, in proportion to their number, than in any other occupation.

"The Spanish say there is no good nor evil that lasts a hundred years. I think the individual artist will sometime come back into popularity."

His return from a trip to Europe which started in May ended, the pianist recalled, just forty years after he arrived in the United States for his first tour. He is now 71.

The pianist said plans for his forthcoming tour are not yet complete, but that he expects to play at Carnegie hall here on Jan. 23. He brought with him several pieces which he will play for the first time, he said.

MUSICIAN'S WIFE, MOTHER OF THREE, RESUMES HER PAINTING

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Alice Riddle Kindler lives four lives in one. She is mother of three young children, her own housekeeper, wife of the conductor of a symphony orchestra, and an artist.

The artist life she began early, put aside after her marriage twelve years ago, and only recently resumed it.

Her husband is Hans Kindler, cellist, who last year became leader of the National Symphony orchestra at Washington.

"It was all so complicated, all such a struggle, taking on three more lives, but that struggle is what every artist needs," she said today as an exhibit of her paintings opened.

During the last ten years while Kindler was touring Europe and America filling concert engagements, Mrs. Kindler was busy raising Jan, 11 years old; Helen, 9, and Don, 6, in the little town of Senlis, just north of Paris.

"I didn't want to paint then; in fact, I never thought about painting until one day when I went to market," she said.

Mrs. Kindler took home a bouquet, fascinated by its riotous array of color. She painted it. She painted her children at the supper table. She painted the Moroccan soldiers who deserted their fine Arabian horses on Sunday to ride the painted horses on a visiting fair's merry-go-round.

Before her marriage she was well known as a painter in the east.

Drama Expert Sending Pupils to "East Lynne"

"I Wouldn't Miss It," He Says of Benefit.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

"I wouldn't miss it for anything." And feeling that way about "East Lynne," John Baird, professor of drama and director of the Repertory theater of Northwestern university, will be down in the first rows somewhere Thursday afternoon when Bryant's Showboat company presents the melodrama they revived and kept thriving for the last few years down along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

That afternoon the cast is putting on the show for the benefit of the Hungry School Children's fund of THE TRIBUNE. They've offered their entire services and every penny will go toward providing 7,000 free lunches for needy children in Chicago's public schools.

"Drama as portrayed by the Bryant Showboat company," Prof. Baird said yesterday, "is hilarious entertainment and I wouldn't miss this opportunity to see that favorite of others days, the melodramatic 'East Lynne.' I'm not only going to see it myself Thursday, but I'm sending my drama classes. I wouldn't miss it for anything."

There were a good many others, it was learned yesterday, who felt the same way about "East Lynne." For instance, principals in the schools have made arrangements for theater parties. So have sororities and parent-teacher associations.

Marie A. Martin, principal of Peck school, will attend the performance and bring a party of friends with her. Mary C. O'Connell, assistant to the principal at Manley school, and Charles E. Lang, principal at Kelwyn Park school, both are organizing parties to see the benefit performance of "East Lynne."

Mrs. William A. Decker, 3414 Elaine place, president of Nettelhorst School Parent-Teacher association, placed an order of eight one dollar tickets for her party. Lydia Jones, a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, and a drama student at Northwestern universitly, plans to attend with a number of her sorority sisters.

So when the curtain rolls up on the villain and the hero and the heroine Thursday afternoon down in front will be an audience bent on appreciating the individualities that set "East Lynne," as played by the Bryant's Showboat company, apart from the other melodramas of American folklore.

Ticket may still be procured at the box office of the Cort theater, the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and the lobby of Tribune Tower. The prices are 50 and 75 cents and $1.

A total of $180.85 in contributions arrived for THE TRIBUNE's Hungry School Children's fund yesterday, making a total of $30,841.76 received since the fund was started. Most of this, however, has been spent for free school lunches by Miss Frances Swain of the board of education, who administers the fund. The latest contributions are:

$50—R. J. Folonie.
$20—Mrs. W. J. Watson.
$15—Sauganash Woman's club.
$10—H. Tanner, G. B. Perstein, Cecilia B. Howe.
$6—Dr. Fay, Cooper Cole.
$5—R. T. Longan, Helen S. Mooney, A. M. O., Anonymous, William C. Mueller, Anonymous, Anonymous, Mrs. W. A. Chapman, Myra R. Smith.
$3—Lauretta Bosch.
$2.50—Edgar and Billy Guisberg.
$2—I. E. Stern, Anonymous.
$1.25—Girl Scout Troop 195.
$1—Robert Silverman, Two Friends, B. W. H., Ruth Knox.
10 cents—Anonymous.

Total	$ 180.85
Previously acknowledged	30,660.91
Grand total	$30,841.76

Contributions should be accompanied by the adjoining coupon and mailed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

Pope Confers Highest Honor on King and Italy's Crown Prince

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 5.—Pope Pius today conferred upon King Victor Emmanuel and Crown Prince Humbert the collar of the Supreme Order of Christ, founded in 1319 by Pope John XXII., the highest honor the holy see has to award. This act is considered to further seal the friendship between Roman pontiffs and the house of Savoy, which for 60 years, up until the Lateran treaty, disputed the possession of the city of Rome.

The honor was conveyed to the ruler by Papal Nuncio Borgoncini Duca at an audience in the Quirinal palace this morning. The honor will be conveyed to Prince Humbert at a formal audience at Naples, where he resides.

Since the Supreme Order of Christ was revived by Pope Pius IX. in 1877, it has been accorded only sixteen times, mostly to sovereigns and prominent personalities. Only three or four living persons possess the order today. Among those who wore it was Prince Bismarck for whom special dispensation was made in the rules requiring those invested to belong to the Catholic church.

The order was established by Pope John XXII. shortly after a papal act abolishing the Roman Order of Knights Templar in 1312.

The collar of the order is of gold with alternating decorations in emanel of the papal insignia and laurel. It bears a Latin cross in red enamel on which a white enameled cross is superimposed.

Under the Lateran treaty the holy see formally relinquished its claims to Rome and recognized the house of Savoy as ruling Italy with Rome as the capital. The pope's decision to confer the Vatican's highest honor on the king, however, is regarded as further confirmation to this act and so finally crowns the era of peace established by the Lateran treaty and concordat.

The fact that the decoration is to be conferred upon the crown prince is also regarded as highly significant, implying the pope's predilection for the monarchial system of government as compared with any other and for Prince Humbert as the royal successor.

For many years after 1870 when Rome was seized by Italian troops and the royal residence was established there, the pope referred to the kings of Italy only as "he who now holds Rome."

Heart Health Stamps' Sale Starts for 1932

Lives Saved by Previous Work, It's Said.

Pointing out the first decisive results of the annual campaigns in Chicago to reduce the toll of cardiac disorders, Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, executive secretary of the Chicago Heart association, said yesterday that 400 persons who had been educated in the care and prevention of heart disease, saved their lives in 1930.

Deaths from heart disease tabulated a year ago showed a decrease of 400 from the high 1929 total of 7,489 deaths in the Chicago area. Six years of the heart association's active campaign in behalf of heart sufferers preceded this first victory against the disease, Mrs. Britton declared.

"In 1930, the first year we saw hopeful results of our efforts, there were 4,875 patients cared for in heart clinics in the city, 21 per cent of these being cases demanding intensive care. Since there was a decrease of 400 in the death rate that year we have every reason to believe that thhose taken care of in heart clinics helped decrease the death rate. The urgent need of continuing our work therefore becomes more clear.

"Death rates per hundred thousand in Chicago population mounted steadily from 108.3 in 1905 to 234 in 1929. In 1930 we received the first definite sign that we are on the right track. We cannot go back."

Heart stamps are now being sold by the association to realize funds to carry on this work. The sale will continue to Valentine day.

Seats Selling Fast for Jobless Relief Radio Revue Friday

Ted Weems and Wayne King, with their dance orchestras, will appear at the radio revue Friday night at the Chicago Stadium, Niles Trammell, chairman of the show committee announced yesterday. They will play early in the program as Weems must be back at the Trianon and King at the Aragon by 9 o'clock, Mr. Trammell said.

The possibility of a sell-out of the Stadium before the performance was suggested yesterday by Sidney Strotz, president of the Stadium, who said the sale of tickets had almost doubled within the past two days. The show, although composed entirely of radio artists, will not be broadcast. The money received on tickets will go to the Joint Unemployment Relief fund.

Admirers of Roosevelt to Visit His Grave at Oyster Bay Today

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Three bright new American flags flew today on a hilltop which a band of pilgrims will climb tomorrow to pay tribute to the memory of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

The flags, renewed periodically by war veterans who revere the late President's memory, fly over a grave on which the only inscription is: "Theodore Roosevelt. Born Oct. 27, 1858. Died Jan. 6, 1919."

On a snowy day 13 years ago Gifford Pinchot, the late Oscar Straus, the late Henry Cabot Lodge and other notable entered the little 284 year old cemetery to mourn the passing of a leader. Gov. Pinchot has made the pilgrimage annually. A large number of admirers of the statesman are expected tomorrow.

Afterwards they will call on Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. She makes it a point always to be at Oyster Bay on the anniversary.

131 Women Volunteer for Social Welfare Courses

A class of 131 women responded to the call made by the Chicago Council of Social Agencies for more volunteer social service workers. They met yesterday for the first lecture in the University of Chicago downtown college, 18 South Michigan avenue. The number of women exceeded by six the previous large class of the year. Each woman agrees that after attending two lectures a week for a month she will devote two half days a week without pay to social service work.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

—BY GEORGE SHAFFER—

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 5.—Ten years ago Buddy Post was a hit as a comic. His work in "Wild Oranges" still is remembered. Now he's realizing a new film start as a director for Bob Steele cowboy films for the Trem Carr independent studio. Instead of the name Buddy Post, he is using the name "P. A. Charles," his real name being Charles A. Post. He says if he goes over well as a director, he'll resume the name of Post.

Gene Stratton, granddaughter of the late Gene Stratton Porter, novelist, is taking the lead and the only feminine rôle in "A Pound of Flesh," given on the stage by the Beverly Hills little theater.

Lawsuits with ex-husbands, operations, and film worries can't squelch Pola Negri's sense of humor. Talking to her secretary, Estelle Dickey, while she was in Santa Monica hospital, she gave word to have her body sent back to Poland on a Polish ship, in case she died. Calling the secretary back a little later, Miss Negri asked is she knew the name of any boat flying the Polish flag. The secretary didn't. "In that case," whispered Pola, "my death will have to be postponed until we can find a Polish ship."

Hobart Bosworth, lifelong friend of the late Tyrone Power, has been chosen to take Power's place in the talkie version of "The Miracle Man," in which Power was playing the rôle of the patriarch at the time of his sudden death last week. Bosworth is two years older than Power was at his death. It is the third time he replaced Power in a rôle, the first time, in 1901, being when Power fell ill playing with Mrs. Fiske in "Vanity Fair," and the next time being in 1902, when Bosworth went in opposite Mrs. Fiske in "Mary Magdalene" after Power was cast for another production.

Annie Besant Surprises Followers by 2 Hr. Talk

MADRAS, India, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Besant, noted English Theosophist leader, who recently was so ill here her life was despaired of, appeared unexpectedly today at a Theosophists' convention and spoke for two hours.

"It's quite true," she said, "that I am doing a great deal of work at present out of sight. This frail body cannot do it, but my many other bodies do."

Pointing down to the earth, she continued: "I don't want just now to do much down here, because I want my other selves to do much more up there. After I am gone I shall keep pouring down on you."

Mrs. Besant is over 80.

Washington Zoo Enriched by Domestic Minded Toads

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Eighty-eight Surinam toads, extraordinarily rare and peculiar creatures, have become the gems of the National zoo's collection. The specialty of the newcomers is that the male picks up newlaid eggs and plants them on the female's back. There they hatch and the youngsters grow until able to get about. Mother toad then sheds the skin for a smooth one.

These toads came direct from New Guinea. Practically none of the species are to be found in American collections.

Ryerson Asks County Relief Be Increased

Wants Home Owners to Get Assistance.

Removal of a restriction which bars relief to destitute families by the county if those families own their own homes was asked of the county board yesterday. The request was in the form of a letter sent by the Joint Emergency Relief committee, signed by Edward L. Ryerson Jr. It was also requested that the food allowance of needy families be doubled.

JOSEPH L. MOSS.

Upon the motion of Commissioner Amelia Sears it was directed that the letter be sent to the legislature together with a request that prompt action be taken on the bill to provide a $3,000,000 bond issue for county poor relief.

A month's food rations now issued through the county bureau of public welfare provides a family only with bare necessities for 14 days, the letter declared. The rule whereby families owning their homes or having an equity in them are excluded from county relief, which includes coal and shoes, is an arbitrary one made by the county board, having no basis in law, Mr. Ryerson wrote.

"We believe that the primary responsibility for relief to prevent actual starvation rests with the county," the letter stated. "You have sources of credit, such as private agencies, which this emergency fund cannot have. Failure to provide at least the minimum necessities of relief would result in conditions which this community with all its wealth would not tolerate."

The emergency relief fund, the letter continued, would be exhausted before the middle of March at the present rate of expenditure of $2,000,000 a month. The fund is caring for the homeless, providing medical and protective services and financing the care of 100,000 families by private agencies, the letter stated.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, reported that during December $696,668 was expended for poor relief. A total of 51,262 families were aided, 43,262 in the city and 8,000 in the country towns. The total expended in the rural districts was $90,000. Some commissioners pointed out that the rate of expenditure for December, the first month of the fiscal year, would establish a total for the year which the county would be unable to appropriate because of limited finances.

THE OPERA

BY EDWARD MOORE.

With one important exception, the cast of "The Barber of Seville" at the Civic Opera last night was the same as before; Giacomo Rimini was the Figaro, thereby at this late date making his first appearance of the season.

But he was a new and transformed Rimini, a Rimini such as the Chicago public has never heard before. Somehow, some time between the close of last season and the present date, he has done his voice completely over. Particularly in his upper voice, what used to be a vague ambition has become an accomplished fact.

The vocal technicians will no doubt interpret it as having learned to focus. Not being a vocal technician, the present reporter can only state that his voice is clear, certain, brilliant, as it never was before. Mr. Rimini was always my favorite Figaro in matters of impersonation and comic values. Now that he has become a singer from the standpoint of the vocal studio, he is ten times the favorite that he used to be. In fact, on the strength of what he did last night, there would seem to be few rôles in the baritone compass that he cannot do. It gave at least one hearer a renewed desire to wait until the next time that the company presents "Falstaff."

Tito Schipa, that marvel of tenors, was once again the Almaviva, Margherita Salvi was the Rosina, Vanni Marcoux the Don Basilio, and Salvatore Baccaloni the Dr. Bartolo.

Maxim Karolik, who once some seasons ago had a brief engagement with the Chicago Opera, appeared last night at Orchestra hall in a recital of songs for the tenor voice. Most of the program came from the pens of Russian composers; one group only of the five combined Italian and French. Mr. Karolik is evidently a student of song literature. He sang his numbers understandingly, if in a voice that has not yet been permitted to attain its full volume and fervor.

LAST YEAR'S WIFE

By ALICE M. WILLIAMSON

SYNOPSIS.

Lorne Carlton and Dick Farrow, popular moving picture stars of Hollywood, are given a farewell party on the eve of their departure for Europe, on a delayed honeymoon after a year's happy marriage. Lorne is unhappy about leaving, as she has an undefinable presentiment of trouble, but Dick is anxious for the adventure.

INSTALLMENT III.

THE RISE TO STARDOM.

Lorne and Dick had not even imagined themselves as parents of a child, born of their love. That was for years later. Yet, in this girl star of the screen, brooded a deep maternal instinct. It stirred in her now as she gazed at Dick, who, in his sleep, looked so young, such a boy. She knew that there was no sacrifice which she would not willingly make for him.

"You're worth everything," she whispered, softly. "I wonder if you're not too—well, not too good, exactly, but too highbrow for me? O, if you are, I hope you won't find it out, or else that I can keep up with you always."

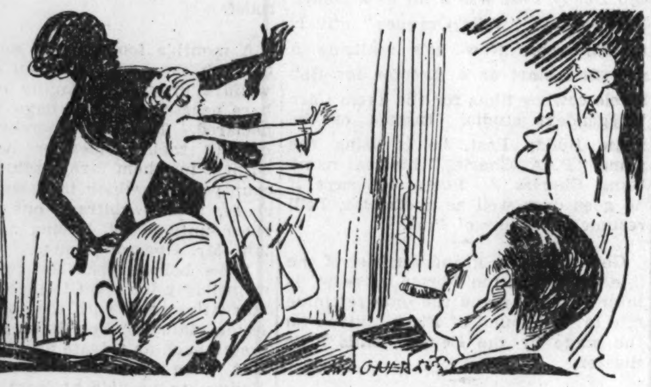
She realized Dick's beauty, and drank it in as she could never do in active, daytime life. His lashes, fringing the lids that veiled a pair of deep set, sea blue eyes, were as thick and almost as long as her own, though his were straight while hers curled upward. He had the noble, imaginative brow of an artist and a musician. Why act, when he was both? He was everything clever and brilliant, whereas she was just a nice, jolly girl of no particular origin, who looked well and acted well in moving pictures who was supposed to have a lot of sex appeal, and whom the public admired for her great eyes, her wandlike figure, and the husky, sweet voice, which, luckily for her, the mike loved.

As for the inner Lorne, she was a girl whom nobody knew anything at all about. Dick knew little of her; what he did know, he knew only in flashes. And Lorne herself knew not very much. Just lately, however, she was catching dim glimpses, as if in a mirror hung in twilight and shadow. The inner Lorne was somehow dumb, unable to give her character expression. She couldn't explain herself even to those who were close and dear to her, and few were close and dear. Practically no one but Dick mattered greatly in her life.

"Well, I don't awfully want to go around expressing myself," she reflected. "If I did, I might repent afterwards of what I'd expressed."

And yet Lorne knew that often in her twenty-three years she had envied the sort of girl who cries, and confides, and loses her self-control, and is then petted, protected and taken care of. These were the girls for whom the world was made easy. But she wasn't that type at all. She couldn't be. Her friends cried and confided in her and expected her to pet and advise them. She always found herself taking care of other people, more often than not when she didn't want to do it in the least.

Even Dick depended upon her in many ways, though seldom in those that were literary or decorative. She was thankfully glad that he did come to her with his troubles and vexations at the studio, and for her admiring, if prejudiced, criticisms of his acting. He made her feel occasionally as if she ought to be his mother—she, Lorne Carlton, with her world-wide S. A.! But there was nothing fatherly in Dick for her weak moods. She never let him guess the truth that sometimes she would love to let herself go and be thoroughly weak, so that she might feel his strength.



She got an engagement to dance in a cheap cabaret.

Studying the sculptured face of her sleeping husband, Lorne thought that in his unconsciousness he looked no more than nineteen, instead of his manly twenty-three; and with a sharp little pang she told herself that Dick's wife, to be young enough for him, ought to be eighteen now, at most, instead of his own age. Often in her secret soul the girl felt guiltily that, in all save years, she was far older than Dick Farrow.

Not that Lorne Carlton had a past to hide! Fortunately, she hadn't. She had been thrown out upon the world when she was no more than a child, but she was among the few girls of her generation who decided when very young and wise to the verge of being hard boiled, that she would wait for physical sex experience until she desperately loved some man. It happened that Dick Farrow was the first whom she had ever loved—enough. There had been a few halfway temptations, of course, because, from the time Lorne was fifteen, she had strongly attracted men. Something had invariably been a little wrong about them from her point of view, though, until she met Dick.

But Dick was the spoiled child of fate, the only son of an internationally successful actor and actress. He had been, as they say, "born with a gold spoon in his mouth." He had had everything always, while Lorne, on the contrary, had had to fight for all she wanted. Again and again she had failed; but that "abiding courage" which the astrologer saw, carried her on with head high, straight along the path of her purpose.

Lorne was very conscious that, almost as far back as she could remember, she had had a purpose. Ever since her sixth birthday, the year after her workworn mother died and she was left between Scylla and Charybdis in the form of a drunken father and a snapdragon stepmother, Lorne had held the purpose before her like a flag, such a big purpose that it deserved a capital P. She had determined to become a screen star, grade A, as soon as she grew up, or before, if possible. At seventeen she had arrived in Hollywood by the way of mannequin parading—"wriggle your hips and walk with one foot in front of the other!" She had been a born dancer, and in Hollywood spent her first savings on lessons from a professional. She got an engagement to dance and do what she then called "singing," in a cheap cabaret, not very suitable for young girls. A casting director had seen her there and had given her his card. She became an extra in his studio. Then, her amazing eyes and something that haunted you in the expression of the thin, eager face, obtained for her a small part. She had worked very hard for every success she had ever grasped as she slowly mounted the ladder. And, striving constantly towards an end, as years go on carves a certain hardness upon a girl's heart and features.

"Burning Beauty," Lorne Carlton was often called, not only by Dick but by screen critics, one of whom had invented the name. It expressed the intense quality, and the power to hold in check a blazing flame of emotion, which Dick Farrow had felt in the girl at first sight.

It was her immense gray-brown eyes, glowing above cheek bones that had faint hollows underneath, and her full, sad mouth, which made Lorne a "burning beauty" in her films. Off the screen, save for the eyes, she was somewhat colorless. She didn't bleach or henna her thick, curly brown hair. The few freckles on her clear, creamy skin were hardly hidden by the faint dusting of powder she gave them, and her pink coral lips were seldom painted when she was out of the studio. The girl might have been superficially prettier if she had used more makeup, but it had been part of the engrossing purpose to keep as natural as she could.

"Lorne suits you for a name, sort of," Dick had said on the day they first met, when the two were cast to act opposite each other in a picture.

"Why?" the girl had asked.

"O, well, as I look at you I keep remembering some lines I've read and repeating them to myself. I wonder if they were Shelley's?" Dick explained, vaguely. "'Charmed magic casements opening on the foam'—or was it on the shore?—'of faerylands forlorn . . .' Your eyes might be bright windows—bright, yet dark and mysterious—looking on faerylands forlorn that no one else could see."

Lorne had laughed and exclaimed, "What a weird imagination you must have, Mr. Farrow, junior!" But she had been pleased and had never forgotten. In this dawn of a day when they two were to start on their great adventure of foreign travel, she seemed to be looking across stormy seas to faerylands forlorn whither, reluctantly, she was bound.

Funny, how she had done almost every single thing with a purpose, before she fell in love with Dick, and now she was letting herself be carried away by him. Was it love that had changed her?

"Did I deliberately make up my mind that I'd get Dick, and then just go for him?" she wondered, looking back.

No, she hadn't done that. Dick had been the aggressor. He had thrown himself at her feet, almost literally, and from the first day.

If Daughter Prefers Housekeeping, Why Force 'Career' on Her?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Everybody wasn't made for a career. It's a good thing they weren't. What a terrible scramble there would be on the ladder of fame! And who would do the homely, humble, necessary work of the world?

Take girls and women, for instance. Suppose all mothers wanted careers. Who would be the homemakers? Thank goodness, the majority of women can find happiness and contentment within their homes; and thank goodness, there are so many women who love housekeeping!

If you have a daughter who is not ambitious, who doesn't want to go out in the business world, who doesn't want a profession or career, don't feel she's lazy. If she loves to be at home and keep house and cook and clean, don't think she's lazy.

Several worried mothers of daughters of 16 and 17 have written me—worried because their daughters love being at home and doing housework and don't want to go out to business! These girls may be cast by nature in the role of "good little housewives." For them a husband and a home of their own would be fulfillment. And why isn't that as worthy as any business or professional ambition?

If the family finances make it necessary for these girls to earn a living, then something should be worked out that will be in line with their interest in housekeeping and home making. Let them study cooking or some other branch of domestic science, some phase of home decoration, baby care, or any allied subject. Then, let them earn their living in one of these fields, which will be an expression of their natural interest.

Wives Not Only Ones Who Crave Some Show of Love and Affection

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I wonder if women haven't come to think of affection and terms of endearment as their sole monopoly. Their's the right to complain when denied the human touches! I wonder if we as a body haven't come to think of men as the rightful dispensers or as unappreciative brutes if they don't dispense this cheer we talk so much about. You know what I mean—the little bursts of affection, the unprompted hug or kiss, the whispered "dear" and "darling."

Anyway, among a great many women it is the common thing to think of father as the one to give and keep on giving this thing we talk about. That men can be, and are, just as hungry for the impromptu kiss, the cheery word, never occurs to them. Perhaps because men are not in the habit of voicing their complaints publicly. They hunger for affection in quiet. Here's a case in point. It might be any number of husbands talking:

Jones, we'll call him, is 47. Has been married 24 years. By nature he is affectionate. His own mother died when he was 4. A stepmother reared him. She was a good woman—but cold. As a child the boy yearned for a tender pat.

At 21 he married a girl, a good girl, a good housekeeper, and a good mother, as time proved. Three children were born and reared. The oldest, a girl, distinguished herself recently at the university. The boys are highly promising. The picture would seem to represent a successful married life, wouldn't it? But Jones says:

"Everything but the warmth of human affection has been my luck. How many times I have wished my wife would come to the door and give me a parting good-by, a hug, a kiss, a word even. Not even when I have striven to buy her something extra nice have I got more than a, to me, chilling 'thank you.' Maybe she can not do it. It may not be in her. But that doesn't stop me from wishing for just an occasional return of my warm feeling. I'm not considering quitting or playing around with another woman, but I can well understand why it is mighty hard for a man to be true to a woman who spurns his little demonstrations.

"I'll wager that half the men of my age who do break out do it because they are starved at home for the love they crave. We can't complain because our women are good women, good mothers, good citizens. But, to a man of us, we'd trade a virtue any day for one good, loving hug."

Food Talk.

We undoubtedly use a white sauce too much. It is such a delightfully simple solution of what to do with left-over vegetables, it dresses up boiled vegetables, and it works so well into luncheon menus. It certainly has its place in our répertoires, and for that reason it is important to be able to make white sauces that fit the purpose they are to serve, besides being well made.

The thickness of the sauce is determined by the amount of flour in it, and the seasoning varies with the purpose for which the sauce is made. To one cup of milk, allow a tablespoon each of fat and flour to make a thin white sauce. For a medium sauce allow two tablespoons of each, and for a thick sauce, two tablespoons of fat and four of flour. The seasoning in each case is added at the maker's discretion, but usually there is more in the thick sauce.

Melt the fat, add the flour and the seasonings, and cook till a smooth paste is formed. Be careful not to allow the flour to discolor. Then, while stirring constantly, add the milk a little at a time. Boil for a few minutes to cook the flour. This does away with that starchy taste that so often spoils a white sauce. Stir while the sauce is boiling to eliminate all lumps.

The respective uses for the three types of cream sauce are as follows:

Thin white sauce: Milk toast, starchy vegetables, such as potatoes, and cream soups made with thick purées, such as split pea.

Medium white sauce: Thin stock soups [celery, mushroom, tomato], creamed fish, meat, and most vegetables.

Thick white sauce: Scalloped dishes, and sauce for croquettes.

To sum it up, the points to remember about white sauce are: 1. Careful measurement. 2. Constant stirring. 3. Thorough cooking of flour without browning it. 4. Correct consistency of sauce for the use to which it is to be put.

ENGLISH CURRANT BUNS.

1 pound flour.
1 egg.
¼ pound currants.
Cinnamon.
2 level teaspoons baking powder.
Nutmeg.
¼ pound butter.
Cloves.
1 cup sugar.

Combine all ingredients. Add enough milk to make a stiff dough, and drop by large spoonfuls onto buttered sheets to bake.

VINEGAR SAUCE FOR BEETS.

1 cup weak vinegar [if too strong, dilute with water.]
1 tablespoon butter.
1 tablespoon flour.
Salt and pepper.

Rub the butter and flour together. Add to the heated vinegar. Let come to a boil and pour over the beets, which have been cooked and cut small. Season. If they are not young beets, a little brown sugar added to the sauce will improve their flavor.

New Serge Dresses Take Satin's Sheen

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris styles are all set for spring. Winter has almost three months yet to run, however, and certain reparations and additions to the winter wardrobe may be necessary before real spring clothes can be worn without menace of pneumonia and other evils. By taking the first spring fashions into account, however, it is possible to choose anything new in your winter outfit so it can be worn into spring, as well.

If you just must have a new frock to wear under your winter coat, then select something you can wear later without that coat. A dress that has the earmarks of a coat dress is the thing to choose, and see to it that this dress is in a springlike color and fabric. Silk serge that looks like wool, or wool serge that looks more like satin would be the smartest choice for such a frock. This material in one of the new pale beige or grege tones is the French idea of something smart to wear under the dark winter coat, and it will be fresh and springish later on, too.

The Mainbocher frock in our sketch is made of satin-finished serge in a pale, dove-breast shade, and is a simple daytime dress that by its bolero blouse suggests a skirt and jacket. The bolero front of this model is cut in an asymetrical triangle, and begins from the raglan sleeve seam and the underarm seam on the right side of the bodice, being drawn up to the left side of the neckline and buttoned, as shown in the sketch. The black suede belt is notched at the top and fastened with a silver buckle.

Physical Activity Was Beauty Measure of Older Generation

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A group of women were discussing skin, the other day. One said: "What do you suppose women of older generations did to keep their skins nice? Certainly, they didn't all have creams and lotions as does our simplest little breadwinner today."

Incidentally, it is interesting to note how much women do discuss skin beauty, these days—how they look for it in another face. How they criticize its lack. How they want it for themselves.

But about the women of older generations. Many of them did have their creams and lotions—maybe not so decoratively done up nor so charmingly fragrant as we have today. Many of them had what we call homely aids. But they were good, most of them. In fact, many of the formulae used today have been handed down from other generations. The rules have been embellished, changed, improved upon for our use. But the basic ingredients are similar. BUT——

What those older generations of women had which we moderns fail to put enough store by, was circulation. They worked! They followed domestic occupations that kept them moving and moving pretty lively around the house. They walked a good deal. They were outdoors. So, for most of them keeping up the circulation was not difficult.

And in treating skin blemishes, I don't care what they are, there is no remedy, no lotion, no tissue property equal to the quality to be found in good, red blood, flowing actively through the veins.

Take the open pore, or enlarged pore trouble, or blackheads, or dullish, grayish looking skin. Take your self out for a long hike and a fast stepping one. Come back home and look at that face an hour later and see how much clearer, finer the skin looks. That increased blood activity is magic. The trouble is trying to sell it to women. They will listen to and believe and experiment with any high sounding phrases concocted to sell a lotion. But circulation talk is just too dull to give ear to. Isn't it true?

Chicagoan Back from Paris to Visit Friends

WITH the debutantes out of the limelight and the school boys and girls packed off to resume their studies, what better time could an ex-Chicagoan choose to visit his home town than during this post-holiday lull? Then the young marrieds and the older folk, having had a breathing spell since the youngsters left, are looking around for a chance to entertain for their own set in the way they like best.

They'll find that excuse in the presence of Leicester Spaulding, who arrives this morning for a visit of 10 days or more with Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster. Mr. Spaulding was a popular member of society here before he moved about a decade ago to Paris, where he resides with his mother, Mrs. Howard H. Spaulding and his brother, Howard Spaulding. He is well known in French music and artistic circles for his talented musicianship and we understand that he has been collaborating recently with the renowned Cole Porter.

With his brother and his mother, Mr. Spaulding entertains numerous of their old Chicago friends at their Paris menage, and doubtless his stay here will be crowded with invitations from hospitable acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Brewster have not as yet planned any parties for him, but he will, of course, be at the dinner they are giving at their residence on Friday night before going with their guests to the Twelfth Night ball at the Germania club.

The Bohemians Plan for Musical Dinner on Sunday.

The Bohemians, who are a fastidious and critical lot where musical programs are concerned, have arranged to have the best musical entertainment in town for their annual dinner on Sunday night at the Palmer house.

Mr. Frederick Stock, president of the society, will conduct the orchestra; Raisa, Formichi and several other opera stars are to sing, and the opera ballet will perform. In addition, the program will include a surprise performance by an internationally known young pianist whose name is being withheld, but whose identity can be guessed instantly by the musically aware.

Among those who have made reservations are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, who will have a table of guests; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift [Mrs. Swift will return tomorrow from an out of town concert], Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman Lingle, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Wentworth Field, and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson.

Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick gave a luncheon yesterday at her Burton place residence for her niece, Miss Jere Richards, who returned recently from a year's "finishing" at Miss Risser's school in Rome. Edith Behr, Margaret Chapman, Eleanor Wheeler, Florence Carr, and Mary Ellen Prindiville were among the guests.

Junior League Art Show Tomorrow at the Casino.

Mrs. Shreve C. Badger [Theodora Winterbotham] who went east for the wedding of her cousin, Genevieve Carpenter, to Patrick Champain Hill at Burlington, Vt., arrived home yesterday in time to take a hand in the last minute preparations for the Junior league musical and art exhibition tomorrow at the Casino. The exhibit, according to the committee in charge, is assuming large proportions as new entries come in from the rich fund of talent with which the organization is blessed. Mrs. Walter Paepcke is to show three paintings which a league member describes as "very modern" and Cynthia Wilson and Mrs. Page Thibodeaux Jr. decided just a few days ago to contribute some of their paintings.

Mrs. Badger is not exhibiting any of her own work, although she's well known to Junior leaguers throughout the country for the costumes and scenery she's designed for the children's theater.

The Friends of Opera will meet on Monday, Jan. 18, at the Drake for another of their fine programs by members of the opera company. As usual, tea will follow the program.

Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, a member of the Junior league exhibition committee, will be missing from the show at the Casino tomorrow because she's gone down to Asheville, N. C., on a business trip with Mr. Cramer.

Miss Eleanor Litsinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger, will depart today for her final year of study at the French school in New York before making her debut next winter.

Mrs. Theodore White Smith and her daughter, Miss Theodosia Smith, who have been here on a holiday visit with the W. Calhoun Smiths, left on Monday night for their Pasadena residence. Miss Dorothy Wilson, who came east with the Smiths, is returning to the coast with them.

Mrs. George Dulaney and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hughes were among the Chicagoans at the New Year's festivities at the Miami Biltmore Country club at Coral Gables, Fla. Mr. Dulaney, who accompanied his wife to Florida, returned to Chicago on New Year's day.

Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, Mrs. H. G. B. Alexander, Mrs. Herbert Witherspoon, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. Darius Miller, and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson are to have parties of guests at the Kinsolving musicale on Thursday, Jan. 14, at the Blackstone.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon and Mrs. Paul L. Rittenhouse, both of whom devote a great deal of time to the business of the Illinois League of Women Voters, are now embarked on what sounds like a strenuous tour of conferences downstate with local leaders of the league. Their itinerary includes league branches in Kankakee, Champaign, Paris, Charleston, Harrisburg, Marion, and several other towns where the league work is flourishing.

WEDDING

Miss Margaret Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell of Scarsdale, N. Y., was married last night to Franklin Hardinge, Jr., son of Franklin Hardinge of Chicago. George Lill was best man.

Evanston Girl Who's Engaged

MISS LUCY McCURDY.

Mr. D. G. McCurdy of 947 Ridge court, Evanston, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Lucy, to John Waite Cogswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cogswell of Winnetka. Miss McCurdy attended Northwestern university and is a member of Delta Gamma. Mr. Cogswell is a Dartmouth graduate and a member of Zeta Psi. The wedding will take place next fall.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have as their guest at the White House the ambassador to Great Britain, Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, who arrived in this country from England a few days ago.

President Hoover was host at luncheon today to the several members of the American delegation to the arms conference who are in Washington. Later in the afternoon the chief executive received the new Siamese minister, Phyla Subarn, in the blue room.

Mrs. Hoover was honor guest at luncheon given today by Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, wife of the secretary of the navy, in her home on R street. Other guests were Mrs. William V. Pratt, wife of the chief of naval operations; Mrs. Ben H. Fuller, wife of the commandant of the marine corps; Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Mrs. George H. Rock, Mrs. William A. Moffett, Mrs. Charles E. Riggs, Mrs. Frank B. Upham, Mrs. Ridley McLean, Mrs. Henry V. Butler, Mrs. Orin G. Murfin, Mrs. Samuel M. Robinson, Mrs. Edgar B. Latimer, Mrs. Archibald Parsons, wives of admirals in the navy, and Miss Alice Levering, sister of the hostess.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson were guests of honor at dinner this evening of the Belgian Ambassador and Mme. May, who entertained a company of 26.

Mrs. James Blaine Walker Jr. of Long Island is at the Carlton for a few days and will be accompanied on her return by her aunt, Mrs. Parker, widow of Capt. John N. Parker, U. S. N., who was first naval aide to President Benjamin Harrison. Mrs. Walker was formerly Miss Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, second wife of the late President.

Mrs. P. J. Hurley, wife of the secretary of war, was given a luncheon today by the board of governors and members of the National Woman's Country club.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edward R. Stettinius is chairman of a committee of north shore women who have arranged a series of garden lectures for the benefit of the unemployed, under the auspices of the International Garden club.

Mrs. Ferdinand W. Roebling Jr. gave a luncheon yesterday and had among her guests Mrs. J. Randolph Robinson, Mrs. F. A. C. Perrine and Mrs. Robert T. Bowman.

Miss Georgette Delafield has returned from Noroton, Conn.

Mrs. Frank N. Doubleday and Mrs. Albert Z. Gray give luncheon parties today at the Barclay.

Mrs. Harry S. Black returned today from Washington, where she has been visiting her father, Col. Henry May.

Mrs. Sanford Bissell will pass the winter in her home at Winter Park, Fla.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

The bridge circus being carried on in New York has done one thing in a most convincing manner. It has showed the public bridge as it is played in expert circles rather than bridge as it is talked and written about.

Yesterday's play-a-problem, which was:

NORTH
♠—None
♥—J,8,7,6,4,2
♦—9,6,5,4,2
♣—J,10

WEST (Dealer)
♠—9
♥—A,9
♦—A,8,3
♣—K,Q,6,5,4,3,2

EAST
♠—7,6,5,4,3,2
♥—5,3
♦—J,10,7

SOUTH
♠—A,K,Q,J,10,8
♦—K,Q
♣—A,7

is a hand one of the experts loves to tell about. It was played some time ago and the bidding varies a little from what it would be today.

West opened with a bid of one club. North and East both passed and South bid four spades. West, considering this an insult, doubled. North and East passed and South redoubled.

North and South were vulnerable. Today, under the Official system, West would have opened the bidding with two clubs and South, after passes by North and East, would have overcalled West's club bid with another club, giving a game demand bid and showing North that he could take the first trick in clubs. This would unquestionably have resulted in North and South ending up in a heart bid, at which they would have no trouble in taking game.

West opened the ♣ K, which South, of course, captured with the A. South then led out two high spades and when West failed to follow on the second spade lead found himself with a real problem on his hands. After a moment's thought, South led out the ♠ Q-J-10. On the last four spade leads West discarded the ♥ 9, ♦ 8 and 3, and the ♣ 2. Now South led the ♥ K, which West captured with the A. West then led back the ♣ Q and followed by leading the ♣ 6, and now for the first time we turn the spotlight on East. East still had the seven of trumps. She knew her trump was a loser and her partner's ♣ 6 looked awfully, awfully small. After a moment's hesitation she played her trump, South overtrumping with the 8. The game was now in the bag; in fact, with an extra trick, vulnerable, and redoubled. East's play had caused a swing of several thousand points.

All South needs to do now is to lead the ♥ Q and follow with the ♥ 10, which is overtaken with dummy's J. Dummy's hearts, which are now good, are then led out and East discards the ♦ K and Q on dummy's hearts.

And thus we come back to the old story that suspense is the real mark of a great player. Any one sitting in an offensive position with all the cards should run up a huge score if he knows anything about the game at all. But it is when the cards are running against the partnership that the real test of the true player comes. This hand is also a great example of the superiority of the modern bidding. South should have been set at his bid of spades, while at hearts, where you were led under the Official system, there is no difficulty at all in taking the game.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3. H. K. etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams, The Chicago Tribune; inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Lenz Again Cuts Into Lead Held by Culbertson

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Sidney Lenz and Commander Winfield Liggett Jr. cut steadily into the huge lead of Ely Culbertson tonight in their 150 rubber contract bridge match, gaining 2,660 points. Mr. Culbertson, who played with Michael Gottlieb, still has the huge advantage of 14,175 points, with only two sessions remaining.

Lenz and his partner won six of the eight rubbers. Mr. Gottlieb seemed rather nervous for a player of his experience when the first hand was dealt.

Mr. Lenz and Commander Liggett indulged in some unorthodox bidding on one hand but, nevertheless, obtained a highly satisfactory result on it. No one was vulnerable when the hand was dealt. Liggett bid a spade on a very weak four card suit in preference to showing his strong diamonds. The commander then bid one no trump, despite his singleton diamond and strong spade support, and Lenz rebid his spades to two. Commander Liggett raised him to three; Mr. Lenz then bid four diamonds, and the commander closed the bidding with four spades. Six were made, but even the most captious observers hardly felt that the slam could have been bid.

Throughout the evening Culbertson and his partner seemed to be playing safe, with their big lead, while Lenz and his mate were pushing their hands to the limit.

When play was resumed the rivals had already completed 129 rubbers, in which a total of 765 hands had been dealt, and the Culbertsons had acquired a lead of 16,835 points. The hand by hand progress of the match last night was as follows:

Rubber No.
130—Three hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 17,340.
131—Two hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 16,335.
132—Five hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 15,995.
133—Four hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 14,905.
134—Ten hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 14,045.
135—Six hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 14,745.
136—Four hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 14,225.
137—Five hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 14,175.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Asked for Tip's Return.

After doing our Christmas shopping, my friend and I found we had just enough money left to have dinner at one of Chicago's exclusive restaurants. When we received our check, we gave the waiter our last three dollars. The change was placed on a small tray upon the table, and then we realized that we did not have enough for a tip so decided to wait for the departure of the waiter before taking the change, but the waiter took the change, and with a hearty "thank you," departed. Imagine our embarrassment when we found it necessary to call him back and ask him to return the mistaken tip.

Avoid "DIRTY FACE"

Only one skin in 100 is clean! The other 99 are given a "lick and a promise" that passes for cleansing. But the perfect skin is regularly cleansed below the surface. Only a balanced cream like Daggett and Ramsdell's Perfect Cold Cream can reach below-the-surface dirt and get rid of it. Get a jar today and use it regularly. It freshens, cleans thoroughly, protects against "Dirty Face."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

It Can Be Arranged.

"Dear Miss Blake: I like a certain boy. How can I get acquainted with him? IN LOVE."

Why don't you get some one to introduce you?

Shows Depict Modern Art in East, Midwest

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

TWO phases of contemporary American art are found in the two exhibitions which opened yesterday. In the Knoedler gallery there is modern American art as perpetrated in New York; in the Chicago Galleries, 220 North Michigan avenue, there is art as executed by certain midwest artists, chiefly from Chicago. Oskar Gross in the latter exhibit carries off the honors with his group of very fine portraits. Among them are several excellently handled little portraits of men; a larger protrait arrangement showing his two sons is a brilliant piece of work.

Carl Hallsthammar is possibly second in interest with his various clever and amusing figures carved from wood. A new man is introduced to us in the virile drawings of Conrad Albrizio. Thomas Hall dabbles a bit in abstractions with his flower arrangements, painted in a color that is a trifle dull. Edgar Forkner comes to his relief with a group of colorful and beautifully painted still lifes of flowers.

John Spelman shows us several fall landscapes from the Wisconsin region of lakes and trees and Randolph Coats is a bit on the sugary side with various delightful young ladies, both dressed and not dressed.

There is no sugar nor sentiment in the Knoedler New York Moderns show. Peggy Bacon caricatures herself in a sublimely absurd fashion in her self-portrait "Me." She shows us her husband, Alexander Brook, nicely turning his back to wash his face, in "Casual Ablutions." Alexander Brook retorts with another bit of family history in the portrait of their young daughter. "Belinda with Skipping-Rope." His "The Broken Pitcher" is the finest piece of painting in the show.

Charles Demuth has a brilliant study of poppies and a delicate water color in "Yellow Iris." William Zorach shows two delightful water colors and Marguerite Zorach offers a nice study in pattern," Candle Light." "Pop" Hart is masterfully himself in "The Oasis, Africa."

Disposable Tissues

YOUR handkerchief is a source of danger during colds, if you have used it once. It may contain up to 240,000 living disease germs! ... is fit only to be destroyed. Impossible to destroy each handkerchief, you say? No! It is possible with Kleenex, the new handkerchief tissue which you use once and destroy.

Kleenex costs so little. That's why you can destroy it after a single use.

Soft, soothing

Yet it's superior to handkerchiefs of cotton or linen in every way. More absorbent, softer ... actually downy in texture. Kleenex never irritates tender noses during colds. It's made of rayon-cellulose, a substance firm and cloth-like.

You escape all handkerchief washing when you take to Kleenex. That alone would be worth many times the cost!

Price reduced!

And now you pay a third less for Kleenex! The generous box —formerly 50c—is now but 35c! The package remains unchanged —smart, convenient, beautiful. You get the same number of tissues. The same soft, cloth-like quality. Only the price has changed!

At this new, low price you'll find more uses than ever for Kleenex. Use to remove creams —to apply make-up—to polish spectacles, furniture, shoes!

Sold at all drug, dry goods and department stores.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

TEXT OF LETTER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Following is the text of a message by John J. Raskob to the Democratic national committee of which he is chairman:

This letter is in the nature of a report supplementing my address at our meeting last March in which I outlined certain suggestions for the consideration of the committee on prohibition, organization, leadership, farm relief, social welfare, the Sherman law, a five day week and the tariff.

Prohibition seems to have been singled out of my address for discussion to the exclusion of all other subjects and my position on prohibition has been very cunningly, adroitly and consistently misrepresented by our opponents, who, of course, are interested in promoting discord in Democratic ranks with the obvious hope that it may mitigate the distress and discouragement within the Republican party.

To clear the atmosphere let me try to state more definitely my ideas as to the position our party should take on the prohibition question in our national convention.

I believe prohibition is a social question and should be taken out of politics and out of the hands of politicians.

Clears Stand on Prohibition.

I believe prohibition is important in its economic aspects, but that its social status must be determined before we can successfully deal with it as an economic question.

I believe the Democratic party should avoid inserting either a so-called wet or so-called dry plank in its platform. In this connection please let me call attention to the fact that the Democratic party never endorsed or opposed the adoption of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

I believe that in the ranks of our party there are men and women as sincerely and honestly convinced that national prohibition is good, just as there are those who believe with equal sincerity that prohibition is undermining the morals of our country and will overthrow the government unless changed in some manner.

Foresees Split in Party.

I believe there will be either a definite split between the Democratic party of the north and the Democratic party of the south or there will be formed a liberal party in America unless those of us who love the traditions of the Democratic party find some common ground under the teachings of Jefferson upon which both the wet and dry elements in our party can unite without resorting to expediencies and sacrificing the high principles of either school of thought.

I believe that this common ground must be found before the convention meets in order that Democrats everywhere may have opportunity to study it carefully and understand it, thus enabling delegates to the convention to act with a great sense of security in the adoption of a platform plank that will take prohibition out of the hands of propagandists and politicians and place it with the people for decision.

Many say prohibition will not be an issue in the 1932 campaign; that people want bread, not beer. Granting this, there still remains not the slightest doubt but that prohibition will be an issue with which the Democratic national convention must deal.

There is a strong element in our party that demands that our platform declare for straight repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Another element wants a declaration for liberalization of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beer, which, of course, would definitely commit the party to the wet or moist side of the question. There are various other plans for committing the party in varying degrees to the wet side.

I am opposed to all of these because, as previously stated, I am opposed to any plan that in the slightest degree commits our party to the wet or dry side of this question.

I believe this is a constitutional question dealing with what has been defined by some as the greatest social experiment ever tried on a large nation of free, intelligent people. Our people have had twelve years of real day-by-day experience living under social conditions imposed by prohibition. As a result, a great minority, if not an actual majority, of these people are demanding a change. It is my belief that most of these are Democrats whose opinions must receive consideration at their party's convention.

Cannot Avoid Problem.

If this be true, it would be the height of folly for us to try to avoid, instead of courageously meeting and solving, this problem. One of the main purposes for calling a meeting of the national committee last March was to afford opportunity and ample time before our national convention for full, frank, open and fearless discussion of this question, and I think in this we have succeeded.

Did time permit me to recite to you the countless letters which I have received from Democrats everywhere since that meeting, I think all of you would be convinced that party success or failure depends almost entirely on finding some ground which will reconcile the wet and dry elements in our party.

A mere law enforcement plank will not suffice, however deep and sincere might be that hope. Feeling runs high in both camps; hence, the necessity for reconciliation of divergent opinions. It is interesting and encouraging to note that since our March meeting, both the American Bar association and the American Legion have endorsed our recommendations that the prohibition question be submitted to the people themselves for decision.

I am still firmly of the belief that our national convention should give most earnest and thoughtful consideration to the home rule plan for liquor control in writing our platform for 1932.

Declares for Referendum.

The plank I suggest for consideration provides that the Democratic members of the United States senate and house of representatives will vote in favor of a proposal [which is really a referendum] which will give to the people of the United States opportunity to vote directly on the question as to whether they wish the eighteenth amendment retained in the constitution without change or whether they wish it modified substantially as follows:

"Nothing in the constitution of the United States shall prevent any state from taking over complete control of the manufacture, transportation, importation and sale of intoxicating beverages within its own territory and exportation thereof to such other states, countries and territories as do not prohibit same, provided, however, that the plan under which that state proposes to take over such liquor control is first approved by the people of that state in a state-wide referendum."

The amendment might also provide that a state at any time may rescind its previous action, thus again submitting itself to the provisions of the eighteeth amendment.

May I again point out that this proposal cannot become part of the constitution unless and until ratified by a majority of the people in thirty-six states and also that should this amendment be adopted the eighteenth amendment will remain in full force and effect with respect to all of the states until such states as so desire work out liquor control plans of their own which must be approved by their people in a state-wide referendum before they become effective.

This plan leaves all other states in the position of still having national prohibition and all the power of the federal government for its enforcement. It almost certainly guards against the return of the old fashioned saloon, because a majority of the people in no state would vote in favor of a local state liquor control plan which permitted a return of the deplorable conditions which existed under the old saloon system.

Emphasizes Salient Points.

May I emphasize these facts:

This proposed plank commits the party to recognize prohibition as a constitutional and social question and places it squarely up to the people for decision in true Democratic fashion.

It takes the question out of politics.

It does not advocate the home rule plan for liquor control, but merely submits to the people opportunity to vote on the question of retaining the eighteenth amendment without change or modifying the eighteenth amendment as provided in the home rule amendment.

It gives every Democratic senator, congressman, state committee, and in fact every Democrat everywhere, full opportunity to work among the people of the respective states either for or against the ratification of the home rule amendment.

It is in every way nonpolitical and fair. It leaves prohibition exactly as it now is in states and communities where the people believe that social conditions are improved by prohibition and gives to the people of other states and communities, with problems of congestion, large foreign populations and other differing social conditions, opportunity to solve their liquor problem along such lines as these conditions best indicate.

The proposed home rule amendment cannot become a part of the constitution of the United States unless ratified by a majority of the people in three-fourths of the states.

Tells of His Poll.

Can any method of dealing with this question be suggested that is fairer, more democratic, more open, frank and sincere than this proposal?

In an effort to secure as much information as possible on prohibition and other questions, a keyed questionnaire was mailed to every individual contributor to the Democratic national campaign fund in 1928. The results tabulated by states are enclosed herewith, for your careful study. Each member, of course, will reach his or her own conclusion as to what the results indicate.

Some claim the poll necessarily shows a preponderant wet sentiment because the bulk of the contributions come from the wet states which supported a candidate pledged to a change in our prohibition laws. There undoubtedly is a great deal of truth in this claim, but could any one have predicted:

1. That 93 out of every 100 contributors favor a short, concise platform declaring the party's determination to restore our liberties and the spirit of the constitution through recognizing state's rights, home rule, the need of decentralization at Washington, and the cutting of riotous national expenditures with consequent relief from excessive taxation.

2. That 93 out of every 100 contributors favor submitting the prohibition question to the people of the United States for decision.

For Popular Ratification.

3. That 95 out of every 100 contributors favor having all future amendments ratified by the people instead of by the legislatures of the various states.

4. That 80 out of every 100 contributors favor a congressional resolution giving the people opportunity to vote on the home rule amendment to the constitution proposed herein.

5. That 79 out of every 100 contributors favor a congressional resolution giving the people opportunity to vote on a straight repeal amendment.

6. That 91 out of every 100 contributors favor a congressional resolution giving the people opportunity to vote on either the home rule or straight repeal amendment.

7. And that only 22 out of every 100 believe that other economic issues will be so overwhelming in 1932 that the Democratic platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question with its economic problems by remaining silent or by adopting a mere law enforcement plank as was done in the 1928 convention.

Please note carefully that all of these data deal with numbers of contributors—not dollars contributed.

It is interesting to note that 96 per cent of our 1928 contributions were received in gifts ranging from one to one hundred dollars.

Quotes Arkansas Reaction.

Arkansas is recognized as one of the driest states in the union. Because one of her sons, the Hon. Joe T. Robinson, was the party's nominee for vice president, there were received from that state over three times as many contributions per one hundred thousand voters as were received from the great state of New York. These contributors certainly must fairly represent the party in Arkansas with a presumable leaning to the dry side. It is interesting to note with what discriminating intelligence these people voted.

The poll shows:

That 87 out of every 100 contributors in Arkansas voted to endorse a short platform;

That 78 out of every 100 favor submitting the prohibition question to the people for decision;

That 87 out of every 100 believe all future amendments should be ratified by the people and not by the legislatures of the various states;

That 75 out of every 100 favor submitting either the home rule or straight repeal amendment to the people.

And that while 69 out of every 100 are in favor of submitting the home rule amendment to the people for decision, there are only 27 out of every 100 who favor submitting a straight repeal amendment to the people for decision;

That 56 out of every 100 believe the Democratic convention cannot ignore the prohibition question.

Gives Mississippi Consensus.

Mississippi too, by reason of the activities of its representatives in national headquarters in New York during the 1928 campaign, numbers over three times as many contributors per one hundred thousand voters as does New York. That state's poll shows:

That 91 out of every 100 favor a short platform;

That 81 out of every 100 believe the prohibition question should be submitted to the people for decision;

That 84 out of every 100 believe that all future amendments should be ratified by the people instead of by the legislatures of the states;

That 71 out of every 100 believe that the home rule amendment should be submitted to the people;

That 78 out of every 100 favor submitting either the home rule or straight repeal amendment to the people;

That 62 out of every 100 believe that our platform cannot successfully ignore the prohibition question in 1932.

What Louisiana Thinks.

Louisiana, another southern state, shows 1,371 contributors for every one hundred thousand voters—more than one and a half times the number of New York contributors. The Louisiana results show that 92 out of every 100 favor a short platform.

That 89 out of every 100 believe the prohibition question should be submitted to the people for decision;

That 94 out of every 100 believe that all future amendments should be ratified by the people instead of by the legislatures of the states;

That 79 out of every 100 believe that the home rule amendment should be submitted to the people;

That 90 out of every 100 believe that either the home rule or straight repeal amendment should be submitted to the people;

And that only 17 out of every 100 believe that our platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question in 1932.

Strangely enough, there are just four southern states and just four northern states that furnished over 800 contributors per 100,000 voters in 1928. A tabulation of votes from these contributors shows as follows:

	—Percentage of votes favoring—
	A short platform....	Having prohibition submitted to the people for decision	Having all future federal amendments to the constitution ratified by the people instead of by legislatures of the states
	Pct.	Pct.	Pct.
Arkansas	87	78	87
Louisiana	92	89	94
Mississippi	91	81	84
Texas	91	89	93
Vermont	90	99	97
Massachusetts	94	99	98
New York	95	99	98
Rhode Island	94	91	99

Any poll or straw vote is necessarily limited in its scope and cannot conclusively prove much.

The result of this poll, however, does show conclusively the opinion of those Democrats who contributed about four million dollars to conduct a campaign in which the party polled 15,016,443 votes as against its previous high of 9,147,353 votes, a gain of 64 per cent.

Admitting for the sake of argument that this poll errs in not fully expressing the dry sentiment in the party, no one can gainsay the fact that it does represent the sentiment of a vast number of both wets and drys in our ranks—loyal Democrats who supplied the party with large amounts of money in 1928—contributing the sinews of war necessary to conduct a campaign.

These good Democrats cannot be ignored—they should be respected, the dry element as well as the wet element. In what manner can this be done?

Repeats March Advice.

I said at our March meeting and I would like to repeat that—

"To me it seems impossible to call ourselves Democrats and lovers of liberty and be unwilling to extend to the people of these United States the opportunity to vote on this proposed new amendment and to abide by the decision if a majority of the people in thirty-six of our forty-eight states should vote in favor of it. We cannot honestly and conscientiously call ourselves a Democratic party or a liberal party in one breath and deny the people this right in the next."

In closing let me suggest that our convention give serious consideration to pledging our party to the position that all future amendments to the federal constitution must be ratified by the people instead of by the legislatures of the respective states as has been the custom in the past.

Very truly yours,

JOHN J. RASKOB,
Chairman.

Some Editors Comment on Raskob's Referendum Plan

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

News papers throughout the nation commented editorially on the letter of Chairman John J. Raskob to the Democratic national committee. Among the views expressed were:

Baltimore Sun—"In practice, what it does is to give the wets a way to back into victory instead of marching into victory—which may be more pleasing to the drys. Meanwhile, Mr. Raskob arranges things so that the Democratic party is not wet nor is it dry."

Boston Globe—"There is not much doubt that Mr. Raskob is correct when he says that the way to settle this dispute [prohibition] is to obtain a verdict from the voters on the specific question. Doubtless many drys would agree that such procedure is democratic."

Cleveland Plain Dealer—"Ten years ago any such proposal would have been looked on as idle propaganda. But this decade has opened the eyes of millions to the impossibility of enforcing a law which millions resent. Neither party, in our opinion, can dodge prohibtion this year. . . . Let the people decide, and the states say what they wish, is good democratic doctrine."

Kansas City Star—"Straw votes so often are deceptive. Chairman Raskob may find the delegates to the national convention in far less agreement on his referendum proposal than the contributors to the campaign fund."

New York Herald-Tribune—"As we have said many times, it [prohibition] is and will remain a political question, bedeviling all other questions until liquor control is returned to the states; but it is not and should not be made a partisan subject. . . . We believe the Republican party should adopt a plank favoring this kind [for retention or repeal of the 18th amendment] of a referendum."

Philadelphia Public Ledger—"Apparently Mr. Raskob is seeking to placate the dry members of his party. But if history repeats itself, he will succeed only in arousing their opposition anew."

Richmond Times-Dispatch—Mr. Raskob's plan is interesting. . . . We fear, however, that it will not prove to be the common ground of understanding that Mr. Raskob hopes it to be. . . . There is scarcely any common ground for those who revere the eighteenth amendment and those who detest it.

St. Paul Pioneer Press—Mr. Raskob is trying to find that formula for his party which will identify it in the next election as the champion of the wet cause but which at the same time will not go so far that party lines will break in the dry south as they did in 1928."

175 Ships Are Lying Idle in Port of Hamburg

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Germany, Jan. 5.—One hundred and seventy-five ships, aggregating 770,000 tons, are now lying idle in the port of Hamburg, including twenty foreign steamers and tankships. The tonnage was increased by 250,000 tons during December, largely due to the British sterling crisis which caused the withdrawal of many vessels.

DEMOCRATS DID NOT OBSERVE LAW —ESCAPE PENALTY

Saved by Statute of Limitations.

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Democratic national committee violated the corrupt practice act in the filing of the annual report of expenditures for 1928, but it will escape prosecution under the statute of limitations, United States Attorney George Z. Medalie declared today.

Mr. Medalie revealed that the margin by which the committee's action will escape prosecution amounts to but one day. The three year period of the statute of limitations elapsed just twenty-four hours before Assistant United States Attorney Jacob J. Rosenblum scanned the committee's report in Washington and discovered the violation of the law.

James W. Gerard, who, as treasurer of the Democratic national committee, filed the reports, said that they had been prepared by the same firm of accountants which had prepared similar campaign reports for the Republican national committee in 1924.

Admits Violation.

Reports filed by the Democratic presidential candidate in 1928, as presented in the published reports of the matter, were "correct," said Mr. Medalie.

"There is no doubt at all that the letter of the law was violated both by the Democrats in 1928, and by the Republicans in 1924," he added. Further than that, he declined to comment.

The report which Mr. Medalie asserts violated the corrupt practices act was filed on Jan. 3, 1929.

The United States attorney said that reports filed after that date would be closely scrutinized. He said he would not confine his examination of campaign expenditure reports to those of the Democratic party. Mr. Rosenblum is to return to Washington to continue his scanning of the reports of all parties filed there.

Fails to Name Individuals.

"The violation of law," said Mr. Medalie, "consisted in the failure to enumerate the individual items of disbursement in excess of $10 by giving the name, address, amount and purpose in each instance.

"The failure to file a report that contained them is a violation of the law.

"Information to the effect that that law had been violated appeared in the newspapers on Dec. 31, 1931, too late to convene the grand jury which was then in recess, and too late to subpoena the records in Washington. Accordingly, the three years which constitute the statutory period of limitations elapsed.

"In view of the fact that the report was prepared in, and probably mailed from New York, the district would have jurisdiction over the alleged offense.

"It would serve no purpose to investigate further as to any matters relating to the 1928 report, because prosecution is barred by the statute of limitations."

The corrupt practices act provides imprisonment for a maximum term of two years for willful violation and for a maximum term of one year for inadvertent violations. In either case a $10,000 fine may be added or used as an alternate for the prison term.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ALMOST BROKE AND HIT BY BANK FAILURES

Westerville, O., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Anti-Saloon League of America is almost broke and there is gloom in this town, the birthplace of the league and the home of its national headquarters, for officials realize it will be courting disaster to be short of funds on the eve of a national political campaign.

An appeal was sent out from headquarters here to the "faithful," pointing out the necessity for funds to combat the foes of prohibition and asking them to contribute immediately.

The plea for funds declared that the dry organization faces a crisis, due primarily to the recent failure of the Bank of Westville, in which Anti-Saloon league funds were deposited.

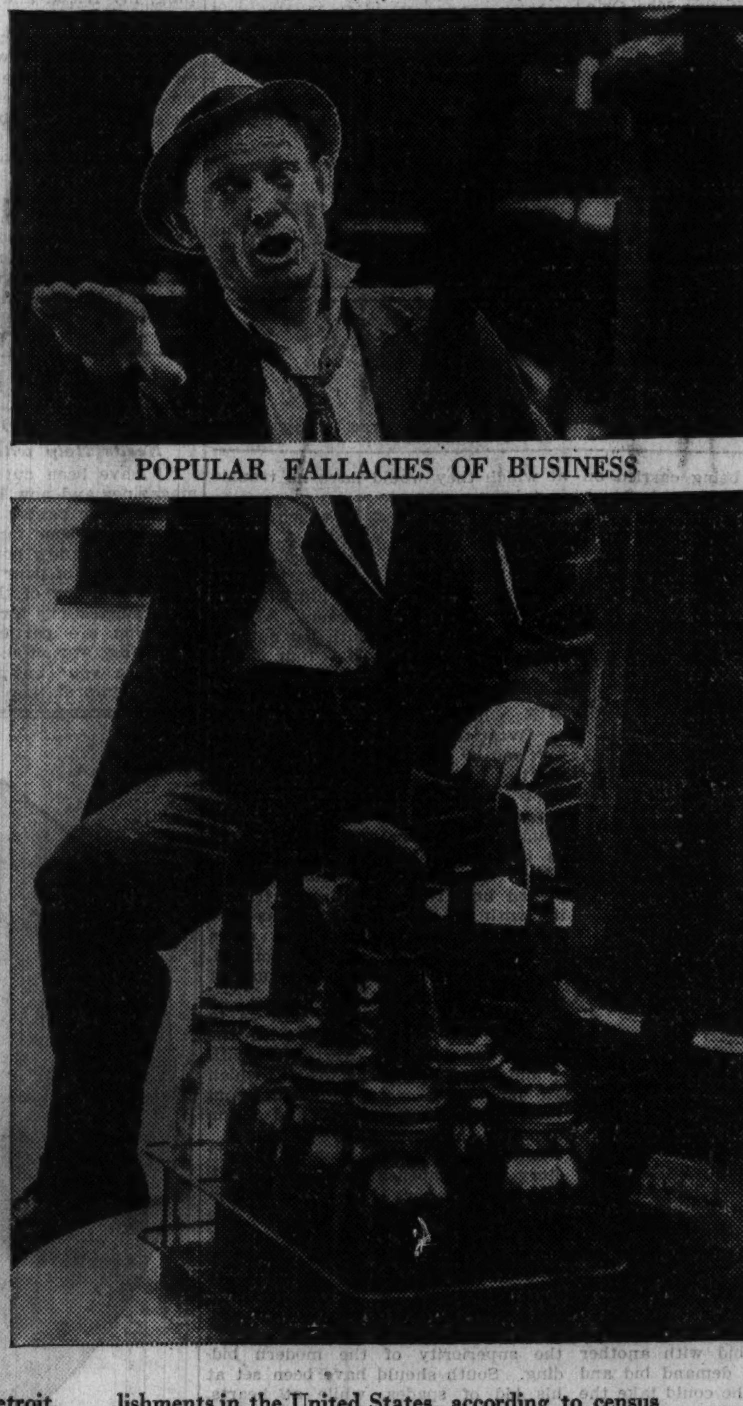
"There's no place for the LITTLE BUSINESS Today"



"ANOTHER big merger!" Headlines blare the news across the country. Assets measured in millions—plant area in square miles—employees in thousands—operations that girdle the globe! "You've got to be a big operator to get anywhere today," say the wise ones. "There's no place for the little business now." But you can't take all your statistics from headlines! The sound little business that goes right ahead year after year may not be news, but is it insignificant? Is it fading out of the picture? Let Pittsburgh give you one answer.

Here's a city reputed to be the breeding ground for big industry. Pittsburgh has 2,170 manufacturing plants. Of this number, however, 1,400 employ less than ten persons. Of 761 employing more than ten persons, 575 employ less than 150. And of this number more than 86 per cent are independently owned. Does that look as though big industry has the field to itself?

What you find in Pittsburgh, you find in Detroit, Los Angeles, New York. In fact, the average number of employees for all the 211,000 industrial establishments in the United States, according to census figures, is 48. And this takes no account of five million partnerships and one-man firms and shops.

That the little business is dying out is one of the popular fallacies of business. That its opportunities are declining is another. Creating a business, building it up through personal efforts, enjoying independence and freedom of action—these still are assets of the little business. So strong is their appeal that the little business can be said to be typical of America today.

Whether you are in a big business or a little business, you'll find refreshing light on problems that are of vital interest to you in the January issue of Nation's Business, just out. No business is so big or so small as to be unaffected by what goes on in other fields of business. No business is so large or small that misunderstanding, fallacious thinking, leaves it unharmed. Nation's Business was founded to serve business by interpreting business. It is today even more than in the past a necessary business tool.

PLA-MORS BEAT SHAMROCKS, 5-2; TAKE LEAD

ECONOMY PUTS PREP FIVES ON HALF SCHEDULE

5 P.M. Rule on Gyms Divides Program.

The schedules of the Chicago Public High School league basketball teams, which annually have been drawn under a home and home arrangement for both lightweight and heavyweight teams to play on the same date, were cut in half yesterday because of the school board's new economy program.

The board recently notified engineers at all schools to close the doors promptly at 5 o'clock. As the gymnasiums at most schools are not available until 4 o'clock or later it was found impossible to stage two games in one afternoon under the new plan.

Agree to Cut Schedule.

Officials of the athletic league gathered at the City club yesterday afternoon and agreed to curtail the schedules drawn last summer and which pitted teams against each other twice during the season. Thus the lightweight squads will play the first half of the schedule, and in the second meeting of the schools the heavyweight teams will meet.

A double header between McKinley and Tuley, the opening league game in the west section, was attempted yesterday afternoon at the McKinley gymnasium. Immediately after the completion of the lightweight contest the heavyweights went on the floor.

The game was stopped at the end of the first half. The players were ordered out of the gymnasium and the lights were turned out.

Postpones Crane Game.

The new rule also forced the postponement of the first game between Crane Tech, defending heavyweight champion, and Harrison Tech, which was scheduled on the latter's court yesterday.

Lightweight and heavyweight games have been played on the same day for 15 years, according to A. H. Pritzlaff, secretary of the league. Each team has been playing from eight to twelve league contests since the league was divided into four divisions, west, north, central, and south.

One school in the west section, Medill, because of its financial condition, recently withdrew from the basketball league. It was the only sport at Medill for more than five years.

McKinley Lights Win.

Several weeks before the opening of the basketball season the teams were limited to 22 games a season by the board of control. With the curtailment of the schedule the squads probably will be permitted to play nonleague opponents instead of the regularly scheduled contests.

A last period rally enabled McKinley lightweights to defeat Tuley in the first west section game, 26 to 23. The score was tied at the end of the first half, 11 to 11. Seppino and De Larme led the victors, the former collecting two baskets and two free throws, and De Larme scoring five points. Tuley heavies were leading, 18 to 7, when the game was stopped at the half. Lightweight lineup:

Catholic Youth Champs Beat Coast Boxers

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—Winning five of the eight bouts, the Catholic Youth organization boxers from Chicago defeated a team of coast champions before 6,500 spectators at the Olympic auditorium tonight. The Chicagoans had a decided edge in the lighter divisions.

Oscar Chanian defeated Frank Comancho, local flyweight, in the opening bout. Chanian used a straight left effectively to outscore his opponent. George Haberski scored the second Chicago victory with a decision over Ray Campo. They are bantamweights. Johnny Fuentes of Pasadena defeated Bud Macey in the 126 pound class.

Eugene Higgins of Chicago got an unpopular decision over Hoyt Jones in the lightweight division. Scoring a knockdown in the second round, Scotty Sylvano outclassed Hughie Owens of Los Angeles in the welterweight class.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

JOE CITIZEN SQUAWKS.

DEAR HARVE: O, yes, I know The Wake doesn't go in for political and economic discussions, as a rule, but it's about time you and me and fellows like us who have taken it on the chin for so long do go in for them, hence this letter.

Here are one set of fatheads at Washington and another set at Springfield sitting up nights trying to think up new ways of getting taxes out of us turnips. Don't these intellectual pygmies know that overtaxation is what's the matter with the country right now? And have you noted what salvos of ringing silence greet any suggestion that these would-be solons cut their own salaries or perquisites? If they got nothing they'd still be overpaid.

I've been thinking over the benefits we derive from our paternalistic government which needs two billion more taxes to enable it to spend four and a half billions [or is it trillions?]. Look 'em over yourself.

There's the internal revenue department to collect the taxes which the fatheads impose, and we haven't hardly any money left to pay taxes anyway.

There's the prohibition enforcement department to spend part of the taxes. That is, they take our money and so make it harder for bootleggers, so the bootleggers make it harder for us. Prohibition never has and never can be enforced.

They tax our cigars and cigarets. Just read that the tax on 15 cent packages of cigarets is 6 cents per package. Wonder if the ladies know that.

There's the interstate commerce commission which has so wisely regulated and ruined the railroads that the roads are having to reduce wages.

There's the farm relief board which hasn't relieved the farmers but has relieved the taxpayers of several hundred millions.

There's the cotton stabilization board with high salaried officials which hasn't stabilized cotton, except downward.

Then there's the appropriation to give Californians water when every one knows fruit concentrates, producing wine, are what Californians are more interested in.

And there's the department of agriculture to tell you how to raise birdseed or lettuce salad, if you keep a bird or a salad.

There's the army and navy, reduced, experts say, to inefficiency, and even if they were efficient, some Utopia chaser would get us into another war which isn't any of our business anyway to save the world for democracy and create a lot more welching nations who hate us for lending them billions. And another war would create another set of veterans.

And unless we lend more money to Europe which won't come back, we'll lose the billions already loaned, which are lost anyway.

Looking it all over, Harve, wouldn't we be better off if there was no Washington? That's the conclusion I've reached. The country always is better off when the f. h.'s with their fantastic bills are not in session.

Well, what am I going to do about it? There's only one thing I can do. At the next election I march to the polls, look over the names and vote against every single fellow that's now holding office. That's what I and a lot of others think of our officeholders.

Since you are a constant advocate of sportsmanship, I ask you to do the same thing because the people are not getting a break. You are welcome to publish this, if you wish, to gather recruits. Please omit real name, however, or some snooper will come and find home brew in my basement.

J. Joe Citizen.

The Wake has given careful thought to Mr. Citizen's letter. We find many points of common agreement. So we'll give his polls suggestion further consideration at the next election.

Bonesetter Reese Leaves Estate Valued at $199,627

Youngstown, O., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The estate of John [Bonesetter] Reese, famous as a healer of injured athletes, which was left to his five daughters, today was appraised at $199,627. Reese died on Nov. 29.

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS REDUCE PLAYER LISTS

Cut Rosters to Minimum for Spring Training.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The big league baseball magnates, during their recent business sessions in Chicago, neglected to reveal the full extent of their leanings toward economy. They admitted a plan to slash large salaries and to abide by a 23 player limit after June 15. Later it leaked out that umpire staffs would be slightly reduced. Now, according to discoveries made yesterday, a move is being made to cut down rosters to a minimum before the training trips get under way.

The redeeming feature of this is that the patient newspapermen will not be forced to restrain themselves listening to some magnate relate how some farm kid from Hales Corners or a recent member of the Western Union messenger corps is bound to become, after a few cups of big league coffee, a second Ty Cobb.

Senators, Tigers Swing Axe.

The real evidence of how well the owners are watching their expenditures is furnished by moves made quietly by the Washington and Detroit clubs. The Senators at one stroke have lopped off eight men who in normal times would be almost certain to see what a training camp looks like. The Tigers have tossed five players overboard. This reduces these two clubs to 26 and 33, respectively. The law permits them to take 40 into spring training.

One of the Washington discards is Ad Liska, the underhand pitcher who up to last season was considered a prize possession. His arm was sore throughout the last season, so he has been handed his unconditional release. The seven others were turned over to Chattanooga, a Washington club farm. They are Catcher Phelps, Pitcher Masters, former Penn football star; First Baseman Voss, First Baseman Travis, Shortstop MacLeod, and Outfielders Powell and Gill. Detroit has shipped Outfielders Doljack, Hughes, and H. Walker to Toronto, Outfielder Shiver to Montreal, and First Baseman Greenberg to Beaumont.

Sox to Travel Light.

The White Sox, whose latest move was to send Infielder Jeffries and Outfielder Norman to St. Paul for Outfielder Anderson, also are going to travel light. The Comiskey roster numbers 31 men, including Manager Fonseca. The Athletics, who never were bashful about exposing their frugal tendencies, have 30 players enrolled, and about a half dozen of these are not likely to survive long enough to enjoy a free trip to the Florida camp.

The Yankees are loaded to the hilt with 40 men, this being due in a measure to Owner Ruppert's desire to build another pennant winner around Babe Ruth's powerful bat. As the Yanks now have Newark as a farm for excess talent, it is possible that Manager Joe McCarthy will find it easy to slice off about ten heads so as to avoid overcrowding at the Florida training site. Another club on a strict spending diet is the Browns, who will go to camp with about 26 players.

DUBLINSKY GETS DECISION OVER PEEWEE JARRELL

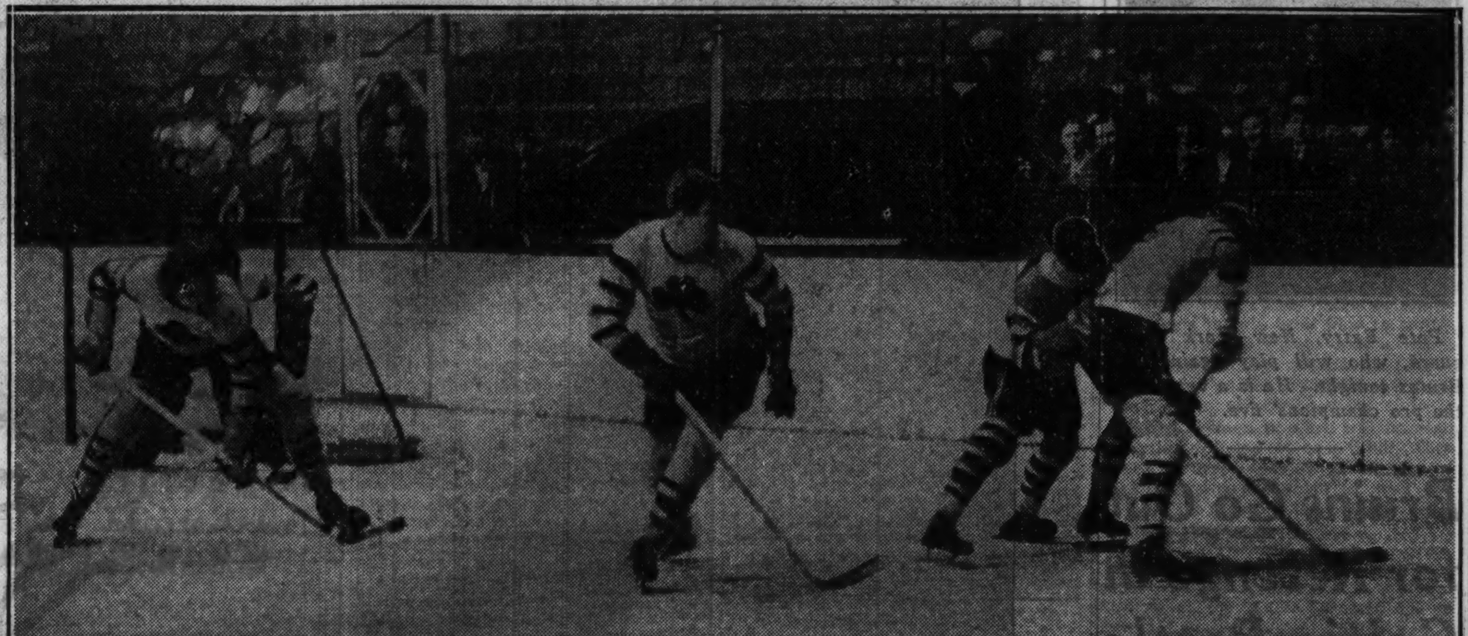
Lake Forest, South Shore Get Horse Show Dates

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Dates for 65 horse shows were approved today at the annual meeting of the Association of American Horse Shows. The National Horse show, held annually in Madison Square Garden, again was allotted the week of Nov. 9 to 15.

Dates allotted to the major horse shows include Lake Forest, Ill., Horse Show association, June 17 and 18, and South Shore Country club, Chicago, June 7 to 11.

WHEN SHAMROCKS WERE DUMPED INTO SECOND PLACE



The Shamrocks' attack fails. With Curley Headley poised in front of Goalie Levine awaiting a pass, and Tip O'Neill (center) ready to take the puck, Jack Riley was pushed into the boards by McLeod, the Kansas City defense man, and the play went awry. The Shamrocks could have used a goal right here, since they were fighting for the lead. Defeat, 5 to 2, dropped them to second place.

De Paul Piles Up 33-17 Score on Centenary

De Paul university scored its third basketball victory of the season last night, swamping Centenary college, 33 to 17, at De Paul gym.

Midway in the first half Centenary pulled up within two points of the Blue Demons at 9 to 7, but Capt. Joe O'Connor and Tony Laritus sank shots to give De Paul a 15 to 7 lead at half time.

Pete Barskis, entering the game at the start of the second half, scored ten points for De Paul in a ten minute outburst of scoring.

Before De Paul reserves went in, the Blue Demons had compiled a 27 to 8 margin.

NOTRE DAME WINS, 34-19

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Notre Dame won a slow game from St. Thomas of St. Paul here tonight, 34 to 19. Capt. Norb Crowe, forward, and his brother, Leo, led the Irish attack with ten and seven points, respectively.

Coach George Keogan started his shock troops, but had to insert the varsity midway in the first period when St. Thomas took a 13 to 7 lead.

The first team trailed, 14 to 13, at the half, but De Cook's free throw and Baldwin's field goal gave the Irish a lead which they never lost. Lineup:

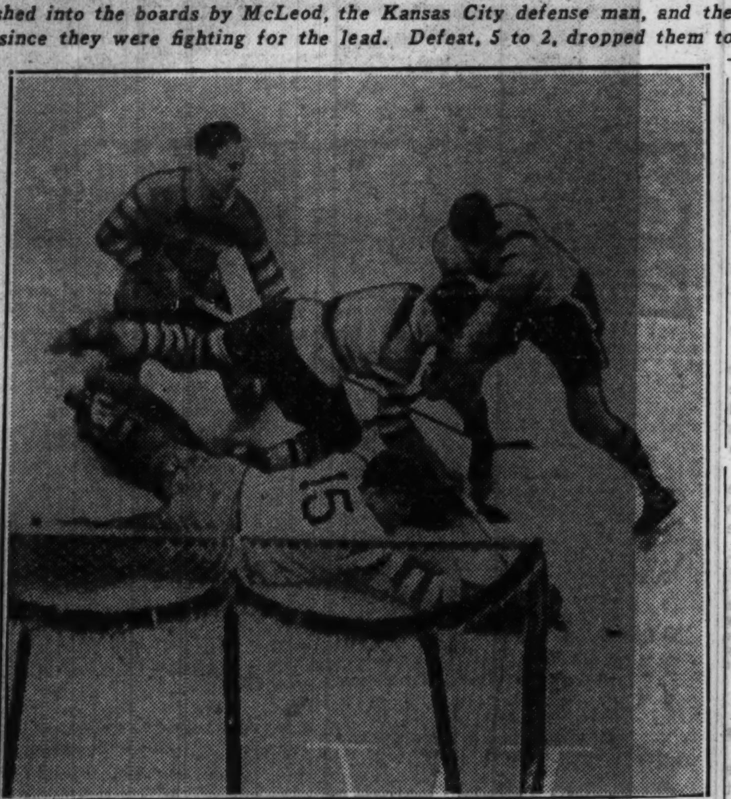
DELAY DRAFTING OF SCHMELING FIGHT CONTRACT

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—A delay in drawing up contracts to specifications for Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, in his proposed defense of the title against Mickey Walker, former world's middleweight title holder, will postpone the signing of the scheduled bout, it was announced today by Joe Jacobs, the champion's manager.

Jacobs would not detail the cause of the delay in signing, but declared the ceremony is a formality, since he has accepted terms for Schmeling and Jack Kearns has accepted terms for Walker. Kearns said today the challenger will get 17½ per cent and added that he is agreeable to signing a contract giving Madison Square Garden exclusive call on his services if Walker wins the title. A similar contract will be signed for Schmeling.



Look out, Mike! Goalie Mike Karakas was out of position here, trying to smother the puck which lay unpossessed at the end of his hand. Wilson of Kansas City was triyng to reach it also, but Boddy Burns held him back.

Tales of Tattersall's

[This is the third of a series of articles about old time fights and fighters at historic Tattersall's on South Dearborn street.]

BY FRENCH LANE.

The beginnings of two Chicago fortunes were peculiarly linked with a fight at Tattersall's which took place on March 17, 1900, when Benny Yanger, the Tipton Slasher, became the toast of Chicago and at the same time one of the foremost bantamweight boxers in the world.

These fortunes, which received their first impetus when Yanger fought Harry Forbes, have nothing whatever to do with each other, but their founders on this one occasion at least rejoiced together.

The one was the youthful, slender manager of Yanger, John Hertz, who was then a newspaper reporter in Chicago.

The other was the budding young plunger who was beginning to attract attention in Chicago's night life and in gambling circles—Monte Tennes.

Tennes Wins $3,800 and Bets It All on Yanger.

As Yanger's manager Hertz for the first time was able to get together a few hundred dollars. Whether these few hundred dollars spurred him on to become the financial genius he is today I do not know, but it is certain that the episode formed one of the earlier high spots in his career.

The fortune made by Tennes was of an entirely different color.

Two nights before Yanger fought Forbes at Tattersall's, Tennes, the young dude and plunger, wandered into a dice game on South State street with a few dollars in his pocket. He came out with a bankroll of $3,800.

The Yanger-Forbes fight was the talk of Chicago. It seemed the one sporting event on which everybody was willing to wager a little something. For Forbes at the time was one of the great bantamweights of the world. The sensational Yanger was just up from the preliminary ranks and fighting the first windup of his career. But his reputation had been made by knocking over a lot of boys whom the wise fight fans had put down as "so many mugs."

Forbes Starts Off to Show Why He's 3 to 1 Favorite.

Forbes ruled as the 2 to 1 favorite. Tennes had a hunch that Yanger would win. Pressing the luck which had been with him in the dice game he started betting on the Tipton Slasher. When he had finished his bankroll all the money he had in the world—was up. Tennes had bet his $3,800 against $7,600 that Yanger would triumph.

Except for Hertz, the enthusiastic manager of Yanger, and the cold, calm Tennes, whose idea even in those days must have been "Well, it's just money anyway," there were very few in the arena who gave Yanger more than an outside chance to win.

"How could he possibly whip the master fighter Forbes?" was the question asked everywhere.

This was the attitude of the crowd

Hockey Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
New York Americans, 2; Montreal Canadiens, 1 [overtime].
Boston, 3; Toronto, 3 [overtime].
New York Rangers, 2; Montreal Maroons, 0.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Kansas City, 5; Chicago Shamrocks, 2.

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The New York Rangers kept their long winning streak intact tonight by defeating the Montreal Maroons, 2 to 0 in a rough National Hockey league game. The victory gave the Rangers a record of nine wins and two ties in their last eleven games.

The game was marked by rough play and a couple of clashes that threatened to develop into fist fights were stopped by referees and players. Eighteen penalties were called and at one time in the first period three players from each team were in the penalty box at once.

The Rangers scored their first goal at the close of the second period with a three man combination play. Frank Boucher scored on passes from the Cook brothers. Cecil Dillon clinched the victory in the third period. He caught the Maroon defense flatfooted on a solo dash.

BOSTON, 3; TORONTO, 3

Boston, Mass., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The high flying Toronto Maple Leafs tonight were held to a 3-3 overtime tie by the Boston Bruins. A crowd of 16,000 saw the game. Dit Clapper went through King Clancy and Joe Horner and fooled Chabot with a light angle shot early in the first session. The scoring ceased until late in the second period, when both teams scored twice. The Leafs jumped into the lead when Happy Day counted twice inside of three minutes.

The Bruins tied the score when George Owen pushed Clapper's assist inside Chabot's net and then took the lead after Art Chapman caged Yip Foster's assist. Andy Blair tied the score in the third with Frank Finnegan and Hal Cotton assisting.

AMERICANS WIN, 2-1

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 5.—(AP)—After going through eleven National Hockey league games without a victory, the New York Americans broke the jinx tonight and handed the world champion Montreal Canadiens a 2 to 1 beating in an overtime battle.

The winning goal, scored after 39 seconds of the overtime period had elapsed, came on a pass from Dutton to McVeigh.

The Canadiens scored first, La Rochelle counting, and held this margin until the third period, when McVeigh was on the scoring end of a combination play in which Himes and Ayres also figured.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Kansas City Pla-Mors irritated, perhaps, by the persistence of a long standing first place tie with the Shamrocks, last night rectified the matter to their satisfaction by giving our green and white lads a brutal spanking. The score of the rather humiliating demonstration was 5 to 2.

The Shamrock offense was right sprightly, but there were times when the defense seemed in a stupor.

Young Mike Karakas, who is trying so hard to learn how to prevent pucks from going into nets, had a most distressing evening. But the shortcomings were not all his. The other Shamrocks at times forgot all about the technique of covering individual enemies in their defense zone. On at least two occasions these lapses on the part of his teammates made young Mike look bad when he was not to blame.

Levine Shows 'Em How.

But even so, Mike suffered in comparison with Goalie Porky Levine, also youthful, but, statistically at least, the best cage defender in the American league.

The first period ended with the Pla-Mors leading, 2 to 1. The Shamrock run was made through some neat offensive work on the part of Burns and Headley, Burns making the score. The K. C. goals involved some offensive skill, but was mostly chargeable to drowsiness on the part of the Green and White defense.

The Shamrocks were the first to score. Headley passed across the rink to Burns, who skated an unblocked diagonal course to the right spot, then lifted the puck into the cage. The time was 11:29.

Easy Goal for Pla-Mors.

Ranger used his stick to produce the tying score but he could have done it with his fountain pen, so simple was the task. There was a mêlée near the Shamrock's left boards when some one shoved the rubber across the ice to the brink of the cage. Goalie Karakas still was bent over with great tenseness, away from his cage, trying to locate the rubber among the flying skates some 20 feet away from him. Ranger's eyes were a bit better and besides he happened to be standing nearer the mouth of the cage than the Shamrock goalie.

Ranger leisurely thumped the puck into the net, an incident that was brought to the attention of Karakas by the flashing of a red light behind the cage.

Defense Men Doze.

Goodman made the second Pla-Mor goal in 19:32. Karakas had stopped a shot and batted it straight back in front of the cage to the blue line. Goodman skated right up and popped home a short one, much to the surprise of the Shamrock defense men, who were standing around at the time.

The second period saw the Shamrock offensive as eager as ever and the defense infinitely wider awake, perhaps, because of a swell vocal program by Manager Babe Dye, delivered as the excitable boss did everything but put on a pair of skates to inspire a tie.

During the closing minute of the period no fewer than 11 athletes were inside the K. C. defense zone, most of them within 10 feet of the cage, but the 2 to 1 Pla-Mor advantage prevailed.

Pla-Mors Increase Lead.

Johnson, Burns, and Brydson pressed the Pla-Mors in the early part of the third period, but their best efforts inevitably lodged against Levine's boots.

After five minutes of the third period, Ranger got his bridge work loosened and went to the bench for repairs. He emerged four minutes later and after playing 42 seconds pitched a shot from the blue line right past Karakas. The time was 8:42.

Pla-Mor goal No. 4 was scored in 10:32 on a long pass from Campbell which was guided into the net by Goodman.

The second Shamrock goal was a neat affair, Headley from Brydson, in 15.

Kansas City goal No. 5 was scored by Goodman on a long pass from Campbell in 16:17.

THERE'LL BE ICE, SILVER SKATES ENTRANTS CLAIM

So They Rush to File Admittance Blanks.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

There's no ice, but entries for the sixteenth annual Silver Skates derbies sponsored by THE TRIBUNE continue to pour in. Apparently these boys and girls are as optimistic as the Silver Skates officials that winter will arrive one of these days and make an extended Chicago visit.

The Silver Skates derbies will be held Jan. 23 and 24 at Garfield park. Qualifying races will be held in at least three age divisions, the boys' midget, boys' juvenile, and boys' junior, on Saturday, Jan. 23. If the number of entries requires, qualifying races in other age divisions will be held the same day.

Helen Enters Early.

All other preliminary events, semi-finals, and finals in all seven derbies will be staged Sunday afternoon, Jan. 24.

Among the entries received yesterday was that of Helen Klaris, 11134 Normal avenue. Helen will compete in the girls' senior Silver Skates derby. She's quite an athlete, for already she has won 21 medals and ribbons, 13 of them for first places in track, swimming and skating. She competed last summer in the second annual TRIBUNE swimming meet at Lincoln park.

Thirty-eight individual prizes are offered in the sixteenth annual renewal of Silver Skates. The first three contestants in each of the seven derbies will receive pairs of skates. Fourth place in each derby is a silver medal while fifth place winners will receive bronze medals. In addition, there are three gold medals for those who lead the greatest number of laps in the longest derbies, girls' senior, men's senior, and boys' intermediate.

Team Wins Prize.

Here is a list of the distances for the derbies and qualifying races for each:

Men's senior, 2 miles, qualifying 1 mile.
Boys' intermediate, 1 mile, half mile.
Boys' junior, half mile, qualifying quarter mile.
Boys' juvenile, quarter mile, qualifying 220 yards.
Boys' midget, 220 yards, qualifying 110 yards.
Girls' senior, 1 mile, qualifying half mile.
Girls' junior, half mile, qualifying quarter mile.

In addition to the individual prizes, the team which scores the most points in all the derbies will receive the Walter Eckersall Memorial trophy for one year. This trophy becomes the permanent possession of the club which wins it three times.

Entries close at midnight Jan. 17. All letters received postmarked Jan. 17 will be accepted. No post entries may be made.

Registration Necessary.

All skaters 16 years of age must be members of the Illinois Western Skating association, the governing body of ice skating in this territory. Those under 16 do not. Registration is good for one year and the fee is twenty-five cents. Harry Berz, chairman of the registration committee of the Illinois Western Skating association, will issue membership cards. His address is 3714 Polk street. The fee also may be paid on the day of the races.

There is no entry fee for the Silver Skates. All that is required is the information requested in the entry blank printed daily in THE TRIBUNE. Team entry may be made by captain, secretary or other official on separate paper if this information of age and address is given.

FOUR WINDY CITY LEAGUE GAMES CARDED TONIGHT

Four games will be played tonight in the Windy City Basketball league at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. The schedule:

Pandora 770 vs. All-Chicagos.
Lindstroms vs. Hannin Did-Its.
Eller Big Five vs. Englewood Reds.

Edgren Quits as Member of California Ring Board

Pacific Grove, Cal., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Robert Edgren, member of the state boxing commission since Jan. 1, 1931, announced today he had sent in his resignation to Gov. James Rolph. One of the country's most noted boxing critics and a sport writer and cartoonist for 30 years, Edgren said he was dissatisfied with the workings of the commission.

Bruins Go Out for Revenge in Celtic Battle

The Chicago Bruins will attempt to even matters with the New York Celtics for an early season defeat tonight in a basketball game at the Rainbo Fronton.

In the Bruins' opening game of the season the pro champions scored a two point victory, but now Manager George Halas figures that his team has improved enough to take the measure of Dutch Dehnert and his teammates.

The Bruins-Celts game will serve as the windup. This game will start at 9 o'clock. The Lakeside Sportsmen and the Owl Indians will open the program at 8.

The Celtic team is virtually the same one that has been coming here for years. Nat Holman has retired from active competition, but in his place is Nat Hickey, who starred with the Bruins for two seasons.

Another addition to the ranks of the Celtics is Cookie Cunningham, who was a star at Ohio State before he entered pro basketball.

I.W.A.C. Will Hold Olympic Tests Jan. 30

BY BETTY ECKERSALL.

In an effort to discover Olympic prospects, the Illinois Women's Athletic club will conduct an Olympic preparatory indoor track meet Jan. 30 at the Naval armory, Randolph street and the lake.

The meet will be conducted under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union of America and will be open to all girls 14 years of age and older. All participants must be registered with the A. A. U. and as a special convenience, last minute entries may register at the door of the armory.

I. W. A. C. Won't Compete.

The following events are scheduled: 60 yard hurdles, 60 yard run, running high jump, and the 440 yard relay.

The I. W. A. C. track team will not compete in these events, but will merely give exhibitions. The team, determined to give the potential stars every advantage, has offered its services to coach the future sprinters. Consequently, sectional training arenas have been selected at which the girls entered in the meet may register and receive expert instruction. Loyola university gymnasium will be open Saturday afternoons from 2:30 to 5:00, when Annette Rogers, Doris Anderson and Helen Filkey will be available for instruction. The south side training site will be Ogden park, 64th street and Racine avenue, and will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 7 p. m. Evelyn Hall and Catherine Rutherford will be the instructors here.

McKinley park, 39th street and Western avenue is another indoor track that will be used as a preparatory site on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 7:30 with Leora Johnson coaching. West siders may practice at the 132d Field artillery, Madison and Rockwell streets, on Monday and Thursdays from 4 to 6 p. m. under the direction of Elsie Imhoff.

Roseland Enters Team.

Betty Robinson, Olympic runner, who is recovering from an airplane accident of last summer and Racine Thompson, will enter a large team from Roseland. Betty will not be able to give any actual instruction, but has been an important personage in organizing the meet. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second, and third place winners. There also will be trophy cups for the three fastest relay teams. A special cup, donated by Mrs. Richard Folsom, member of the A. A. U. committee, wil be given to the highest point winner.

Miss Elizabeth Waterman, physical director of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, has direct supervision of the meet, and entry blanks may be obtained by writing her, care of the club.

AMATEURS FIGHT TOMORROW FOR VETERANS' FUND

The eight bout amateur boxing card to be staged by the Blackhawk post of the American Legion tomorrow night in the Coliseum has been completed. All proceeds will go to the disabled veterans' fund.

Topping the bill is a bout between Nick Scialaba, international bantamweight champion, and Bud Ginter, state champion, at the same weight. Other well known amateurs will compete, including Billy Lee, former A. E. F. champion, who meets Bob Iverson. Joe Luppino and Steve Hajdo, two flashy lightweights, also are matched, and Ian Grant, welterweight, boxes Billy Adams.

* * *

Freddy Miller, Cincinnati, O., junior lightweight, and Tony Pernice of Chicago meet in the windup bout Friday night at Merry Garden arena, Sheffield and Belmont avenues. Walter Jerz, Lawndale middleweight, fights Fred Anderson in the semi-final bout. Six supporting contests will be announced tomorrow.

* * *

Promoter Pep Kerwin announced yesterday that the Illinois athletic commission has sanctioned boxing and wrestling exhibitions between women as supporting bouts for the Al Friedman-Jack Roper ten round heavyweight bout Friday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. The women boxers are Helen Gnardi of Detroit, and Louise Theisen, Chicago, and the wrestlers are Nell Donald, Los Angeles, and Marie Lapatina, Chicago.

● WRAPPED IN No. 300 DU PONT MOISTURE-PROOF CELLOPHANE . . . THE BEST MADE

© 1932, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Light up . . . Convince Yourself that Chesterfields Satisfy

FLIP OPEN a pack of Chesterfields! Help yourself to a cigarette...Light up...and let's get the facts.

Mister...you're dead right. They're milder! And when the cool, fresh Chesterfield smoke hits the taste-spot...there's no question about it...they do taste better!

It's no secret in tobacco circles that Chesterfield buys the finest tobaccos that grow...Turkish and Domestic...sun-ripened, mellow, pure!

Chesterfields are blended first...then cross-blended ...to make them milder...and milder still! There's no mistaking that rare balance of flavor built up by Cross-Blending. You enjoy it in every fragrant puff!

Even the cigarette paper is different. Cleaner, whiter, tasteless...the purest that money can buy.

Listen, smokers...this is straight. You can't put taste in a cigarette...unless quality goes in, too.

You can taste the goodness in Chesterfields... actually tell the difference. But light up...and convince yourself.

● Pass your verdict on Chesterfield's Radio Program, too! Nat Shilkret's 35-piece Orchestra with Alex Gray, soloist, are on the Columbia Network every night except Sunday, at 10:30 E. S. T.

THEY'RE MILDER • • THEY'RE PURE • • THEY TASTE BETTER • • They Satisfy

REJUVENATED FALCONS MEET HAWKS TONIGHT

Detroit Sextet Invades Stadium Rink.

The hockey game at the Chicago Stadium between the Detroit Falcons and the Blackhawks tonight promises to be one of the best of the season. The Falcons, off to a poor start since the beginning of the season, are now only two games behind the Hawks, who have been battling the Boston Bruins for second place for two weeks.

The Blackhawks have lost only one game in the last six, while the Falcons, rounding into playing form, beat the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night in an overtime battle, 3 to 2.

Series Score Even.

The teams have played two games to date. In the first the Hawks defeated the Falcons in Chicago by a 4-1 score. The next night they played again in Detroit and another 4-1 finish resulted, with the Falcons winning.

Since these two games both teams have remodeled their lineups somewhat. Jack Adams, Falcon manager, traded Tommy Filmore and Bert McInenly to the New York Americans for two left wingers, Happy Emms and Frank Carson, while Maj. McLaughlin moved Vic Ripley in between Johnny Gottselig and Lolo Couture and brought the fleet Frank Ingram back from Pittsburgh to operate on a line with Paul Thompson and Jerry Lowrey.

Kilrea Back in Form.

The return to form of Hec Kilrea, who ran neck and neck last season with Gottselig for the league's best left winger honors, has also occasioned great joy in Detroit, while Ebbie Goodfellow, the United States division high scorer of last season, has crept from fifteenth to sixth position in the scoring list.

The Falcon sextet is one of the two teams which has defeated the New York Rangers. They also have a win to their credit over the world's champion Les Canadiens. Probable lineups:

Time, 1:05 4-5. Druggist, Donie, Jack Howe ran.

SIXTH RACE—Purse, $1,000, claiming, 5 year olds, 1 mile.
Deserve, 104 [Corbett]....22.00 11.50 5.10
Single Kay, 108 [F. Horn]. 3.80 5.90
Jane Mc, 104 [Phillips]. 20.80

Deserve slipped through on inside rounding the first turn, and disposing of Single Kay drew away at his leisure in the home stretch. Single Kay, fractious at post, broke well and was in rather close quarters rounding the first turn and was driving to the limit all the last furlong. Jane Mc closed a big gap from a very slow beginning. Spanfair was cut off on back stretch and Mills was forced to pull up.

Time, 1:41 3-5. Nagar, Spanfair, Princess Italia, Delude ran.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse, $1,000, claiming, 4 year olds and up, 1 mile.
Battling On, 115 [Hanford].9.20 4.80 4.00
Marshal Ney, 119 [Mills]. 7.90 4.70
Meek, 107 [Montgomery]. 6.50

Battling On, under improved handling, responded to strong urging the last quarter mile and closing determinedly outfinished Marshal Ney. Latter was smoothly rated in front and with slight advantage held on well but could not stave off Battling On. Meek was outrun early, but closed powerfully. Timour tired from forcing pace.

Time, 1:40 1-5. Observation, Timour, Laftar, Kavanaugh, Kitty Graves, Verve ran.

Olive Sabath, Chicago Filly, Wins at 5 to 1

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 5.—Lavelee [Buddy] Ensor, a bad boy of the truf who is staging a comeback after a layoff of more than two years, continued to show brilliant riding form at Oriental park here today.

Ensor, who once was a rival of the great Sande, had two mounts this afternoon. He won with J. E. Smallman's Netie Pebbles and finished second with the Pine Tree stable's News Reel. Both of Ensor's mounts had been well backed.

Olive Sabath, a Chicago filly owned by Albert Sabath, won the short two furlong juvenile race. She made a show of her field all the way and the odds against her were 5 to 1. Olive Sabath is a namesake of the Chicago attorney's wife.

Jockey J. W. Frye rushed Olive Sabath away from the barrier and she opened up a good lead on those that were trailing her. Frye did not give her a breathing spell and she won handily from News Reel with Ezella getting up in time to claim third money.

After being a turf outcast Ensor was granted a license at Agua Caliente at the beginning of the winter racing season. He soon left Agua Caliente and rode his first winner at the Oriental park track last Sunday when he piloted Nelson to victory.

90 QUINTETS TO PLAY TONIGHT IN WEST PARKS MEET

The annual west parks basketball tournament will open tonight, when ninety teams start competition at seven different parks. Fifteen parks, each represented in six divisions ranging from heavyweights to those under 14 years of age, will compete in the double elimination event played on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Humboldt will play Eckhart at Harrison park to begin the heavyweight play, with the other games as follows: Douglas vs. Shedd; Holstein vs. Altgeld; Dvorak vs. Stanford; Austin vs. Columbus; LaFollette vs. Franklin, and Pulaski vs. Union.

TILDEN DEFEATS BURKE, FRENCH TENNIS CHAMP

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—William T. Tilden today defeated Albert Burke, professional tennis champion of France, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0, in an exhibition match at the Penn Athletic club.

In another singles encounter Emmett Pare, Chicago, lost to Bobby Seller, Los Angeles, 6-4. Only one set was played.

Burke and Pare won a doubles contest from Tilden and Seller, 6-4, 6-3.

as it finally packed Tattersall's to the rafters. The betting showed Forbes a 3 to 1 favorite as the first tap of the bell was heard.

For two rounds the clever, graceful, punching Forbes whipped Yanger at every turn and at times made him look like a novice. Dimmer and dimmer, in the opinion of the onlookers, grew Yanger's chances of overcoming the mountainous lead. If Tennes thought differently he showed no emotion.

Soon after the beginning of the third round Matchmaker Lou Houseman saw his dreams of wild riotous nights at Tattersall's come true.

For Yanger had rallied. He was carrying the fight to Forbes with a terrific body attack. He was now fighting like a tiger. Yanger went viciously after Forbes again in the fourth round and as it ended he had about evened the score.

One Punch in the Fifth and Yanger Is the Hero.

As the fifth round got under way Yanger sent a short but powerful punch to Forbes' chin. Down went the idol of nearly every fistic fan in Chicago. Standing back was the new hero, Yanger, exhausted but listening to Referee George Siler counting Forbes out.

Yanger had stirred a Tattersall's crowd to a point of hysteria. Surely the wily matchmaker Houseman was not going to let such a box office magnet slip from his grasp.

He knew that he wouldn't a few days later when two sports from the south side walked into his office and offered to wager $5,000 they could bring a man of Yanger's weight into the ring who could whip the Tipton Slasher within six rounds.

[The fourth article in Tales of Tattersall's will appear in tomorrow's Tribune.]

Pin Stars Hold Meet to Name Title Aspirant

Chicago bowlers have their eyes riveted on the world match game championship now held by Joe Falcaro of New York. To decide among themselves which is the best qualified to challenge the eastern star, 12 leading Chicago players have organized an all-star league and the winner will be sent forth to bring the title here.

The competition will begin tomorrow at 3 o'clock with two matches at Bensinger's Randolph alleys when Frank Kartheiser meets Eddie Krems and Dominik De Vito opposes Ernie Schanz.

Other matches on this week's schedule will bring together Babe Bunning and Jimmy Smith, and Ben Bernicchi and Wally Freitag at 4 p. m. Saturday and Bill Lenzen and Joe Gratz, and Joe Filger and Louie Levine at 8 p. m. Saturday.

* * *

The S. and L. Motors, American Bowling congress champions, and the Boyle Valves have decided that the team championship of Chicago should be determined. They have arranged a 12 game match, total pins to count, for Sunday afternoon and evening and another double session the following Sunday on the Randolph alleys.

* * *

Expert women bowlers will be seen in action Sunday at the Windy City alleys, where the Jones & Baumrucker five is scheduled to meet the J. and B. Cicero Elks. Each team has won one series.

The seventeenth annual father and son bowling tournament will be rolled Sunday at the Mussey Recreation alleys, 131 South Wabash avenue

GIVE BOB WHITES A BREAK, THEY'LL ESCAPE HAWKS

Scientists Check Up on Ways of Quail.

BY BOB BECKER.

After sitting out in the cold for many long hours in order to watch coveys of Bob Whites, scientists at last can tell sportsmen and landowners what kind of winter covey quail must have and how the birds elude the attacks of Cooper's hawks, if thick protective cover is available.

This information gathered by a group of scientists during a recent intensive study of the northern Bob White in Wisconsin is a Sherlock Holmes stunt that makes fascinating reading.

Deductions on Quail.

Here are a few of the valuable deductions made as a result of watching coveys of quail and their reactions to various kinds of hawks:

Generally speaking, Bob Whites realize that ordinary large hawks, such as the red tails, rough legged and marsh hawks, are nothing to worry about unless these hawks get too close. All of the predators of this group are slow and clumsy compared to the round-winged darter of the woodlands, the Cooper's hawk. In brushy cover quail can elude the big clumsy flyers. The marsh hawk is more skillful in the air than the red-tail, but even he hasn't much chance to get a healthy, well conditioned, well situated quail.

In sitting out in bitterly cold weather to watch the coveys of quail and how they could escape even the Cooper's hawk if the birds have the right kind of cover, the investigators recorded the following episode which occurred east of Prairie du Sac, Wis.

Escapes but Loses Feathers.

One bird beat a Cooper's hawk to a fencerow grapevine tangle—but had its tail feathers snatched out as it got there. Tailless and shedding feathers as it ran the Bob White escaped by penetrating a vine tangle so thick that its pursuer couldn't follow.

The watchers recorded dozens of which showed that northern quail thrilling episodes like this, all of must have suitable stands of weeds, brush, long grass, and [even more important] grapevine and brush tangles in which to hide. Given these on any farm, our northern Bob Whites can, with a normal supply of food, go through a winter in comfort and safety.

2 BOYS CONFESS TO FIRING HUT IN WHICH EIGHT DIE

Nail Up Doors, Windows, Start Blaze with Oil.

Lancaster, O., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Because one of them was bested in a fist fight, two youths, inmates of the Lancaster Industrial school, today admitted firing the cottage of James White, 40, last spring, resulting in the death to the man and seven of his eight children.

The White family lived near Bladen in Gallia county. The fire occurred April 7. The boys, Alfred Ramer, 15 year old son of Mrs. Mary Baker, Gallipolis, and Ellsworth Moyer, Bucyrus, first revealed details of the crime to officials of the school on Dec. 31.

Prompted by Fright.

When questioned today by Prosecutor Harry M. Miller and Sheriff C. M. Swanson of Gallia county they repeated their confession which was prompted by fright and conscience stricken thoughts of the two youths.

In their confession the boys told Swanson, Miller, and G. H. Lamb, assistant superintendent of the school, that they nailed the doors and windows of the one room log hut, then poured oil around the sashes of the doors and windows and set fire to it.

The eight persons cremated, including White, were Mary, 20, a cripple; James, 18; John, 14; Ira, 9; May, 5, and Nora and Dora, 3 year old twins. Only George, 12, escaped.

Shortly after the fire the boys were arrested and sentenced for stealing an automobile, and, although never suspected of their part in the crime, the horror and afterthoughts of the blaze preyed on them until they told the school officials "they wanted to get it off their minds."

Repeat Earlier Confession.

When questioned by officials they were asked to repeat their earlier confession. This they did without hesitation.

"Do you know the consequences?" Sheriff Swanson asked. "Yes, the chair," they responded, while Ramer added, "I want to tell it because it has worried men and I can see the bars at night."

Parts of the story told by the two boys is doubted because of the glamorous details surrounding its telling, but in the main, according to officials who were at the scene of the fire during the blaze, virtually every detail checks. That the boys were in the vicinity of the fire at the time has been established.

Both boys still were in school today. First degree murder charges probably will be filed Wednesday, according to Sheriff Swanson. Neither, so far, has signed a confession.

MOTHER CHARGES FATHER AND THE GIRLS BEAT HER

Her two daughters beat her while her husband stood by and urged them on, Mrs. Hattie C. Serrins, 55 years old, 5200 Sheridan road, charged yesterday in a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court against Louis Serrins, Chicago representative of a glove concern.

Judge Harry B. Miller granted an injunction restraining Serrins from molesting his wife and also from disposing of $80,000 worth of securities which she charged he owns. Mrs. Serrins also charged that her husband and daughters told her they intended going to California, leaving her to shift for herself. The judge, however, refused to grant a writ of ne exeat.

On Dec. 17 and again on Dec. 24, Mrs. Serrins declared, her daughters, Sylvia, 21 years old, and Elayne, 20, beat and prinched her while their father applauded them. She also charged that Serrins struck her with a box and threw a butcher knife at her.

DR. CLEMENSEN, FORMER SCHOOL TRUSTEE, DEAD

Dr. Peter C. Clemensen, a surgeon in Chicago for thirty years, a member of the board of education from 1913 to 1917, died last night in the Woodlawn hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 57 years old. Funeral services will be held at his home, 7116 Coles avenue, at 1:30 p. m. Friday, and burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

Dr. Clemensen came to Chicago from Denmark in 1902. In addition to his services on the school board, he was a member of the health commissioner's advisory board. He was a member of the Chicago small parks and playgrounds commission from 1915 to 1917 and a member of the Danish committee preparing for the 1933 Century of Progress. He was knighted by the king of Denmark for his medical attainments and the authorship of two medical works.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise Bodella Clemensen, and two sons, Peter Jr. and Charles H. Clemensen.

Leaps Before Train, but Suicide Attempt Fails

George Mueller, 40 years old, 1860 Bissell street, an unemployed porter, leaped from the Monroe street viaduct in front of an oncoming Illinois Central suburban train in an attempt to commit suicide early yesterday. Instead of falling in front of the train he became wedged in the overhead power arms of the car. Employés said he would have been instantly electrocuted had his body touched the steel roof of the car. He was taken to the county hospital suffering from a fractured skull.

Woman Dies on Eve of Her 63d Wedding Anniversary

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Celebration of her 63d wedding anniversary, Jan. 18, is halted by the death of Mrs. James Harper, 78, a resident of Berrien county 43 year, at her home in Watervliet after a week's illness with bronchial pneumonia.

BIG IOWA COLONY OF COMMUNISTS GOING AMERICAN

Will Vote on Return to Capitalism.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Amana colonies, 25 miles southwest of here, for seventy-five years the largest and most successful communistic society in the United States, will turn to a modified capitalistic form if plans approved today by the trustees for formation of a $1,250,000 corporation under the laws of Delaware are voted by the membership.

Isolation of the colonies has been broken down in recent years by hard roads, the automobile and radio, and the leaders have found it increasingly difficult to keep the younger members satisfied under the communistic principle of no private property.

Religious Hold Weakening.

Desire for stricter control of labor, need for more efficient handling of equipment, and a weakening of the religious attitude among the younger members are other factors cited in the breakdown of the Amana communism.

If an incorporation is carried out, the colonies would be known as the Amana Society, Inc., and would take over all the society's present holdings, which include 26,000 acres of land, woolen and cereal mills, jobbing houses, stores, agricultural buildings, live stock, farm equipment and homes.

It is contemplated to issue 25,000 shares of common stock at $50 a share, and possibly preferred stock, the latter depending on an appraisement of the society's holdings.

Has 1,478 Members.

The incorporation plan, with the proposed constitution and by-laws, will be printed in both English and German and submitted to the membership within the next few months for a vote. There are 1,478 members in seven towns. Both men and women are entitled to vote.

Don Barnes, Cedar Rapids attorney representing the society, and Oral Swift, an assistant state's attorney, met with the society's reorganization committee recently, at which time the committee decided to place the plan before the trustees.

STRATTON SAYS HE COLLECTED 22 MILLIONS IN '31

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of State William J. Stratton today announced that various departments of his office had collected $22,352,415.71 in 1931.

The automobile department, by the sale of automobile license plates, contributed $18,426,496.75 to the grand total. The corporation department collected $3,817,789.69; the securities department, $77,145.44, and the executive department, $30,412.80.

In the year just ended the automobile department registered 1,411,261 passenger cars; 201,509 trucks; 3,883 dealers; 5,811 motorcycles; 9,283 trailers, and 93,059 chauffeurs.

Employe of Lunt Library at N. U. Ends Her Own Life

Miss Edith Stewart, 24 years old, an employé in Lunt library at Northwestern university, committed suicide yesterday by drinking poison in her apartment at 725 Washington street, Evanston. Miss Stewart took the degree of master of arts at the university in 1930, and had been employed in the library since. Her roommate, Miss Muriel Murray, also an employé of the library, told police that Miss Stewart had been in ill health. Recently she had planned to go to her home in Dodge City, Kan.

Estate of $100,000 Left by Charles V. Barrett

Charles V. Barrett, chairman of the board of review, who died on Dec. 31, left an estate valued at $100,000, it was revealed yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The home at 541 Hawthorne place and the remainder of the estate were left to the widow, Mrs. Helen Barrett, with the statement that she would provide for her six children.

Ends Sickness From Gas, Acid

Mrs. R. M. Converse of Erie, Pa., says: "I was always tired out and troubled with a lot of gas. Every night I would be awfully sick. I used ACIDINE and it did me much good. I surely am feeling fine now—tired feeling, gas and acid all gone. I am a changed woman."

Mrs. Hilda Estrella of Fall River, Mass., says: "I had terrible pains from gas in my stomach and back. Sometimes I could hardly walk because of it. Then I heard about ACIDINE, and used it. From that day to this I haven't had any more pain."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

DOCTOR TELLS OF PROGRESS IN CANCER STUDY

Cancer is still one of the great mysteries of medicine, but more is being learned about it each year. This was the view of Dr. H. Gideon Wells, pathologist at the University of Chicago, who addressed members of the middle section of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological society in the Hotel La Salle last night.

"Two Japanese at the University of Tokio have contributed the most outstanding recent piece of work in the study of cancer," Dr. Wells declared. They have produced cancer in animals at will by irritation with gas works tar. This has almost put a quietus to the idea that cancer is due to a specific organism.

"At present, from a huge number of experiments, we know that cancer is due to a combination of irritation and heredity, with strange but unexplained variations in types of cancer and species of animal. There are several good things about cancer recently discovered. Sometimes a resistance to it is inherited from a cancerous parent instead of a tendency to it, and it is strictly noninfectious."

MAYWOOD POLICE NAB OAK PARKER ON FRAUD CHARGE

Willard S. Countryman, 36 years old, who said he lives at 1116 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, was arrested by the Maywood police yesterday on a confidence game charge. Countryman is alleged to have tried to cash a $25 check in an Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store at 1015 South 17th avenue, Maywood, representing himself as the district manager of the company.

At the station the police found in Countryman's possession three checks bearing the name of the district manager of the Consumers chain stores. Countryman said he once attended the University of Illinois. The police said he has been arrested before, both here and downstate. Ten years ago, police of Dixon, Ill., said, Countryman's father, a bank cashier of Dixon, shot and killed himself after he was indicted for embezzlement.

Set Value of $2,175,000 on William Bush Estate

The inventory of the $2,175,000 estate of the late William Henry Bush, capitalist and owner of the world's largest helium deposits near Amarillo, Tex., was filed in the Probate court and approved yesterday by Nuncio J. Bonelli, assistant to the probate judge. Most of the property was in real estate. Mr. Bush was the developer of extensive holdings on the near north side. Under the will which was filed shortly after Mr. Bush's death on April 9 when he was 82 years old, the widow, Mrs. Ruth Bush, 1538 North State street, was given one third of the estate. A second third is held in trust for two daughters, Caroline and Emaline, and the remaining third was divided among other relatives, friends, employés and charities.

NEGRO SAVED FROM LYNCHERS SENT TO PRISON

Maryland Rapist Gets Quick Trial.

Elkton, Md., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—George Davis, Negro farm hand, was tried and convicted in six hours here today of attempting to rape the wife of Edgar Lusby of Chestertown, Kent county. The case was removed from Kent county to Cecil county because it was feared that violence might be attempted if the prisoner were arraigned in Chestertown.

Davis chose to be tried without a jury and Judges Lewin W. Wickes, T. J. Keating and William H. Atkins heard the case, promptly found him guilty and imposed a sentence of sixteen years in the penitentiary. There was no disturbance.

Although he had pleaded not guilty, Davis admitted at the trial that he had signed a confession and the signed document was admitted in evidence.

Guard Against Violence.

The Negro was brought to Elkton early today from the Baltimore city jail where he had been held for protection, and immediately after the trial and sentence he was hurried to a prison van and removed to the state prison under heavy guard.

On the night of Nov. 23 several hundred persons, one of whom had a coiled rope over his arm, descended on the jail in Chestertown and demanded the prisoner. State's Attorney Coldnes pleaded with the mob to disperse, but they lingered until Sheriff Vickers escorted a delegation through the jail and proved to them that Davis was not there.

He had been whisked away to the Talbot county jail at Easton. That same night crowds called at the Easton jail and the jail at Elkton but were dispersed. On the following day Davis was taken to Baltimore.

Another Negro Faces Trial.

Yuel Lee, alias Orphane Jones, the eastern shore Negro whose case has caused disturbances in that section following the lynching of another Negro there, will be tried in Towson, Balimtore county, for the murder near Snow Hill of Green K. Davis, his wife and two daughters, a white family.

The threatening attitude of eastern shore residents toward the lawyer selected by the prisoner and the contention that he could not get a fair trial on the "shore" caused the change of venue, following a State Court of Appeals decision.

FORMER ST. LOUIS EXECUTIVE HELD ON FRAUD CHARGE

Bernard Hassellbring, 1260 North Dearborn street, who said that before the depression he was general sales manager of the Crescent Steel company in St. Louis, was arrested yesterday, charged with passing bad checks at several loop hotels.

Hassellbring, according to the charges, broke into the office of the steel company in St. Louis and stole a number of checks, a perforating machine, and personal papers of R. W. Paulter, president of the concern. The checks were made out to Paulter, and Hassellbring used the stolen papers as a means of identifying himself as his former employer, it is alleged.

Fiske Clark, 4020 Van Buren street, was arrested and charged with aiding Hassellbring.

Maternal Aunt of Coolidge Dies in Vermont at 88

Plymouth, Vt., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. John Wilder, 88, maternal aunt of former President Coolidge, and the last of his relatives living in this hamlet where he was born, died suddenly of a heart attack today. Mrs. Wilder, who was Gracia Moor, was a sister of the former Victoria Moor, mother of the former president. She is survived by a sister and five children. Her husband, "Uncle" John Wilder, died last September. The Wilders lived most of their lives in a house next to that occupied by the former president and his parents.

Christmas Tree Fire Routs Tenants of 3 Apartments

Occupants of the three story apartment building at 443 Barry avenue were forced into the street last night when a fire broke out in the first floor apartment of Albert S. Klein, manager of the Walter O. Birk Candy company. Donald MacMurray, vice president of the Acme Steel company, and Dr. Hugo F. Simon, German consul general in Chicago, occupants of the second and third floors, left the building with Mr. Klein and his family. The blaze, which started from defective wiring of a Christmas tree in the Klein apartment, caused damage of about $3,500.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN SHE DRIVES CAR INTO TRUCK

Mrs. Mae Spanier, 35 years old, 201 East Delaware place, was killed yesterday, and her companion, D. R. Kelley, 862 Cuyler avenue, Oak Park, was injured, probably fatally, when an automobile driven by Mrs. Spanier struck a truck at the intersection of state routes 47 and 18, north of Yorkville.

Witnesses told Coroner F. M. Groner of Kendall county that Mrs. Spanier, driving 50 miles an hour, failed to observe a stop sign at the intersection. She struck a stock truck driven by H. E. Kukuk of Leland. He was not hurt. Kelley was taken to the Copley hospital in Aurora, where it was found that both his arms were broken and his skull fractured.

Coroner Groner received a message from William A. Spanier, 8716 Jeffery avenue, who said that Mrs. Spanier was his divorced wife.

One automobile death yesterday raised the motor toll for 1932 to 24. The victim:

Joseph Kmick, 40 years old, 2726 Hillock avenue, a laborer. Presumably the victim of a hit and run motorist, his body was found in front of 2508 South Throop street.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FEW CHANGES SEEN AS BANKS HOLD ELECTIONS

Reynolds to Stay at Continental Helm.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Most of the Chicago banks will hold their annual elections in the next two weeks. Despite considerable gossip, it is likely that there will be few important changes in officers and directors, particularly among the big downtown institutions. While 1931 was a year of unparalleled difficulty for bankers, it seems that stockholders and directors are willing generally to support the existing managements.

The Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company held its annual meeting late yesterday. George M. Reynolds was reëlected chairman of the executive committee. Arthur Reynolds was reëlected chairman of the board and also was promoted from president to chairman of the Continental Illinois company, the bank's investment subsidiary. James R. Leavell was reëlected president of the bank and also was elected president of the Continental Illinois company.

Field Gets New Post.

Stanley Field, who has been a director of the bank and a member of the executive committee, was elected chairman of the advisory committee. A. M. Johnson, chairman of the National Life Insurance company of the U. S. A., was elected a director.

"Mr. Field has been closely identified with the bank and has been of active assistance to the management," an announcement explained. "His appointment has long been desired by the management in public recognition of his services as well as for the purpose of assuring the continuance of those services."

Herman Waldeck, who has been a vice president of the bank, was elected executive vice president, and second vice presidents were elected as follows: W. B. Allen, Lester T. Boe, Spencer L. Hart, Woodbury S. Ober, H. P. O'Connell, Joseph L. Overlock, E. F. Reiter, John H. Rumbaugh, and Anthony von Wening. Mark P. Collor, Leland S. Ford, J. J. Johnston, Fred M. Naber, and Clifton L. Nourse were elected assistant cashiers. Charles Z. Henkle was elected secretary and treasurer of the Continental Illinois company.

Aaron Halperin, president of the Commercial Light company and a director of the Mount Sinai hospital, was elected a new director of the Liberty Trust and Savings bank at the annual stockholders' meeting yesterday. Other directors were reëlected.

Freight Car Loadings.

The American Railway association announced that loading of revenue freight for 1931 totaled 37,272,371 cars, a decline of 8,605,603 cars, or 18.8 per cent, from 1930. Loadings for the week ended Dec. 26 totaled 441,589 cars, a decline of 140,144 cars from the preceding week, due to the Christmas holiday, but also a decrease of 94,703 cars from the corresponding week in 1930.

Another decline in crude oil production occurred last week due to Sunday suspensions, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. Output was estimated at 2,201,111 barrels a day, a decline of 87,597 barrels a day from the previous week. Both Texas and Oklahoma curtailed production around 40,000 barrels a day.

BROKERS' LOANS DEFLATED

As a mark of the drastic deflation in stock market prices and speculation, borrowings on collateral by members of the New York Stock exchange were at the lowest point in history when 1931 ended. Such loans on Dec. 31 totaled only $587,159,183, which marked a decline of $142,992,095 during December.

The current total is less than a third of that of Dec. 31, 1930, when such loans aggregated $1,893,612,890. Moreover, it compares with the record high of $8,549,383,979 at the end of September, 1928, just before the collapse of the stock market started. In other words, the borrowings have been deflated by more than 93 per cent.

Glidden Co. Reports Gain in Net Earnings for 1931

Glidden company reported an increase in profits for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1931, notwithstanding a decline in sales. Net profit for the period amounted to $172,250 after all charges, equal to $2.31 a share on the preferred stock, as compared with a deficit after all charges of $18,834 in the preceding year. Net sales for the year aggregated $28,505,173, as compared with $36,434,053 in the preceding year. The balance sheet showed current assets of $12,637,044 and current liabilities of $856,059.

Canadian Pacific Reports 1931 Gross of $144,404,000

Canadian Pacific railroad reported for December gross of $11,442,000, compared with $14,414,000 in the same month of 1930. For the year 1931 gross totaled $144,404,000, as against $181,561,000 in the previous year.

Gurnett & Co. Suspended by N.Y. Exchange

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange today announced the suspension for insolvency of Gurnett & Co., the exchange's first suspension of the new year and the fifteenth since the market crash of 1929. The Curb exchange took similar action.

Gurnett & Co. was well known in New England and along the Atlantic seaboard as having gained considerable prominence because it handled part of the active speculations of William E. Danforth of Newton, Mass., a large market operator.

Counsel for the firm today stated that "with fair liquidation" it would be "amply solvent." The lawyers placed the firm's unpaid obligations at about $2,000,000, largely secured, and said that its present difficulties had been caused by failure of customers whose indebtedness was secured by unlisted securities, to answer margin calls.

In Wall street circles it was recalled that Gurnett & Co. had an active part in sponsoring Murray Body corporation stock. At one time, it was asserted, a pool in this stock had a profit of $1,000,000, which falling values swept away.

Brokers for Knowlton Ames.

The late Knowlton L. "Snake" Ames, of Chicago, former Princeton half back, was a larger holder of Murray Body stock and was reported interested in the pool operation. Filing of the former Princeton athlete's will for probate called attention to the market operation, the will requesting his son, John D. Ames, to handle a suit brought against Mr. Ames by Gurnett & Co. for $350,000. The firm had acted as brokers for Ames and associates in the Murray pool.

Gurnett & Co. maintained seven offices outside New York, at Augusta, Bangor, Portland and Lewiston, Me.; Boston, Providence and Woonsocket, R. I.

Veers to Bull Side.

When Danforth actively traded through Gurnett & Co, he was on the short side of the market. In recent months, he was said in Wall street to have veered to the bull side, and his commitments through Gurnett & Co. had been considerably reduced.

Full partners of the firm were Daniel W. and Edward F. Gurnett, Edward F. Goode, Carleton F. Wright, Walter E. Leary and Henry R. Coons, floor member.

The firm also had three limited partners who are prominent in Albany, N. Y. They are Edwin Corning, former chairman of the Democratic state committee; Parker Corning, his brother, who represents the Albany-Rensselaer district in congress, and E. Palmer Gavitt, a son-in-law of the late Anthony N. Brady.

NEW BRNUSWICK FLOATS LOAN OF $5,000,000 TODAY

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Offering will be made tomorrow of $5,062,000 of 20 year 5½ per cent bonds of the province of New Brunswick. The issue is being sold at 97 and accrued interest to yield approximately 5¾ per cent. The issue is a domestic loan, payable in Canada only, much along the lines of the recent dominion national service loan.

Will Assist Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The dominion government will assist Manitoba in meeting its maturing obligation of $2,000,000 in treasury bills which falls due Jan. 15 in New York, Premier John Bracken said today.

Continental Motors Corp. Shows $1,899,344 Loss

Continental Motors corporation and its subsidiaries for the year ended Oct. 31, 1931, report a net loss of $1,899,344 after charges and depreciation. During the preceding fiscal year the net loss was $2,037,783.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Through a typographical error in the table showing the condition of individual Chicago banks printed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, some of the figures of the Kaspar-American and Kaufman State banks were transposed.

The Kaspar-American bank had cash resources of $1,409,000 on Dec. 31, 1931, instead of $37,000, as printed; while the figure for Sept. 29, 1931, was $1,609,000, instead of $58,000. The bank also had savings deposits of $5,171,000 on Dec. 31, instead of $313,000, as printed; while the figure for Sept. 29 was $5,602,000, instead of $374,000.

The Kaufman bank had total deposits of $419,000 on Sept. 29, instead of $1,409,000, as printed; its cash resources on Dec. 31 were $37,000, instead of $1,609,000; its savings deposits on Dec. 31 were $313,000, instead of $5,171,000, and savings deposits on Sept. 29 were $374,000, instead of $5,602,000.

ZEROZONE CORP. REORGANIZED; TO PAY ALL CLAIMS

Federal Judge Woodward of the U. S. District court of the northern district of Illinois approved yesterday the plan offered by C. E. Jernberg in conjunction with the Zerozone Products corporation of New York City, by which the Zerozone corporation, manufacturers of electric refrigerators, is to be reorganized and creditors' claims paid in full.

Arthur H. Richland, executive vice president of Zerozone Products made the following statement:

"Eight months ago the Straus National bank was appointed receiver in equity for the Zerozone corporation with instructions from the federal court to continue operating the business for the benefit of the creditors and stockholders. In April, 1931, a contract was made by the receiver under which the sole selling rights of the Zerozone electrical refrigerators were granted to the Zerozone Products corporation, which was formed for that purpose.

"In spite of the obvious handicap of the receivership, a very substantial volume of sales was secured for the factory, resulting in a satisfactory profit for both the selling and manufacturing companies and has made possible the offer to creditors by which their claims will be paid 100 per cent in full."

Mr. Richland stated that the factory personnel would be kept intact and that plans are now in preparation for an active sales campaign to introduce the new Zerozone models on which production is already under way at the company's Chicago plant.

Great Western Returns 560 Workers to Shops in Iowa

The Chicago Great Western is returning 560 men to work at its Oelwein, Ia., shops for a period of not less than three months, P. H. Joyce, announced yesterday. This represents an increase of 137 men over the number employed during the same period a year ago. The St. Louis Southwestern railway has reëmployed 325 shop workers who were laid off in December.

N. Y. CENTRAL ASKS PERMISSION TO ISSUE $75,000,000 IN NOTES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—Authority to pledge for bank loans the $100,000,000 of 5 per cent series C bonds, issuance of which was recently authorized by the interstate commerce commission, was asked of the commission today by the New York Central railroad. The application makes note of $58,500,000 of promissory notes outstanding now against the railroad.

The application asks authority to issue from time to time not exceeding $75,000,000 of short term promissory notes bearing interest at not more than 6 per cent and maturing not later than Dec. 31, 1933. The authorization would include the $58,500,000 of promissory notes outstanding or any others to be issued in renewal or substitution of these notes.

The $100,000,000 of bonds would be pledged and repledged as collateral for notes issued or to be issued. The notes of the railroad now outstanding are understood to be held chiefly by J. P. Morgan & Co. and the First National bank.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Hudson asked authority to pledge $13,639,000 of New York, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company 5 per cent bonds and $10,000,000 of Morris and Essex Railroad company 4½ per cent bonds as security for notes to be issued or issued.

In both the New York Central and Lackawanna cases the proceeds of sales will be used to meet maturing obligations and for expansion and improvement requirements.

Arrange Stock Exchange Seat Sales for $122,000

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Arrangements were made today for the sale of two New York Stock exchange memberships at $122,000 each, duplicating the 1931 low and a decline of $10,000 from the last previous transfer.

GENERAL FOODS PLANS TO EXPAND FROSTED FOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—News that the Goldman Sachs Trading corporation recently had disposed of its 49 per cent interest in the Frosted Foods company to the General Foods corporation was contained today in a statement by the latter, which now holds 100 per cent control, telling of plans for expansion of Frosted Foods. At the close of 1930 the Goldman Sachs organization carried its interest in Frosted Foods at $1,054,620.

The statement regarding expansion today said that more than 200 retail stores in the eastern section of the country were handling products of Frosted Foods. Production facilities of the company for the quick freezing of foods under the Birseye process patents, which now are wholly owned by General Foods, have been established in Boston, Gloucester, Mass., and other points.

Nash Motor Merger Talk Not Confirmed in Kenosha

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 5.—Rumors of merger negotiations with the Nash Motors company, the Packard Motor corporation, and the Hudson Motor Car company reported in New York financial circles today received no support at the Nash Motors company offices here. Nash executives were in conference at a distributors' meeting and it was stated that no information confirming the reports was available here.

Dividend Cut Announced by Santa Fe Ry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway today declared a dividend of $1.50 on the common stock, compared with the previously quarterly rate of $2.50. The $10 annual basis was established in June, 1928, after a year on a basis of $7 regular and $3 in extras. Six per cent was paid from 1910 to 1924, and 7 per cent in 1925 and 1926. Today's declaration was not characterized as a "quarterly" dividend.

W. B. STOREY.

The 1932 capital budget, approved today by the directors, amounts to $25,353,000, compared with $51,600,000 in 1931, President W. B. Storey stated.

No New Equipment.

Expenditures contemplated include $6,157,000 for new lines, $4,196,000 for new work and $15,000,000 for carry-over. Last year's budget included $6,100,000 for equipment, Mr. Storey said, but none is included in the 1932 program.

American Smelting and Refining Co. today declared a dividend of 12½ cents a share on the common stock. In the preceding quarter a payment of 37½ cents a share was made.

Northwestern Improvement company, wholly owned by the Northern Pacific railway and owning certain coal and iron ore properties, declared a special dividend of $5,000,000 in addition to the regular annual dividend of $992,000. In the previous years the company paid only the annual dividend of $992,000. These combined payments are equal to $2.41 a share on Northern Pacific common and compensate to some degree for the loss of 1930 non-recurring items of around $2,800,000 from liquidation of Northern Pacific Express company and $4,150,000 from the $5 extra on Burlington.

Copper Firm Pays Dividend.

The Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Jan. 14.

Associated Dry Goods corporation omitted the quarterly dividend due on the common. Three months ago 25 cents was declared, prior to which the stock was on a $2.50 annual basis. Samuel W. Reyburn, president, said that while the business has operated at a profit and is in very sound financial condition, with no outstanding bank loans, the directors felt it in the interest of stockholders to omit the dividend and maintain the strong liquid condition.

Columbian Carbon company declared a quarterly dividend of 75 cents, placing the capital stock, represented by voting trust certificates, on an annual basis of $3, against $4 previously. Last year $5 in dividends was paid.

Reo December Shipments 692 Units; Olds, 2,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—Shipments of Reo Motor Car company in December totaled 692 cars and trucks, compared with 736 in November and 1,337 in December, 1930. The total shipments for 1931 were 14,021 cars and trucks. Of the December total, 245 were passenger cars and 447 trucks.

Olds Motor works, a division of General Motors, reports shipments of about 2,000 cars in December and states that it had a substantial number of orders on hand at the end of the month. The company anticipates a good demand after introduction of the new models on Jan. 9.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—Stocks put up a little better front today. The market was evidently in a mood to initiate that belated New Year's rally that "big banking interests" were said to be anticipating for this very date, but somehow it couldn't seem to get up the necessary steam.

Reduction of the Atchison dividend and the suspension of a brokerage firm of some importance, Gurnett & Co.—the first of the year, by the way—acted as a drag on sentiment and stayed the hands of buyers willing to do their share to improve things.

Close Is Irregular.

After bumping a flock of new bottoms for the major decline around midday the list rallied feebly in the late afternoon trading and closing prices were no worse than irregular, with a good looking assortment of small gains among the more important issues. United States Steel, after touching its previous low of 35½, recovered to close unchanged at 36¼.

American Can, American Tobacco, New York Central, Case Threshing Machine, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse and Consolidated Gas all scored fractional recoveries. Radio, General Motors, Standard of New Jersey, and others of the so-called pivotals group finished with losses just as slight. Among secondary issues the losses outnumbered the gains somewhat and were generally more pronounced, some of the more volatiles dipping as much as 5 or 6 points.

Liquidation Eases.

Liquidation dried up perceptibly in a number of leading issues which have been under heavy pressure for the last few days. The slackening was especially noticeable in General Motors, which has been pounded down to one new low after another, the latest one being 19½, registered in the earlier dealings today. Incidentally the street heard that a good sized block of the stock of this premier motor corporation had changed hands over the week-end at a price considerably below levels obtaining in the open market.

Plenty of Credit
There are plenty of credit facilities available to the man of moderate means. He can borrow money, or buy almost anything—"on time." Installment credit, well understood, is universally offered—available to almost everyone.
That "puts it up" to everyone, particularly the man of curtailed income. He must shop—he must discriminate—he must choose. He should make sure that what he buys or what he borrows is costing not one cent more than it is necessary for him to pay—for money if he borrows money "on time," or for goods if he buys goods "on time."
May we give anyone who is desirous of borrowing from $50 to $1,000 or more an "open" invitation—call us up, come in, or write—to get the cost, the terms, and the conditions on whatever amount you may wish to borrow. Then you will be able to judge for yourself—and decide.

CONTINENTAL CHICAGO CORP. TO CUT CAPITAL

Plan Step to Continue Dividend Payments.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Continuation of dividend payments on Continental Chicago corporation preference stock is planned by the directors if the shareholders approve a reduction in the stated value of the stock. The proposal for the reduction in capital of the corporation is set forth in a letter sent to stockholders last night by Charles F. Glore, president.

In proposing a reduction in the value of the preference shares from $50 to $25 President Glore points out that the laws of Delaware, under which the company is chartered, prevent directors from declaring dividends if the net value of the assets is less than the capital represented by the outstanding preference stock. The net asset value of the preference stock now stands at $40 a share, he revealed. This compares with $66.36 a share on April 30, 1931, the date of the last report. The proposition will be submitted to stockholders at the annual meeting Jan. 26.

To Reduce Common.

It is also planned to reduce the stated value of the common shares to $1. The changes proposed will in no way effect the right of preference stockholders to $55 a share in the event of liquidation, it was pointed out. Under the proposed changes the capital of the corporation would be reduced from $61,437,532 to $26,387,506. The total value of the common stock outstanding would be cut from $14,437,532, or $5 a share, to $2,887,506, while the preference would be reduced from $47,000,000 to $23,500,000.

The dividend rate to be paid on the preference stock was not announced. The letter said that payments would be made to the extent of the earnings derived from dividends and interest on investments. No dividends will be paid on the common stock unless the net assets of the corporation are equivalent to at least $55 a share on preference. An amendment to the corporation's charter placing such a curb on common dividends will be voted on at the meeting of stockholders.

CHICAGO STOCKS WEAK

Quiet recovery set in during the afternoon on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Early losses were pared down and in some instances net gains for the day resulted. Early unsettlement caused by apprehension over the various dividend meetings waned as the decisions became known. The reductions made were hardly construed as bullish but the uncertainty was at least dispelled.

Directors of two of the large Insull operating companies authorized the disbursement of the usual quarterly dividends. Continuing the company's uninterrupted dividend record of 42 years, the directors of Commonwealth Edison company voted the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share. It was the 169th quarterly dividend declared by the company. The distribution will be made Feb. 1 to stockholders of record Jan. 15.

Public Service Payments.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois declared its regular quarterly payment of $2 a share on the no par common stock and the $100 par common. The usual disbursements on the preferred issues were also authorized. All dividends are payable Feb. 1 holders as of Jan. 15.

In the face of the dividend action, Comomnwealth Edison stock dipped below 112 and finished the day off 3 points on a turnover aggregating 1,350 shares. The final quotations represented moderate improvement of the day's low price. Public Service issues were not traded in during the day, but the rights were quoted around 2¾.

Reports Operating Loss.

The earnings report issued by Associated Apparel Industries stirred no interest in the firm's stock here. The issue appeared on the New York tape at 2¼. The company reported a net operating loss of $750,544 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30. Including extraordinary expenses in connection with refinancing the company had a total net loss of $803,137 for the year. In the preceding fiscal year the company reported a net profit of $1,028,401, or 95 cents a share, on the outstanding capital stock.

How We Serve Investors

Our organization includes offices in seven principal cities, interconnected by direct private wires;

Memberships in the New York Stock Exchange and in other important security and commodity exchanges;

An Unlisted department for the purchase or sale of securities not traded upon any stock exchange;

A Statistical department equipped to supply investment data and to analyze lists of holdings or specific issues.

On the basis of these facilities we invite your inquiries regarding stocks, bonds or commodities.

LAKE FORESTER BUYS FOX RIVER 218 ACRE FARM

Dr. Frank M. Sylvester Is the Seller.

Edwin C. Welch of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, who lives at 611 East Westminister avenue, Lake Forest, has taken title to the 218 acre stock farm of Dr. Frank M. Sylvester on the west bank of the Fox river, on the road running from Antioch to Richmond. Part of the property is heavily wooded. The new owner is stocking the place with Guernseys and will operate it as a dairy farm.

Dr. Sylvester, who lives at 906 Lathrop avenue, River Forest, purchased the property three years ago when it was known as Tecumseh farm with a herd of Holsteins. Later Dr. Sylvester sold the cattle and since then has not been operating the farm. The property is improved with a seven room residence, a barn for forty cows and other buildings.

Near the Wisconsin Line.

The property is up in the northwest tip of Lake county, close to the Wisconsin line. It is about four and a half miles west of Antioch and a mile and a half west of Channel lake. R. M. Johnston & Co. of Wilmette and C. C. Brackett of Bannockburn were brokers.

The Emerol Manufacturing company of New York has leased from the Fluck Cut Stone company the one story building at 1241-43 East 74th street, lot 61x145, for five years at $1,500 annual rental. The lessee has an option to extend the term five more years and to purchase the property after July 1, 1934, for $22,000. The building is now being remodeled and will be used by the lessee, a manufacturer of motor lubricants, for a Chicago office and distribution point. Church, Traxler & Kennedy were attorneys.

To Have Open Forum.

Members of the Chicago Real Estate board will be given an opportunity to express their opinions and discuss pending legislation at the first monthly meeting of the organization for 1932 this evening at the board rooms. There will be no formal speakers. J. Soule Warterfield, the board's new president, will preside. There'll be the usual buffet supper after the business meeting and before the open forum.

Joseph Brounwine of the Brounwine Manufacturing company has leased for a term of years the entire first floor of the building at the northeast corner of Wood street and West Austin avenue from Herman Klein of the Ornamental Iron Craft company. The Smyth Realty company was broker for Mr. Klein. The Brounwine Manufacturing company is vacating the building at 743 South Winchester avenue, the property being absorbed by the county for its nurses' home.

American Type Founders.

Kindly give me your opinion of American Type Founders common stock.—R. S.

American Type Founders company was incorporated in 1892. It manufactures type, printers' materials, and printers' machinery.

Through most of its history the company has shown an unusual degree of stability. Sales for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1931, were $8,795,000, about 66 per cent of the $12,649,000 reported for the preceding year. Sales for the 1929 fiscal year were $14,783,000 and for the 1928 year $11,822,000.

Net income for the year ended Aug. 31, 1931, was $463,100, which was 1.65 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $2.03 per common share. For the preceding year net income was $1,104,000, which was 3.94 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $9.16 per common share. For the 1929 fiscal year net income was $1,458,000, and for the preceding year $1,244,000.

On Aug. 31, 1931, current assets were $17,015,000, and current liabilities were $2,354,000. Working capital was $14,661,000, against $15,998,000 the year before. Funded debt was $5,142,000. There were outstanding 40,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred and 90,000 shares of common, both with a par value of $100.

Dividends on the preferred have been paid regularly since issuance in 1902. Dividends on the common were paid regularly from 1898 to Oct. 15, 1931. The January payment was passed.

The preferred deserves a fairly good rating.

The common is speculative.

Tennessee Electric Power.

I would like to inquire if you consider the Tennessee Electric Power 6s of 1947, an investment for one who cannot afford to risk his principal.
J. J. P.

Tennessee Electric Power corporation is controlled by Commonwealth & Southern corporation. It supplies electricity and transportation service to Chattanooga and Nashville and electricity to 326 other communities in Tennessee. It also furnishes water service to 13 communities and ice to 8 communities.

Gross revenues for 1930 were $14,786,000, against $14,752,000 for 1929 and $13,454,000 for 1928.

Fixed charges were earned 2.66 times in 1930, 2.83 times in 1929, 2.53 times in 1928 and 2.15 times in 1927.

For the twelve months to Oct. 31, 1931, gross revenues were $13,831,000, against $15,164,000 for the preceding twelve months.

Fixed charges were earned 2.50 times, against 2.75 times for the twelve months to Oct. 31, 1930.

The first and refunding 6s, due in 1947, are a business man's investment.

The Corporation has loan and purchase commitments under which it may make investments which will not exceed $431,000.00.

The Corporation's assets on December 31, 1931, taken at market quotations or, in the absence of market quotations, at fair value in the opinion of the Directors, were less than cost by approximately $21,375,000.00. The net asset value of the Capital Stock of the Corporation on this basis was approximately $56.64 per share.

A copy of the report of the Corporation as of December 31, 1931, including a list of its securities, a Balance Sheet and a Statement of Income and Profit & Loss as certified by Price, Waterhouse & Co., may be obtained from The Lehman Corporation, One South William Street, New York, N. Y.

STOCKS PUT UP STIFFER FIGHT; CLOSE IRREGULAR

Market in Feeble Rally After Decline.

the relaxation of selling pressure was American Telephone. Like General Motors, however, this pivotal did not negotiate a turnabout until after it had been pounded to a new low for the major decline of 107¾. Floor observers reported that evidence of a good brand of buying was appearing in behalf of the battered utilities leader and one report had it that the corporation itself was gathering in a few sheaves of the stock at the prevailing "bargain" levels.

Heavy Sales in Atchison.

Heavy selling came into Atchison for a while preceding the meeting of the board of directors and the price was borne down about 4 points from yesterday's close. The weakness of the leader found reflection in other rails, but with the exception of Union Pacific, the losses were not very sharp. Norfolk and Western showed its independence by moving some 2 points ahead, but enough liquidation appeared later to wipe out this early gain.

In the mining group American Smelting dipped more than 3 points on the dividend reduction, but a part of this loss was later erased. Other metals followed the predominating trend.

Weakness in Ludlum.

The brokerage house failure caused spells of rather acute weakness in Ludlum Steel and Waldorf Stores, both of which were reputedly sponsored by the firm. The last named issue broke about 6 points, recovering a part of its loss later.

Money was more plentiful and the rates fell to 3 per cent on the stock exchange.

The stock turnover fell short of 1,500,000 shares.

LEHMAN CORP. REPORTS LOSSES TOTAL $14,179,633

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—A broad program of loss-taking, with the proceeds of the sales invested in United States government short term obligations and other highly liquid securities, characterized the activities of the Lehman corporation in the six months ended Dec. 31, according to report being received by stockholders today.

During the period the trust realized losses totaling $14,179,633, and increased its holdings of United States government securities from $10,280,263 to $19,574,050, on a basis of cost. Cash on hand increased from $718,203 to $1,011,554. The value of net assets in this period decreased from $65,488,201, or $74.17 a share on 873,400 shares, to $44,298,864, or $56.64 a share on 782,100 shares, a decrease of 24 per cent.

Net income for the six months from dividends and after expenses and taxes was $1,139,693, while the balance of loss transferred to the balance sheet after accounting for the realized loss on security sales was $13,039,939, comparing with a loss to balance sheet after realized security losses of $9,293,284, of $6,432,261 in the full year ended June 30, 1931.

EQUITY RECEIVER IS REQUESTED FOR U. S. ROLLS-ROYCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—An application for an equity receivership for the Rolls Royce Company of America, motor car manufacturers, was filed in the United States District court today by Marks Hurewitz, a bondholder. The company, the petition states, is solvent, but has insufficient funds to meet its current obligations.

It was organized in 1919, under an arrangement with the Rolls-Royce Company of England, whereby it was authorized to manufacture automobiles under English patents. It has a factory for the manufacture of chassis and motors at Springfield, Mass., and, through its subsidiary, Brewster & Co., operates a body manufacturing plant at Long Island City. It maintains thirty-three distributing branches throughout the country.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A good many of the wheat traders put a bullish construction on Chairman Stone's statement, giving his views of the future, virtually admitting that the only thing that can help the situation is to raise less wheat and dispose of the surplus. He also admits that pools and farm board operations have not been a success. For the present pit traders use fluctuations in United States steel shares as a barometer for their operations, buying whenever the stock advances and selling on all the breaks.

Traders in the cash grain department of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday honored Andrew M. Lynch, their oldest member, who will celebrate his eighty-seventh birthday today. He first joined the Board of Trade in 1875. An electric clock, pen set, pipe and tobacco were presented Mr. Lynch. He has four children, living with one of them, Mrs. J. C. O'Connor, at 1036 Loyola avenue. Mrs. William H. Sexton, wife of the corporation counsel, also is a daughter. There are two sons, John D. and J. J. Lynch.

O. W. RICHARDSON & CO. PLAN TO DISCONTINUE WHOLESALE BRANCH

O. W. Richardson & Co. home furnishings merchants, announced yesterday that they will discontinue the wholesale branch of their business, founded in 1875. The surplus stock will be sold through their retails stores in the loop and Oak Park, and the wholesale display rooms at Franklin and Monroe streets will be turned into a third retail outlet.

The company was founded by O. W. Richardson, who invented a carpet exhibitor which enabled country merchants to represent large stocks of carpet from samples. Later the company branched out into the general home furnishings business. L. S. Tiffany is president and treasurer of the company.

SHIPPERS HERE TAKE NEW ACTION ON SWITCH RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—Unsuccessful in efforts to have the interstate commerce commission reconsider its decision prescribing increased switching charges in the Chicago switching district, Chicago shippers today filed a complaint with the commission assailing the rates as unreasonable. The increased charges became effective Dec. 10, 1931.

Transportation, operating, and commercial conditions in the Chicago switching district, the shippers allege, justify and require a lower level of rates than obtained before Dec. 10 and not higher rates. The new rates are alleged to be more than the traffic will bear and a decrease in traffic is forecast by the shippers if the rates are not reduced.

The commission is asked to prescribe just and reasonable rates and to award reparation on shipments that have moved since Dec. 10.

SHORTS BUY COTTON; LATE TRADING BEST

Liberal buying of cotton by New Orleans, combined with buying by shorts, followed a quiet morning session yesterday. Southern selling was considerably reduced. Japanese interests did practically nothing, it being a holiday in Japan. Liverpool closed 6 points net lower, with sterling off sharply. At the close futures in Chicago and other markets were 3@7 points higher. Spots in New York advanced 10 points to 6.35c, with New Orleans up 5 points to 6.15c, Galveston, 6.15c, and Houston, 6.10c. Cotton goods are firmer, with a few brands advanced ½c. More activity is shown in the cotton industry generally. There were heavy rains in the central and western areas of the south, ranging up to 3½ inches in a few places. Prices follow:

Top yesterday, $6.75; average, $6.15.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 10,000; hogs, 32,000; sheep, 20,000.

Heavy butcher hogs sank to new 32 year low price levels in yesterday's unsatisfactory market for all "lard" hogs, and most of the 8,000 estimated left at the close consisted of 250@300 lb averages that are selling at $3.90@4.00. The general average for the whole day showed 10c loss at $4.05, but this price is still 5c above the low day last month, while the peak for the light weights at $4.35 is 20c above the 1931 bottom established Dec. 17.

The idea of going under the $4.00 line with the majority of butcher hogs was distasteful to the selling side and a deadlock lasting several hours was the result. The break in butchers came about noon and whole alleys that had been carried through the forenoon sold within a 10c spread late. Larger houses obtained 10,000, averaging 230@280 lbs at $3.90@4.00 before the finish. The quality of hogs was the best of the season and declines for the day ranged from 5c to 20c. All markets reported generous supplies of hogs.

Contracts for May hogs were bid $5.00 on the futures trade yesterday. Selling orders were few. Some February heavy could be bought at $5.00 and March heavy grades were offered at $5.25. All January and February contracts carried bids of $4.00@4.25.

Warn Cattle Producers.

Some discouraging signs appeared in the cattle trade yesterday and the country is being warned to curtail the movement of medium and weighty beeves until the market for these kinds can right itself. So far the surplus accumulated the last two days has affected only the market for cattle exceeding 1,200 lbs in weight and these are selling 50@75c below the best time of last week. Top grades of yearlings in some instances have forged ahead a little.

The scarcity of fancy light weight steers and yearlings is keeping up the competition for top kinds, but there was little action in other branches of the cattle trade yesterday. Exceptionally choice yearlings eligible to $11.00 and above were absent yesterday, the best here going at $10.50. Plain kinds ranged downwards to $5.00, and with support from country buyers of stockers and feeders lacking, some of the poorest grades of beef steers with a little "kill" were sacrificed to packer buyers as low as $4.00. Cows and heifers lost what had been gained Monday and closed weak.

Lamb Trade Active.

Lively competition featured the lamb market again yesterday, but sellers contented themselves with the 25@50c they had gained on Monday's closing rounds and disposed of the bulk of yesterday's comparatively large receipts on that basis. Prevailing quotations are 25@50c above the close of last week. Upturns were even sharper in the wholesale market for fresh lamb.

Eastern distributing centers report a growing demand for lamb and prices have jumped 3@4c in a week's time. The Chicago wholesale trade is also responding to cooler weather and yesterday's rise brought the range for carcasses 1@2c above a week ago. The price spread between here and eastern markets is wider than usual. City butchers and shippers bought best grades of slaughter lambs readily at $6.75, while packers took the bulk at $6.25@6.50. Sheep receipts lately have been among the largest on record for this time of year, but the trade is accustomed to handling record supplies of lamb, and is not likely to feel the pressure of numbers unless prices move relatively higher than cattle and hogs.

Committee for the Protection of Holders of First Mortgage Bonds Sold Through the American Bond and Mortgage Company,

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD, Chairman.

TAKES TITLE TO MEREDITH FLATS FOR BOND OWNERS

Receiver to Be Dismissed, Says Felsenthal.

BY AL CHASE.

E. G. FELSENTHAL.

Conveyance of title to the Meredith apartments, at 1436-40 Thorndale avenue, yesterday by George W. Simon and David Helfenbein to Morton S. Ries disclosed another step in the reorganization of that property. Mr. Ries took title for the Realty Investors' Trust, which now has possession of the property and the second mortgage interests, through purchase. The trust, of which Edward G. Felsenthal is president, is holding the property for the first mortgage bondholders.

According to Mr. Felsenthal the bondholders haven't yet been asked to deposit their securities with the Straus National Bank and Trust company as depositary, but they will be shortly. The second mortgage bond holders somewhat precipitated matters, he said, when they started foreclosure proceedings and had the West Side Trust and Savings bank appointed receiver.

Will Dismiss Receiver.

The receivership is to be dismissed, said Mr. Felsenthal, and with yesterday's transfer of title from the owners to a representative of the first mortgage bondholders, the reorganization soon will be functioning smoothly, he believes.

The Meredith apartments were erected in 1925 and were financed by means of $100,000 7 per cent bond issue underwritten by Baer, Eisendrath & Co. It has now been reduced to $87,000. The interest defaulted in June, 1931. The building contains twenty-five unfurnished four room suites.

Another Court Action for "333."

Following the petition in bankruptcy filed in the United States District court on Monday against the 333 North Michigan Avenue Building corporation, by Harry Rosenwald, Walter C. Stevens and E. H. Bloom, foreclosure proceedings against the same corporation were instituted yesterday in the Superior court with the filing of a bill on behalf of David Cohen, bondholder.

The bill states that on June 6, 1927, the corporation borrowed $6,250,000 on a first mortgage and that to date $6,085,000 remains unpaid. The corporation failed to retire $51,500 in bonds due Jan. 1 and also defaulted on interest payments.

A reorganization of the property already is well under way, it was stated yesterday. The building owners and the Central Republic Bank and Trust company have been working for several weeks on a plan which, it is now believed, will be carried out despite the court actions.

The thirty-two story "333" building was financed by means of a Greenebaum Sons Investment company bond issue. The land and building were appraised at $9,000,000. Among the larger stockholders in the building corporation, which owns the fee and building, are: Holabird & Root, O. C. Doering, former vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Martin Schwab and the Hegeman-Harris company.

UPHOLDS RIGHTS OF FIRST MORTGAGE HOLDERS

Rights of the first mortgage holder to the possession of the property securing his loan were upheld in a decision in a Chicago case just handed down in the First District of Illinois Appellate court by Justice Martin M. Gridley and concurred in by Justices Kickham Scanlan and Otto Kerner. The decision includes the right to take possession even after a receiver has been appointed at the instance of a second mortgage holder.

The ruling concerns a building at 4908-14 West Chicago avenue in which a receiver was named at the instance of the second mortgage holder when his mortgage defaulted in interest. Then the Chicago Trust Co., as first mortgage trustee, filed an intervening petition calling upon the receiver to surrender the property to its possession. The Superior court dismissed the petition, ruling that the first mortgage trustee had lost its right to take possession because a receiver already had been named.

Justice Gridley now rules that the owner of a first mortgage on a property never loses his rights to the premises and can exercise them whenever he sees fit. The court holds that "it is an abuse of discretion" for any court to name a receiver to the prejudice of the first mortgage holder. It is expected this will end countless second mortgage and other subordinate receiverships in defaulted Chicago properties.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed steady at unchanged to 3 points lower today. Where business developed the market closed net unchanged. There was a little heaviness early on the continued easiness of lard, with March selling at new low levels for the season, but the market rallied on the firmness in grains, cotton, and stocks. Crude oil was quoted at 3⅛@3¼c in the southeast and the valley, and nominal in Texas. Bleachable spot closed at 3.75c; March, 4.27c; May, 4.39c; July, 4.50c. There were no sales in the prime summer yellow contract, with closing prices as follows: spot, 3.75c; March, 4.15c; May, 4.20c; July, 4.35c.

WORLD'S WHEAT TRADE ADOPTS WAITING POLICY

Ignores Both Bullish and Bearish News.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The world's wheat trade apparently has adopted the policy of watchful waiting, and while fluctuations in the price are rather rapid at times, no definite trend is being shown by the market. News which normally would have a decided effect at a price making influence is largely ignored. Since Nov. 21 the May delivery has sold between 53¾@60¾c, and at the finish yesterday the price was about midway between the high and the low levels of the last six weeks.

Neither the practical demoralization in the stock market nor continued intimation of a marked improvement in the demand for cash wheat from abroad have served to get the futures out of the rut, with the result that speculative interest has fallen off considerably, and in the last two days has been almost entirely of a local character.

May wheat yesterday had a range of 1c, selling at 55⅛@56⅛c, and closed at the top, with net gains of ⅝c on the active months, while the September was up 1⅛. March finished at 54½c, May 56⅛c, July 55⅛ to 55⅝c, and September at 56⅝c.

Kansas Receives Snow.

Heaviest snowfall of the season was reported in parts of the west and southwest during the day, with as much as two feet claimed in parts of southwestern Kansas, a section which has been complaining of lack of subsoil misture for many months. Western Nebraska, eastern Colorado, and parts of Texas and Oklahoma also received rain or snow, and the trade regarded the additional moisture as likely to be reflected in better crop reports in the immediate future.

There were indications yesterday that the expected increase in the foreign demand for North American wheat was about to materialize, sales of 700,000 bu Manitobas being reported in all positions. Nothing was heard regarding demand for hard winters, however. Winnipeg closed ¼@½c higher, with May at 62⅝c in Canadian funds, or about 52⅝c on a gold basis. The latter figure was 3⅝c under the same delivery in Chicago and 4½c under Liverpool. The latter was ¼@½c lower for the day. Buenos Aires was off ½@⅝c at the close, with January quoted at 42⅝c.

Based on the estimated acreage and condition, a winter wheat crop of 130,000,000 to 140,000,000 bu is suggested in Kansas this season, according to a report by the agricultural development department of the Santa Fé railroad. This compares with 240,000,000 bu harvested in 1931, which was the largest on record.

Fear Delay in Corn Movement.

A storm of blizzard proportions in parts of the west and southwest had some effect on corn, as the trade feared the movement of the cash grain would be delayed. Prices, however, had a range of only ¾c for the day, with the local element fair buyers, and the close was at net gains of ⅜@½c, with March at 39¼c, May 41 to 41⅛c, and July 42½c. There was no change in the character of the reports regarding eastern demand or country offerings, and the movement of grain from the interior to terminals remains will below normal for this season of the year. Buenos Aires closed ½c lower, with March at 30¾c, or 8½c under the same future in Chicago.

Oats averaged higher, commission houses being fair buyers early, and later strength in corn became a factor. The close was at the top, with net gains of ¼@⅜c, May being 26⅛c, and July 25½c. A better shipping demand was in evidence, with sales of 55,000 bu. Some export business was said to have been done at the Pacific coast.

Action of rye was a reflection of that in wheat, the close being ⅝@¾c higher, with May and July finishing at 46c. The expected foreign demand has not materialized to the extent looked for by the trade.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.15c for spots with no sales reported. Price changes in sugar futures were irregular, and trading was of small proportions with the market closing net unchanged to 3 points higher. Approximate sales were only 7,550 tons. Prices follow:

LARD LOWEST SINCE 1899

Lard prices in Chicago are at the lowest level since 1899 and there have been only four times since 1870 when the price was lower than at present. In 1896 cash lard was $3.05. The present price is $5.00. Commission houses were fair buyers of May lard, with packers the principal sellers to hedge against their output. At the close futures were 2½@5c net higher for the day. Lard stocks at leading western points are 24,886,000 lbs, compared with 27,659,000 lbs a year ago, and 47,973,000 lbs in 1928. Increase for the month was 7,668,000 lbs, compared with 16,358,000 lbs last year, and 6,610,000 lbs in 1928. Western meat stocks were 204,672,000 lbs and increased 60,217,000 lbs. Liverpool lard was 6d@1s lower. Export clearances were 1,362,000 lbs and of bacon, 30,000 lbs. Cash trade in lard and meats was fair, with slightly lower prices on many cuts of meats. Hog prices were lower, with receipts larger than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS FIRM

Butter and egg futures scored fractional gains on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday in light trading. Butter moved up ⅛@⅜c, and eggs ½@⅝c. Potatoes were unchanged. Statistical news in butter and eggs was bearish, the egg movement again being under last year and the butter movement very light, although the four markets reported a slight increase in the shortage. Receipts were heavy and spot markets unsettled. The markets were quiet until near the close, when support improved. Sales: Butter, 47 cars; eggs, 21 cars; potatoes, 7 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 2 cars. Prices follow:

HIDE FUTURES

Prices in hide futures on the New York Hide exchange showed further declines in a fairly active market, closing 20 to 25 points lower. Total sales, 1,200,000 lbs.

Cattle hide imports during 1931 were far below the corresponding period in 1930, a decline of about 50 per cent being recorded as a result of a sharp drop in the receipts during the first five months, the imports during the last 7 months having been almost equal to those brought in during the like period in the previous year. Total hide imports at three of the leading ports in 1931 amounted to 1,412,328 pieces, against 2,766,825 hides in 1930. Prices follow:

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

MR. SALESMAN

WHAT ARE YOUR PLANS FOR 1932?

You may be one of many men who have awakened to find that the market for the product you have been selling is on the wane, or has ceased to exist.

Surely the solution to such a problem lies in a change which will give you a sales background against which you can work for a great many years.

EXAMINE FRIGIDAIRE SELLING AS THE ANSWER.

Here is an industry that has gone steadily forward in the face of very adverse conditions. Authentic statistics show that the market for refrigeration is only 14% sold. Frigidaire has been 16 years in the field; has pioneered most of the major improvements, and is now one of the leading subsidiaries of General Motors Corporation.

Frigidaire is so well known that it has become a household name. Frigidaire has come to be recognized as a genuine economic necessity and with the economies to be effected by its purchase can be shown to be a sound investment which pays for itself in 2 or 3 years' time.

Air conditioning—water cooling—"fast frozen" products—all phases of the application of the product which offer a tremendous sales field for a great many years to come.

1932 inaugurates a most intensive selling program in Frigidaire history which calls for the addition of several men in all departments.

Our first sales training school starts Monday, Jan. 11. We operate with closed, protected territories in Chicago and suburbs. A car is necessary.

Men will be interviewed Wed., Thurs., and Fri., Jan. 6th, 7th, and 8th.

MR. S. M. HARRY,
9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
151 N. Michigan-av.

SALESMEN — OLD ESTABLISHED AND largest manufacturer of its kind in the industry, require the services of a traveling representative in New York and adjacent territory. The man we will employ must possess personality, tact and mentality in a sufficient degree to meet and successfully transact business with department store, furniture trade and chain store executives—one capable of promoting sales of general line. Only high caliber men of sterling character, who are qualified by knowledge and experience and can show a past record of proven performance, will be considered. In your application, please give age, nationality and previous experience. To the man who can meet and fulfill our requirements, we will pay a liberal salary, plus commission. All information regarding applicants will be held in strict confidence. Address your reply to A D 21, Tribune.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.95 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.
